Chapter 1 – Strength, the Time It Should be Shown (Knuckle Time )

Part 1

Lemegeton had one fact that she didn't tell to Kazuki. (the contractor)

That was the story that she heard from Futsunushi no Kami in their private talk at Astrum. (Distorted World)

{I became unable to make contact with the other Diva of Japan Mythology.}
Futsunushi no Kami informed her.

All of human's minds were connected. The depth of that mental world—this Astrum that should even be called [fomenting empty space] was constantly twisting muddily from the waves of all of human races' unconsciousness.

Inside that trembling darkness, Lemegeton and Futsunushi no Kami's figures were floating.

{The <Territory> that should be connecting me with everyone is interrupted before I realize it and I have not heard from them since then.}

Astrum was divided into each of the Mythology's Territory. Only mutual companions with strong connection could come and go freely through the boundary. Lemegeton tied a friendship with Futsunushi no Kami, from that she became allowed to step her foot into Futsunushi no Kami's territory. Naturally, outside of Lemegeton, Futsunushi no Kami was also connected with many of the Divas of Japanese Mythology. It was supposed to be so.

{You, are you perhaps being ostracized because everyone came to hate you while you didn't know it?}

Just like in the world of humans where a bullied child was blocked from everyone's cell phone contact.

—When Lemegeton pointed it out with a mean tone, Futsunushi no Kami was {GUWAHHAHHA!} heartily laughing out. {That's impossible. No, for me to be hated is possible enough, but in Japan Mythology there is also <Takemikadzuchi> that can be called my other half though. Mine and his Territory should be impossible to be severed from each other. ...With only one exception.}

{Then, that impossible thing is happening right? What is that exception that you said?}

Futsunushi no Kami's hearty laugh was blown out, he suddenly made a dispirited troubled face.

{He might be...going through <Wild God Transformation>.}

Lemegeton was lost whether she should give this information to Kazuki or not.

Her feeling that yearned for Kazuki was making a disturbance in her heart that she should immediately tell this matter to him as soon as possible.

However on the other hand, the calm consideration as <the one that supervises the Solomon 72 Pillar> was telling her to shelve the telling of this matter. [Humans wouldn't be told of any information more than what they needed] ...Lemegeton had lost the majority of her memory, but that was the principle that she recalled at the foremost.

Because Solomon 72 Pillar was still merely in the stage of testing the people of Japan.

If they were in the verge of danger—if that was a situation that they invited themselves then even more so—how would they surmount it was something that humans had to display.

In the first place if she notify about this matter to Kazuki, that Headmaster Amasaki would also get told but they wouldn't be able to do anything about this anyway. With just the information that communication with the Divas of Japan Mythology had gone dark, it was impossible to predict what would happen next. Even Lemegeton didn't understand what would happen.

Rather if she caused excessive uproar and the Chief Battle Election became suspended it would be a problem for this side. Because Kazuki had to use this chance to be able to become the king of this academy and reign over.

This situation, was the problem that he had to overcome next. Probably.

First he had to concentrate on the fight in front of his eyes. If it was Kazuki who had finished conquering the Witch's Mansion, surely he wouldn't suffer defeat, but...Well, let's just see what he has got.

When Kazuki was flirting with Hikaru-senpai and kept raising her positivity level, that time while she got chased out of the room, Lemegeton was thinking about such things.

Part 2

And then finally May 22—the appointed day of the final match came.

But, there was a circumstance that didn't make the final match begin immediately.

Even before that, first was the assembly of opening performance matches.

“...This cheering, isn't it the loudest among the matches until now? Even though it is an unrelated match for the overall victory.”

While being wrapped with the loud cheering in the front row of the stand,

Mio was feeling overpowered.

However it was not unreasonable. Kazuki who sat beside her thought so.

...Because when the holding of this tournament became known, the match that everyone pictured in their head, it was in different form from the ideal but it was realized right here.

Currently, in the ground Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai led their own respective team and confronted each other.

Team Otonashi Kaguya—Otonashi Kaguya, Hiakari Koyuki, Hayashizaki Kanae, Yamada Torazou.

Team Hoshikaze Hikaru—Hoshikaze Hikaru, Lotte, Kamiizumi Iori, Kimura Tomomi.

The tournament's big favorites and distinguished teams were these two, but Kaguya-senpai was eliminated by Kazuki and Hikaru-senpai by Mibu Akira. Their figures vanished too early in the second round from this championship tournament.

However separately from the front tournament where the winner aimed for the championship...[Third Place Deciding Tournament] was also performed by the eliminated teams at the same time.

Because the seat of the Chief Student Council President would be decided by the voting after the tournament, the tournament was nothing more than an appeal time. With a tournament where victory and defeat was decided by a single round, the candidates who were defeated became unable to make their appeal anymore from that point. It was slightly unfair.

For that reason to grant all the candidates a place for their highlight, a back tournament for the sake of the defeated was also organized side by side with the final tournament. First the fellow loser of the first round fought each other, the winner fought the loser of the second round of the front tournament, the winner next fought the loser of the semifinal—this tournament was divided into two blocks, the two teams that managed to win through would perform the third place deciding battle.

This third place battles were performed throughout the morning, the final battle would begin after the afternoon recess.

“But as expected from them to win through until this place without fail. There was no powerful opponent in Hoshikaze-senpai’s block, but in Kaguya-senpai’s block there was also that clash with the Ryuutaki sisters wasn’t it?”

At Kazuki’s right side, Mio was looking back at the battles until now while murmuring.

All present in the front row of the stand starting from the right were Mio, Kazuki, Kohaku, and Kazuha-senpai, they all were sitting in a row.

Takasugi Shūsui’s team where the Ryuutaki sisters were members was also the opponent who clashed with Kazuki’s team at the semifinal.

They were formidable enemies with the elder sister of the Ryuutaki sisters—Miyabi-senpai was stopping the movement of the enemy with <Gremory>’s mental attack, then the younger sister—Shinobu-senpai was performing bombing with <Marchosias>’s [Burning Icicle] that was hard to defend against.

But their compatibility with Kaguya-senpai’s team was bad.

Kaguya-senpai was once exposed to <Nairlatoteph>’s mental attack for a long period of time, and in the conclusion she had the experience of overcoming it. A normal mental attack was not effective anymore against Kaguya-senpai.

The difference of strength between the swordsmen was also pretty big. Takasugi brothers who stood as the vanguard of the Ryuutaki sisters were as expected unable to compete against the prominent duo of the Sword Division, Kanae and Torazou-san.

Even so Shinobu-senpai harassed Koyuki with furiously vigorous efforts. Shinobu-senpai's special contradicting characteristic where she could manipulate both heat and cold at the same time was a bad match-up for Koyuki who could only manipulate ice element.

However when the Takasugi brothers were forced to leave the stage and it became four versus two, Shinobu-senpai was exposed to fierce attacks and she fell into a state where she couldn't chant her spell satisfactorily, the victory or defeat was slowly decided.

Be that as it may, [I heard the rumor, but those Ryuutaki Sisters are really strong to that extent huh?] —they left a strong impression to many of the students so this battle should be said to be a good contest.

“Fufufu, during this strict schedule even Otonashi Kaguya won't leave unscathed after fighting against us. Even for the eternal number 2 Hoshikaze Hikaru who reach this stage following her desire, this time will she have a chance I wonder?”

Hearing that voice right from her side, Mio took a glancing look and glared.

“...Miyabi-senpai, why are you right next to us?”

Beside Kazuki's team that was watching the battle, right next to Mio, the Ryuutaki sisters in question were sitting.

“Isn't it fine, let's get along well. Fufufu.”

Her wavy hair with the silver color characteristic of an elf shook softly, Miyabi-senpai laughed in chuckles.

“...Onee-sama. I’m also unable to tolerate this. Why are we sitting beside this kind of bunch?”

Shinobu-senpai wrinkled her eyebrows and murmured. She was the spitting image twin of Miyabi-senpai, but in contrast with Miyabi-senpai who was always full of composure her hair was black, and she always made a scary expression.

“Isn’t it fine, let’s get along well. Fufufu.”

Even against the complaint of the little sister, Miyabi-senpai deflected it with a friendly grin in her smiling face. She has a lot of guts.

Mio too, she gave up on sending away Miyabi-senpai that was too ‘my pace’, she faced back to Kazuki.

“By the way, which one is Kazuki rooting for? Which one are you going to cheer?”

“...Errr.” While Kazuki was troubled how to reply, he sent his sight to the ground.

At the ground Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai were at here...no, at Kazuki they were staring ‘jii’ fixedly.

He was seen...both of them were “The cheering is still not yet? Come on, cheering” looking at him with those kind of eyes....

Hikaru-senpai’s eyes shined in glitters with expectation, Kaguya-senpai had a smile on her lips but her eyes were not smiling. Before long they became aware of each other and started to get competitive, the gazes they sent at Kazuki were gradually....

“Are you going to cheer for me (me<sup>[1]</sup>) or her?” Their atmosphere changed to such feeling.

Kazuki took a decision and inhaled a long breath.

“...Do your best Kanae! Prove the strength of Hayashizaki-style!”

“You come to that conclusion!?” Mio who was observing him while holding her breath raised her voice from the side.

“Nii-sama!” Kanae who was on the ground turned to this side, she pranced up and down repeatedly *pyonpyon*.

“Nii-sama’s gaze is focused on me! It came..., it came...Nii-sama’s gaze energy is!! FUNUOOOOO! Full charge nyan!!”

Watching the happy Kanae going ‘nyaa nyaa’...Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai smiled wryly like it couldn’t be helped.

“Brother and sister love + sword school love...he attacked at the place where anyone couldn’t find any fault in it huh, as expected of Kazuki.”

Beside him Kohaku was grinning broadly. Kohaku too had a deep love that didn’t lose or was inferior to Kazuki in regards to her sword school.

“Well, it’s a bad taste to fix an order of importance to companions that you get along well with, isn’t it particularly fine?”

Unexpectedly Kazuha-senpai too gave a tolerant reaction. Even though if it was before she would be the first to say things like “You indecisive harem guy!”...after giving her recognition to Kazuki inside the [world of mirror], her attitude and expression had evidently changed.

Amasaki Mio—150 Lotte—122 Hiakari Koyuki—120 Otonashi
Kaguya—103

Hoshikaze Hikaru—94 Tsukahara Kazuha—56 Ryuutaki Miyabi—41
Ryuutaki Shinobu—2

It was not like he wanted to rank them or anything but...Kazuki understood the positivity level from everyone.

“Well, the one who likes Kazuki the most in the world is me though. Ehehe.”

Mio was ‘goronyaaa’ and came hugging Kazuki’s arm.

“E, even this one is not losing in that!” Kohaku pinched Kazuki’s sleeve with a hurried expression.

“How stupid.” Kazuha-senpai crossed her arms while averting her face.

“Kana-shishou[\[2\]](#), prepare yourself!”

At the same time with the start of the match, Kamiizumi-senpai challenged Kanae.

“Against me that have been charged with strength from Nii-sama, the likes of you won’t stop me!”

Kanae too stood against her right from the front. The white blades clashed, fragments of blue magic power scattered everywhere.

“Me too is going to show my cool side this time for sure! Now the sure kill... TORAZOU SMASH!!”

“I won’t let an oily brute like you get near the prince!”

Torazou-san and Kimura-senpai too clashed against each other. The difference in strength between the swordsmen...Kanae & Torazou-san of Team Kaguya-senpai were overwhelmingly superior. However—,

“Howl! Civilization grant destruction to human! Roar of wisdom burn thy body, tear apart, that dignity is buried beneath the rubble!! Mitraillease!”

From the rear with fast chanting special to Possession Summoning Drive , Lotte created a magic gatling gun. Its body rotated with groans of motor sound, scattering dozens of bullets per second everywhere.

Those bullets accurately obstructed the attack of Kanae and Torazou-san who were leaping close and gave a good timing “Right now is the chance!” for Kamiizumi-senpai and Kimura-senpai. It was an exquisite firing support.

Lotte was able to read the situation of the battlefield with her extraordinary <Telepathy>.

“O will of god of the whirling heaven! Gather in my hand, grant me the authority of judgment! O light of royal divine gift, become the brilliantly dazzling drawn bow! Lightning Line!”

Slightly behind, Hikaru-senpai produced a lightning bow and directed it at Koyuki. Similar with when Kazuki was fighting Kaguya-senpai’s team, it seemed they planned to start from Koyuki first.

“O rejection of absolute zero, protect my body and become the armor of isolation! Freeze Barrier!”

Without delay Koyuki pulled out a barrier of cold.

“That Koyuki, she had anticipated that she would be aimed!”

Mio raised a passionate voice in regards of her rival.

“But against a lightning arrow, a cold air barrier is not supposed to be sufficiently effective.”

Precisely because Kazuki was able to use both [Lightning Line] and [Freeze Barrier], he understood the superiority of element. The lightning arrow would surely slice apart the cold atmosphere sharply and poured electricity to Koyuki.

“...But that child too would surely know about such thing only too well I wonder. —Look, that child is controlling the cold delicately. As expected from the same elf like me.”

Miyabi-senpai pointed out with sympathy filled tones.

That pointing out was by no means an overestimation.

A streak of lighting was released from the hand of Hikaru-senpai. Facing that attack, Koyuki concentrated the water particles and cold in the air in front of herself for two meters using Psychokinesis, creating a membrane of water.

The moment the arrow of lightning that was penetrating the insulation of the air while advancing was coming into contact with the membrane of water, the arrow was unable to pierce it. All of its energy went through the high conductivity water and flowed into the earth.

Hikaru-senpai’s expression was colored with wonderment. Just like that she kept firing the arrows of lightning repeatedly, but Koyuki kept making thin films of water one after another using the cold and water particles that were fixed with Psychokinesis and held out against the shots.

Koyuki’s delicate magic technique, and then her knowledge and quick wittedness were surpassing Hikaru-senpai at this time.

It was a deadlock of offense and defense that went against Kazuki’s prediction—it left Kaguya-senpai who was being left alone.

“O shapeless and mute shadow, become the fish that swim in the darkness filled with obstructive thoughts! The origin of nightmare, vicissitudes of materialism, answer to the terror and hope and bite...! Deep Specter!”

Kaguya-senpai who was outside of the net indifferently invoked her level 5 magic.

“Everyone, Formation Dark!”

Asmodeus’ laughing voice reverberated on the empty sky—from the shadow of Kimura-senpai's underfoot, a pure black monster was raising out. Kamiizumi-senpai came to help, she blocked its big mouth that was lined up with black fangs with her katana.

Using the gap when Kamiizumi-senpai and Kimura-senpai battled the monster by the two of them, Kanae and Torazou-senpai broke away from that spot and went to slash at Lotte and Hikaru-senpai.

One of the options of Kaguya-senpai's team, <Formation Dark> was a plan that created a numerical superiority with the shadow monster and directing Kanae and Torazou-senpai to the enemies at the rear.

When Magica Stigma are attacked in the middle of chanting spells, their concentration would fall into disarray and their magic invocation would fail completely.

But...Lotte and Hikaru-senpai were peculiar Magica Stigma that excelled in close-range combat.

"I reach my hand to the height of Babel and become the oppressor! In accordance with my life, o lightning, let's praise the foolhardiness of human race! Blitzkrieg!!"

An electromagnetic lance was created on Lotte's left hand, she stabbed the spearhead to Torazou-senpai. Torazou-senpai had pride in his strength, but if he clashed with that lance he would surely get electrocuted without even any time for contest of strength.

"O stream of atmosphere, extend to my hand, become the lance that repelled the resented person! What reach my hand is the tip of the storm!! Ayamur!!"

A pike with the power of wind residing in it was created inside the hand of Hikaru-senpai too, it was directed at Kanae and swung.

Pike—it was a weapon that could both slash or stab with a double edged blade propped on the end of a long shaft.

On the other half of its possession of long reaches, its attack became completely large swings that was easy to open a gap in the defense. It was born in the ancient times and was one of the foremost weapons in history. But with the advancing of time [spear] made its entrance as weapon that specialized in thrusting and was easy to wield even in the close formation of soldiers corps, making the pike's figure disappear from history. So to speak a relic of the past, it could be said as a defective weapon.

But this pike of mythology, [Ayamur] had the special characteristic of producing raging wind with each attack.

The moment it was swung a tailwind blew that accelerated the swing, the moment it made contact a storm was created forth from the tip of the pike and amplified the destructive power. Even in the case it was evaded, the storm would throw the posture of the enemy out of order and seal their counterattack. Therefore it wouldn't create any gap even if it hit nothing but empty air and it could harass the enemy one-sidedly with its long reach. ... Even defective goods if traced back in the mythology would become a fearsome weapon of decisive battle.

Things like Hikaru-senpai's swung pike, Kanae could evade it even with her eyes closed. However even if she evaded it, her small statured body would be blown away from the arising wind and her beginning of counter attack would be arrested and taken away.

“...O divine protection of mermaid, stop the step of resented enemy, hasten the step of the chosen person.... O ice blade, run! Moves in the Field!”

Unable to just watch the hard fight of the swordsmen, Koyuki froze the surface of the ground. Hikaru-senpai and Lotte slipped down with a slide. Immediately Koyuki equipped both her feet with ice blades and skated and added herself in the close-quarter fight.

“Lightning Line!”

Hikaru-senpai shot lighting arrows at her comrades underfoot without delay. It had a small range but the frozen areas the arrows pierced were melted by the heat of electricity, making it possible for the ground to be stepped and make their counterattack.

“Five stars that shine in the interstice of life and death, turn, turn, pillaged by the whim of the god of death, become the miserable and mute mud doll! Near Death Roulette!!”

Even Kaguya-senpai chanted a magic exclusive for close-range—she gripped the scythe of the god of death tightly with both of her hands and launched her attack at Kamiizumi-senpai and Kimura-senpai. There was no Heaven and Earth Formation or shit like that, unexpectedly all eight people were thrown into melee!

Witnessing the development of a never once seen before match, loud cheers were raised from the stands.

“With this development could Lotte and Hoshikaze-senpai add more reinforcement magic until Kaguya-senpai finished bringing down her two opponents, it has become a match like that huh...”

Mio murmured. Kazuki too had the same opinion. The scythe Kaguya-senpai possessed would steal one of the five senses with each of its attack, the sixth attack would sever all of the magic power of the opponent. If the swordsmen were attacked from the side with that scythe while they were in the middle of fighting Deep Specter, Kamiizumi-senpai and Kimura-senpai wouldn't have long.

Lotte chanted a spell with mad rush in her quickness.

“Soaring wings, lording eyes, invading world-destroying conflagration—manifest the authority of god right here, as the agent of civilization deeply and deeply I advance! Deep Striker!!”

The greatest magic Lotte could use, level 5. Huge thruster units were created on Lotte’s small back, spouting out heat of fire pushed her to the sky and she soared.

Lotte who prepared her electromagnetic lance in the sky and fixed her aim looked completely like an eagle that was directing its beak to the prey on the surface of the earth. And then she took a nose dive in one beat with recklessly fast speed.

Her aim was Torazou-san. Torazou-san was blown away by Lotte’s lance charge unable to do anything, his remaining magic power was lost to a dangerous area.

“Yamada Torazou, that’s the end!” The referee gave his verdict of Torazou-san’s exit from the stage.

Lotte immediately danced back to the sky again, this time she aimed at Koyuki and took a nose dive.

Koyuki didn’t run. Against Lotte’s charge, she thrust out both her hands right from the front.

“Sinking hundred of ships, o threat of sea lurking in ocean depths! Rise to the surface guided by my singing voice...show that whole story! ...Stab your fang! Ice Buster!!”

That offensive magic was invoked in a great timing for a counter.

Lotte’s lance stabbed at Koyuki—at the same time, gigantic iceberg that grew from the ground pierced Lotte. Both of them simultaneously struck each other grandly and were blown away from each other by the recoil.

However the damage was far heavier on Lotte who was countered right from the front.

Moreover what Koyuki used was level 6, an offensive magic that had high one-shot power.

The whole armaments on Lotte's body were damaged and scattered sparks everywhere *bachi bachi*. Even so Lotte operated her thruster unit and took off again to the sky, for a decisive charge against Koyuki who even now was standing up unsteadily.

It was like an attack made by a fool that only knew how to do just one thing, but Koyuki was unable to immediately chant the same magic.

This time for sure a promised sure-kill lance charge was approaching...!

—But just an instant before they crashed, a small shadow sprung out in front of Koyuki.

“Hayashizaki style two swords art, Wind God Instant Positioning!!”

That shadow crossed her two swords and caught the tip of the lance, the long ponytail drew an arc and rotated beautifully. That one attack was parried diagonally below.

The speed of Lotte's nose dive had surpassed even Beatrix's step-in. To splendidly parry it without even taking a simultaneous hit, it was Kanae's divine work that even made the watching Kazuki who was from the same sword school had his breath taken away.

Lotte's charging lance pierced the ground *ZUDON!*. The lance that was fixed in her left arm completely stabbed the ground, making Lotte flap her feet *batabata* on the earth uselessly. Cute. But only her appearance.

“HAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!”

Koyuki raised a voice filled with fighting spirit that he couldn't even imagine compared to how she usually was. With reaction speed that showed her trust that Kanae would come to help her without fail, she shifted into counterattack.

With the ice blade that was equipped on her right foot, Koyuki treaded through the thruster unit on Lotte's back, it was destroyed in one hit.

With the right foot that was treading on Lotte's back as the axis, Koyuki rotated in a circle. Using the left blade on her left foot she launched an accurate Savateback spinning kick into the chink between Lotte's armor and tore it apart. Keeping the momentum she rotated once, twice, thrice, while spinning like a figure skater she hacked *zutazuta* Lotte to pieces.

When her rotation ended Koyuki lightly leaped to the air and moved to the finishing of the programme.

“O singing voice of mermaid, manifest the freezing thought. Sadness into ice flower, loneliness into light snowfall, cover the world with freezing vacuum...White Album!”

Like an ice fairy, silver world was spreading on the surrounding of the dancing Koyuki. Koyuki and Lotte's silhouettes stood out inside that pure white screen, the next moment, it was dyed with the blue flash of Lotte's defensive magic power that was receiving large damage from the cold.

“Charlotte Liebenfrau, that's the end!”

However—because Kanae came to help Koyuki, that person became free to move.

“Lightning fall into my body and I gain lightning thoughts and god speed... wake up the sleeping lion! Ride Lightning!”

Lightning ran behind Kanae. Hikaru-senpai who scattered sparks from her whole body and having her physical ability elevated electrically, she drew near Kanae's back unnoticed with the pike of wind god in her hand.

“...Damn it! No, I'm aware of this already, but damn it!!”

If she confronted her from the front, Kanae could still deal with Hikaru-senpai even with her current speed. But having her short opening taken, *DOSU DOSU DOSU!* Kanae was stabbed full of hole with lightning speed. Hikaru-senpai kicked Kanae, then she stabbed Koyuki down with a single blow. Both of them were defeated simultaneously at that spot.

“Hayashizaki Kanae, Hiakari Koyuki, that's the end!”

But, with that Hikaru-senpai's team stood in advantage...was not what happened.

While such event happened—Kaguya-senpai too made both Kamiizumi-senpai and Kimura-senpai leave the stage with [Near Death Roulette]. What remained was a one-on-one fight between the fellow team leaders.

Hikaru-senpai that had become superhuman, confronted Kaguya-senpai who was accompanied by Deep Spectera shadow monster while holding the god of death's scythe.

“I'm going to win for sure this time against Kaguya, you'll see!” While releasing golden light, Hikaru-senpai proclaimed dignifiedly.

“...Some nerve you have. I'll make you sing out a pleasant voice again!” Kaguya-senpai laughed sadistically.

In the middle of the cheers from the stand that was heating up to its peak—Hikaru-senpai thrust her spear at Kaguya-senpai.

“Without hesitating that cursing thy also wounded oneself...shared agony is my delight! Cry and shout in the mirror reflection! Suicide Black!”

Without evading, Kaguya-senpai deployed illusion defensive magic that reflected [the agony that should be produced by the opponent's attack] in full.

Kaguya-senpai's body was enveloped by a sinister black haze.

Hikaru-senpai took a deep breath as if hardening her resolve—she thrust her pike at the black haze.

While gritting her teeth and enduring the pain, she kept thrusting her pike no matter how many times powerfully.

“O god of death's whisper waiting impatiently for visitor, resound widely and deeply, let's paint the dream completely with agony! Reverberate the evil sound of sadism! Ultra Violence!!”

Kaguya-senpai reverberated an evil voice that doubled the sense of pain.

At that time an unimaginable illusionary pain should be generated inside Hikaru-senpai. But even while Hikaru-senpai's expression distorted in anguish, while raising a scream filled with fighting spirit she recklessly continued swinging her pike. Looking at that figure, even Hikaru-senpai's fans in the guest stand were screaming.

Kaguya-senpai also swung down the scythe of the god of death. The scythe that caused a fatal destruction of human senses with each of its strike was evaded by Hikaru-senpai who was desperately keeping her consciousness in the middle of the violent agony, then she was counterattacking once more.

“Otonashi Kaguya is also having an extremely hard time you know? Because that defensive magic only returned illusionary pain.”

Miyabi-senpai cheerfully pointed out. [Suicide Black] didn't reduce the damage from the attack at all.

Right now, Kaguya-senpai was using <Resist>—without borrowing the power of Diva but using the general magic of her own, she was only creating energy of opposite vector of the thrusting to defend.

She couldn't block the attacks with just that, Kaguya-senpai's magic power too was shaved off in the blink of eye. In short this was an intense battle of attrition between Hikaru-senpai's mental strength against Kaguya-senpai's magic power.

The Deep Specter that was still being summoned was also attacking Hikaru-senpai from the side. Hikaru-senpai that had been superhumanly strengthened flicked it away with her pike just as an annoyance in her one-on-one fight.

That one instant where Hikaru-senpai's mind was directed to the shadow monster, was the aim of Kaguya-senpai.

“O desire lurking in the sea of heart, passing through the sinful flesh reach out that hand! O embodiment of violation, twine yourself as you desired! Desire Tentacle!”

Countless tentacles were growing out from the ground, twining themselves on Hikaru-senpai's limbs. Hikaru-senpai raised a loud voice while shaking herself free with all her strength, she stabbed. Stabbed. Stabbing with reckless abandon at Kaguya-senpai with her pike.

However Kaguya-senpai too counterattacked using her scythe with first class simultaneous strike. First hit. Second hit. Third hit.

Already losing her sight and hearing too, even so Hikaru-senpai continued swinging her pike like an automatic doll. But her arms, her legs, were bounded firmly by the tentacles. Finally senpai's movement were completely sealed, Kaguya-senpai's scythe was inflicting the fourth hit, fifth hit—

And then sixth hit. Every senses and magic power of Hikaru-senpai were all stolen, she fell down on that spot.

The golden light was swallowed by the black haze, Kaguya-senpai received the declaration of winner of the match.

Part 3

“Kazuki~, Kaguya’s way of fighting is still as brutal as ever see~! I don’t want anymore~! Comfort me~!”

When Kazuki and the others spread out a leisure sheet and prepared lunch boxes, Hikaru-senpai was mimic crying while running up at him.

“Eh? Wasn’t Hikaru-senpai feeling good from the pain?”

“What on earth are you saying! Hoi!”

When he mentioned the reference from the previous talk, Hikaru-senpai poked ‘kotsun’ Kazuki’s head.

“Kazuki-oniisan~! Koyuki-oneesan is a bully desu~!”

Lotte too came straight at Kazuki and hugged him. While saying ‘there there’, he stroked her head repeatedly.

“Hikaru-senpai too, you were valiant till the end, that was really cool.”

“Ahaha...rather than looking valiant or cool, I want to be said as cute see.”

While laughing awkwardly, with a ‘kyun kyun’ heart mark of positivity level up came flying.

“Kazuki, I too was working hard on the cheering!” “This one too had working hard on cheering you know!”

Mio and Kohaku said something incomprehensible, they came clinging at Kazuki as if opposing Hikaru-senpai and Lotte. “You girls are different right?” Kazuki pushed them aside. What would they need to be thanked for?

Kaguya-senpai’s team that were doing some greeting in the stand also finally came slightly later.

“Nii-sama-! Receiving Nii-sama’s heated gaze, Kanae was working 30 percent harder-!!”

Kanae hugged Kazuki at full speed.

“I watched you clearly. Aren’t you the hidden MVP today?”

Kanae was beaten up in the middle but, the one that broke up this match was that divine work of Kanae.

Lotte could reduce her sense of pain with her advanced Telepathy skill. If that Lotte survived until the last struggle together with Hikaru-senpai, the result would come out different without a doubt.

With understanding of that fact, Kanae went to help Koyuki even if she had to expose a fatal opening.

“Nii-sama, don’t just watch this match...tonight please watch even Kanae’s everything, up to the maiden’s secret placebeep too without sparing anything left. On top of the bed, an adult observation diary until the depth of every corner...”

“Don’t get carried away with that incomprehensible mood. Don’t say out beep sound with your mouth.”

“Well then Nii-sama, please do Hayashizaki-style secret technique <tossing someone into the airRising Sun>!”

“There is no such secret technique. ...But, like this?”

Kazuki lifted up Kanae’s small body, then exercising Enchant Aura he flung her as high as he could directly above.

“I don’t really get it but it look fun! Banza—i! Kana-chan banza—i!”

Kaguya-senpai too joined in the Rising Sun with bright eyes, “banza—i” Koyuki who was saved by Kanae just before this also joined, Kanae's body leaped like a beanbag to the blue cloudless sky.

The finals would be after the afternoon recess.

“The lunch box today was made by everyone except Kazuki! Come on, the fried chickenkaraage made by me. It’s fried beautifully right? Aa—n!”

“No, I can eat by myself. Give the chopstick to me too.”

“We didn’t come bringing Kazuki’s share of chopstick though.”

While feeling like his human rights had been stolen, Kazuki opened his mouth like the chick of a small bird and got spoon-fed by Mio. ...Though it was already too late to feel embarrassed over a mere ‘aa—n’ after all they had done together.

For the sake of Kazuki who was going to challenge the final, everyone of the Witch’s Mansion prepared the lunch box. Everyone of the Sword Division who were guessing that special atmosphere surrounded them slightly from a distance.

“Yeah, delicious. Also there is a hidden flavor inserted that is different from usual. Is it garlic?”

“Ah, you know it. I changed the shoyu[\[3\]](#) for dipping sauce into garlic soy sauce. So that you will become more energetic!”

From the side Kaguya-senpai pushed out a dish.

“Here Otouto-kun, eat the one that I made too! Charred newt!”

“Senpai, why are you making this food that look like something a witch would cook?”

“It will make you energetic you know! Probably!”

He had the feeling that charred newt was not vitality medicine but more like a love potion though....

While Kaguya-senpai kept making a smiling face that was pressuring him, she smoothly *zuii* presented the newt that was skewered on a stick to Kazuki.

Eh, he really had to eat this? From the head? Uwaaa....

Ah, but unexpectedly he could eat it. It had crisp texture and savory surface, leanly refined meat. It was also grotesque but when he crunched the head, a taste really preferred by food expert from the innards' body was slowly spreading in his mouth.

“Kazuki! I grilled a meat! Now! Eat! For men it's beef meat for sure!”

With meaningless gallant tone, Hikaru-senpai presented a galbi[\[4\]](#) mixed with dipping sauce[\[5\]](#). It was certainly a flavor that was impossible to not make the blood of a man boil up. It was simple but there was no miss in it.

“Kazuki-oniiisan, mine is tako-san wiener[\[6\]](#) desu! It's that one that you often see in anime desu!!”

Was Lotte intending for it to mimic an octopus, the wiener pursed out *nyuu* its lips and making a weird face.

“Pwease stoopp~♪” She said delightfully. She was really a happy child no matter what she was doing...

The tako-san wiener added Lotte-like charm to the big lunch box.

...However the whole lunch box was very meat heavy that it was covered with light brown color of meat. It really gave him a lot of stamina, but these people were unexpectedly carnivorous, so if he left them alone he had the feeling that they would just eat meat everyday. Just as I thought, if I don't control the kitchen....

“Kazuki, what I made is onigiri. I thought if it's this even I won't fail...”

“Oh, right when my mouth started to become oily. Is Koyuki going to feed me too?”

“...My finger will indirectly get included into your mouth like this, but if you don't think it's dirty like that...”

“You over think it you know.”

Far from dirty, Koyuki's small hand was surely cute like an ice fish.

The presented onigiri was beautifully formed in triangle shape, it was a workmanship that was really like the methodical Koyuki.

“The side dishes' taste are deep, I felt anxious adding my cooking poorly so it's just a mere salted onigiri though.”

“But the surrounding foods had deep flavors, so food like this is fine. ...Yes, it's delicious.”

While chewing the onigiri, Kazuki tasted a faint sweetness inside his mouth. It was not the sweetness of the rice itself. Koyuki was also not the type to mistake between salt and sugar. Thereupon this was....

The reason why Koyuki was poor at cooking...might be because of this.

“Perhaps Koyuki unconsciously cooked food using <Alchemy Cooking>?”

Hearing Kazuki's sudden pointing out, Koyuki was going “Eh...?” and opened her eyes widely.

What was called Alchemy Cooking was a technique to operate magic power on cooking and dragging out taste that normally couldn't be let out from normal cooking. Perceiving the Prima Material of the ingredient with Extra Sense, then with delicate Psychokinesis and Pyrokinesis the ingredient was rearranged and altered.

However common magic was the product of imagination. Just from having unneeded thoughts flash for a moment or making an error in magic power control, an impossible cooking would be created from the original ingredient by the Alchemy Cooking. Because sometimes poison could be also created, there was a warning to never use this method of cooking in a household where there was someone with weak defensive magic power like children or elderly. Even in the case of each store where they offered Alchemy Cooking, they need license just like the license system of Fugu chef.[\[7\]](#)

“Perhaps because Koyuki’s magic power is stronger than other people from the start, even inside your subconscious your magic power leaked out to the cooking and it completely became an Alchemic Cooking. That’s why the onigiri become slightly sweet.”

Koyuki also tasted the onigiri and ascertained the taste.

“Certainly.... But for me to be unable to control my own magic power...”

“I wonder if that’s not the result of your thought of wanting the one who eat it to be happy. I’m really happy from the transmitted feeling that Koyuki’s heart put into shaping this.”

A strong feeling would naturally became a common magic, affecting the reality itself.

“Uu...” While leaking such sound Koyuki became red completely.

Because it was a simple cooking like onigiri that it ended with just the taste becoming sweet.

However in the past, he heard Koyuki had a criminal record when she attempted to make a homemade food for the senpais, it became a great disaster where the inside of the mouth of the senpais were shining with defensive magic power (in short it was poison).

Because of that Koyuki was totally convinced that [she is an elf that has no worth other than fighting] or that [she is a failure who cannot do anything like making people happy]. However those thoughts were a big mistake.

“If you get used to using your magic power skillfully to make Alchemy Cooking, I think Koyuki too could become good at cooking.”

“...Is it really true? Even me, can make someone else happy?”

Koyuki opened her eyes and it shined as if discovering a hope that she never even thought possible.

“Then let’s practice together with me. I’m going to raise Koyuki as a full-fledged maid! Koyuki is a girl who can make people happy properly!”

Hearing Kazuki’s words, Koyuki’s cheeks blushed with a puff. And then, “Kazuki...!” Overcame with emotion, without even paying any mind to the eyes of the surrounding she leaped into Kazuki’s chest.

Kazuki hugged Koyuki back tightly. After that they toppled over on top of the leisure sheet altogether and *goron goron* rolled around. ...From that reaction, Koyuki made a bewildered face.

“Ka, Kazuki...it’s too intense...why do you need to roll around...”

“Well, when I hugged you, you looked really cute like a plushie, so unconsciously.”

In regards to Koyuki, against his better judgment he overdid his expression of affection.

“Kazuki-oniisan! Without doubt that’s surely an emotion called [moe rolling] desu!!”

Lotte taught him a strange thing .

“Fufu-“ Koyuki who was settled inside Kazuki’s arms compactly spilled out a laugh.

“...Then because Kazuki is teaching me the way to make people happy, you are my master[\[8\]](#) now.”

And then from the angle where other people couldn’t see, she secretly kissed Kazuki’s cheek. The proof of the increase of her positivity level, a big heart mark also came flying. Once more, Kazuki did the moe rolling.

“That looks nice-. I’m not the type that can get treatment like that am I? Cute type like Koyuki is so envious...”

Hikaru-senpai dropped her shoulder and murmured. Kazuki abruptly stood up and denied that statement.

“That’s not true at all. Hikaru-senpai too, saying this kind of thing to senpai is a little, but I think you are cute.”

“Really? Then can you give me a hug and roll around?”

“Of course. Though it’s a little embarrassing, come here.”

When Kazuki spread out his hands, “Waa—ii” Hikaru-senpai leaped into there. Kazuki hugged Hikaru-senpai who had a little more sensual feeling in her body than Koyuki tightly, making them glued to each other, then they *goron goron* rolled around.

“Not fair. Kazu-nii, do that to me too!” “Kazuki-oniisan, that looked fun desu-!” “Otouto-kun, me too ‘me too—”[\[9\]](#)!”

Mio, Lotte, and Kaguya-senpai were starting to create a line in succession in front of Kazuki.

Kazuki received them in turn, they hugged, fell down, and *goron goron* rolled around.

Am I an amusement park's attraction or what?

Part 4

And then finally the appointed time of the finals drew close.

“Before the finals, there is something that I want to let everyone know.”

He couldn't keep on doing moe rolling. Inside the portable tent that was turned into a waiting room before the match, Kazuki spoke frankly about the black shadow that was hovering above this battle election.

The new Board Chairman that suddenly proposed the idea of deciding the Chief Student Council with this battle election, Takasugi Takayoshi.

In concert with that, the delinquent students who until now were never cooperating with the school events like the quest or the like introduced themselves as candidates. Their announcement to become a candidate was also really unnatural.

So that Board Chairman Takasugi could raise a puppet Chief Student Council President that would move according to his own will, he might have bribed those delinquent students and proposed to carry out this battle election.

The backing of that new Board Chairman Takasugi was an extreme political organization named <Kenshitou> that was advocating [the suppression of Magika Stigma], both sides had a close relationship with each other.

At the same time, Kazuki was assaulted by an assassin. That assassin was skilled in dangerous Chinese kenpo that ignored the magic power and destroyed the opponent's flesh. Kazuki had determined the assassin's true identity, but that assassin was participating in this battle election as a student of the Knight Academy. She was a character that had already won through until this final match.

In addition that girl not only used Chinese kenpo, she also used the Summoning Magic of <Chinese Mythology's Diva>. That Diva possessed the power to brainwash other people, a part of the students that were participating in this battle election had traces of being brainwashed by someone. Adding to the unnatural participants, the brainwashed participants...

The inauguration of the new board chairman, the suspicious candidates, the assassin from China...if all of that were connected with one line. Kenshitou's advocacy of [Magika Stigma's oppression] would be the decline of Japan's magic military power, it might bring an advantage for other Magic Advanced Country—namely China. The new board chairman and Kenshitou were most likely spies from China that were aiming for this academy and Kazuki's life. The opponent they were going to fight after this might be the vanguard from this bottomless darkness....

“””Chinese Mythology's Diva!?””” Everyone expressed great shock.

“You are saying that those two from the Sword Division, Katsura Karin and Hayashi Shizuka are contracted with Chinese Mythology's Diva?”

Towards Mio who was looking half believing half doubting, Kazuki showed a nod filled with conviction.

“Certainly those two are not using kenjutsu but kenpo. So that's Chinese kenpo. Now that you mention it, it was different from karate.”

Kohaku nodded with deep interest. As long as they were not a successor of special old-style kenjutsu like Kazuki's Hayashizaki-style or Kohaku's Shinkage-style, the average swordsmen were recommended to practice <The Knight Order's formal kenjutsu>. Because of that meeting a user of Chinese kenpo or the like seldom happened.

“Then that time when Mibu Akira and Asamiya Anna kept getting back up even though they were done in several times by Hoshikaze-senpai, that was the <Divine Protection> of the Chinese Mythology’s Diva that is contracted with those guys?”

Kazuha-senpai inquired. Divine Protection was a type of effect that was granted to the contractor where it was always continuously active.

“Correct, it was the power of Hayashi Shizuka’s contracted Diva, <Joka>.”

“Joka!? The one pillar of Chinese Mythology’s <Three Sovereigns and Five Emperors[\[10\]](#)>!?”

Mio raised a loud voice. That name was an important person that was impossible to not be known if one was learning mythology. Besides Mio, Kohaku and Kazuha-senpai also gasped.

“From what the Einherjars were saying, that girl named Hayashi Shizuka seems to be a dangerous character that was notorious for rampaging in the strife between China and its surrounding countries. ...Whether her inside really is a high school student or not is doubtful.”

China was a religious country that had faith in <Taoism> that completely believed in <Sinocentrism>. They were known to be the most warlike Magic Advanced Country in the world, their quarrel with neighboring countries in Asia never ceased.

It seemed other Advanced Magic Countries dispatched their intelligence operative to investigate those armed conflicts. Eleonora of Einherjars knew about Hayashi Shizuka as if it was par for the course.

“From what Eleonora said, the Divine Protection that Joka has are brainwashing people to add as their comrade, strengthening their comrade, and reviving their comrade's magic power until 70 times, those three.”

“...It's unbeatable.” Kohaku leaked out a groaning voice.

The reviving power of immortality was not granted to Shizuka herself. Because of that she was no threat in the level of one on one fight, but for increasing sleeper agents in foreign countries and then leading them for battle, it could be said to be the most optimum ability.

...Exactly a power to [incite conflict].

“Of course we have no chance of victory even if we fight them directly. I think we could only use purge magic to destroy the effect of the Divine Protection, or defeat the practitioner Hayashi Shizuka first.”

Magic that could destroy the opponent's magic effect and possibly disregard it, from the sphere of people whom Kazuki knew was Damian's [Mistletoe II]. Hikaru-senpai's [Beelzebub], and then—

“Is it [Futsu no Mitama]?”

Kazuha-senpai whispered. [Futsu no Mitama] was a sword of cutting evil that severed the very magic power itself.

Along with [Ride Lightning] Kazuki secretly thought if he could become able to use it...though it was also a magic that could unintentionally become unneeded.

“But according to the rules, I can't summon Futsunushi no Kami you know?”

“Yes. That's why I will aim for Hayashi Shizuka directly. Kazuha-senpai and the others please stop Mibu Akira and Asamiya Anna with the three of you. I will defeat both Katsura Karin and Hayashi Shizuka.”

“Are you going to be fine by yourself? Certainly you are strong but you know...”

Kazuha-senpai's face became clouded from worry, so Kazuki finally let his expression relax.

“Is senpai worried for me?”

“E, even me can worry a little, although the other side is someone like you!”

“As long as those guys don't use Summoning Magic I'm going to be fine. Rather I think the side of Mibu Akira and Asamiya Anna would be the one that is going to be hard. On top of their high skill in magic, they are strengthened by Joka's Divine Protection. They could also use poison magic that will be troublesome in protracted battle...”

“Is, is that so...it's not a situation where we need to worry about you huh. I'm the weakest here...”

This time senpai became completely anxious about herself. She looked down in dejection.

Kazuki stood from his chair and approached her, he grasped her hand tightly.

“There is no such thing. Senpai has become incredibly strong. I, as your master guarantee it. Moreover senpai is a magic swordsman. If I and Mio properly supported you with magic, senpai's real strength will also become several times stronger. Please believe that.”

“Master huh.... That's right isn't it, you haven't taught me anything wrong at all.”

“Yes. That's why please I'll leave Mibu Akira and Asamiya Anna to you!”

...Moreover Hayashi Shizuka and Katsura Karin used a technique that gave damage directly to human flesh.

He didn't want to make such dangerous guys to be the opponent of everyone else, he also had such feelings.

Was Mio the only one that saw through Kazuki's innermost thoughts, she came directing a glance full of meaning.

"I'm going to cover for Kazuki too okay? Don't keep trying to burden yourself with everything."

"...Naturally. Even I'm going to look at the situation and chant covering magic to your side too. We have won and come this far from our team play."

Kazuki turned back to Kazuha-senpai once more and put his strength into both his hands that was holding her hands.

"Just in case, if Hayashi Shizuka and Katsura Karin use their Summoning Magic because they are cornered, at that time Kazuha-senpai please don't hesitate and use [Futsu no Mitama]. If possible I want to get a complete victory without violating the rule, but if the opponent violated the rule first we won't have any room to spare."

If they resolved to lose from foul play and used Summoning Magic—that means they were going to try to kill Kazuki forcibly. If circumstances permitted, China, Board Chairman Takasugi was going to aim on making the Chief Student Council President as his own pawn, but...if the situation developed where he could obtain just one thing, then without doubt Kazuki's life would be the highest priority. The death of the King would cause the doom of this country far quicker and easier.

The vigilance toward Shizuka and Karin was going to be even stronger after this, so for these two this finals was the last chance to kill Kazuki by taking advantage of the match.

But with Kazuki as bait, if he could make Shizuka and Karin use illegal summoning, he could rip off the wolf clothing of these two who had never left any evidence behind before. ...That was the aim of Headmaster Amasaki.

"Got it. Breaking the rules is going to be after the other side breaks the rules first.”

Kazuha-senpai nodded decisively while keeping hold of Kazuki's hands.

“If [Futsu no Mitama] is used, it should be possible to release Mibu-senpai and Asamiya-senpai from Joka’s brainwashing. If by any chance Katsura Karin is also brainwashed, it might be possible to free her too.”

That was this fight’s biggest objective.

{Though if you could conquer Tsukahara Kazuha too, the story would finish far quicker.}

Idly, Leme transmitted her voice using telepathy to Kazuki’s mind.

That was certainly so but..., even so he didn’t want to behave like trying to get close to Kazuha-senpai aiming for power. Kazuha-senpai was not someone that he could make into his partner just from a cheap act like that. She was one of his important people.

“...Oi, how long are you planning to hold my hand...”

“Ah, I’m sorry. Has senpai recovered her confidence?”

Kazuha-senpai returned a grin. A small heart mark came flying.

“Thanks for various things, Hayashizaki. ...I’m really glad to come until the finals with you.”

The appointed time had arrived. While being greeted with thunderous cheering voices, Kazuki and the others exited the portable tent.

“Hayashizaki-kuu—n, do your bestt—!” “Kazuki-kuu—n!”

All of a sudden shrill voices could be heard, Kazuki was taken aback and looked around the stands.

Not Kaguya-senpai and the others, all of it were from female students that he didn’t know about. Moreover it was not just one or two people.

{Fufufu, so it is even probable to reach positivity level around 40 even from unknown companies!}

Leme leaked out a chuckle inside Kazuki's head.

...But somehow it was quite frightening, for the positivity level of other party that he never even heard of speaking to him....

He had watched some of his classmates that were members of sports club receive some cheering from the girls in the sports meeting or club activity tournament when he was attending middle school. However he had never even imagined for himself to be treated like this.

{...Don't get fidgety. You are such a petty bourgeois guy in strange places huh—}

Of course Kaguya-senpai and the others too were sending him their supports by forming a cheerleader line from the front line of the stands.

The venue for the final match was changed from the ground to the fountain plaza. The fountain plaza that originally didn't have guest stands were set up with guest stands in its surrounding so it was a little narrow but, the atmosphere was absolutely showy.

Even from the tent on the other side, Mibu Akira and her teams also entered the stage.

Immediately the spectator stands became quiet.

“Exactly like an away game huh! I'm gonna enjoy each of these guys crying face ze—!!”

“Things like away game is no biggie no biggie, everyday we're in away game right, Aneki—!”

“Ou! We always keep on living defying against something ze!!”

Mibu-senpai and Asamiya-senpai were making idle talk with their usual tones. But in contrast with those girls' frivolous figures, everyone had already known that they were not mere plain magicians.

Behind them, Hayashi Shizuka and Karin silently followed them.

With all their members that were proficient in close-quarter combat, the four girls formed a single line.

On the other side Kazuki and his teammates were taking a strange Heaven and Earth Formation with only Mio in the rear column while the other three became the front column.

The spectators became noisy. The normal Heaven and Earth Formation had already become uncommon practice.

“Shem ha MeforashI know thy name...Thy name is [Phoenix]...become a poet that is magician! O singing bird that toyed with reason, show that strength in accordance with my life!”

Mio performed the Access, her body was wrapped in Magic Dress.

That form of hers was like a single flower of red amaryllis blooming in the fountain plaza.

“I know thy name...thy name is [Astaroth]! O Diablosslanderer that is well versed in human’s history of sin, show the dark power of the empress of terror!”

“I know thy name...thy name is [Gamygin]! O depraved fallen angel that follow the Lucifermorning star of dawn, show the loyalty of hell!”

Both Mibu-senpai and Asamiya-senpai too had their body transformed into Magic Dresses with black undertone.

“All members, have you finished your preparation?”

The referee was Liz Liza-sensei. However a great number of teachers were also observing the match in the staff member exclusive tent that was set up temporarily in front of the stands. There was no reason he could hope for a judging that was plainly favoring his team.

“Well then, the finals, begin!”

“Hyahha—! There is no need to make Karin-chan and Shizuka to get troubled zee!”

“Right right—, we’re gonna show the hidden strength of our heinous delinquent combi yeah—!”

The combination of Mibu-senpai and Asamiya-senpai pushed out from the column line at the same time with the start of the match. It looked like the formation of one column line was only a bluff and they planned to have the two Magika Stigmas as the vanguard as usual.

They went through all their matches by overusing Mibu-senpai and Asamiya-senpai. That must be because they were on guard of the worst possibilities of Shizuka getting done in in the middle of the match and having the Divine Protection of Joka and the brainwashing get undone.

“We are going to hold back these guys!” “Leave it to us, Hayashizaki-!”

Kohaku and Kazuha-senpai clashed against Mibu-senpai and Asamiya-senpai.

Kazuki slipped through from their side and headed to the enemy’s center where Shizuka was standing.

“Wha-!? Oi handsome guy that has Akamaru[\[11\]](#) sudden rise and the current center of attention there! Don’t you dare ignore us—!”

“Fun, that’s why don’t you dare ignore this one!”

Kohaku went and slashed at Mibu. But—

“That kind of greenhorn sword, do you think it will hit us who have been granted super strength and clairvoyance huh?!”

When Kazuki took a glance at his back, Mibu-senpai skillfully evaded Kohaku’s sword.

“Does it hit, ii—diot ii—diot!! Just run crying to your moo—ther you crybaby-!!”

While Mibu-senpai made her provocation, she started her magic’s chant. Immediately aside from her—

“I know I know already—, you are the number one small fry in this team right—!!”

Kazuha-senpai who was toyed with Asamiya-senpai’s skillful movement made her sword only strike an empty air, she leaked out “kuh” a mortified voice.

Sensing his comrades disadvantage made Kazuki stopped his feet for a moment. However—

“Don’t you dare look down too much on this one...Shinkage style secret sword, Meteor Disturbance!”

As if removing Kazuki’s worry, Kohaku yelled out.

Mibu-senpai anticipated Kohaku’s sword, she had already entered evasive maneuvers before the sword had even been slashed. However the <Meteor Disturbance> that Kohaku swung while yelling, when it was thought that the point of the katana had been evaded it suddenly looked like that the katana leaped and the slash trajectory made a sudden change.

“Wha, whattt!? It, it entered the strike zone! Nowaa—!?”

The phantasmagoric secret sword chased Mibu-senpai, who thought she had already escaped, and slashed her apart.

“Burn all that is touched into ash...scorching heat of rejection without any place to go! Self Burning!”

On the other side, Mio’s support magic flew to Kazuha-senpai.

“...If there is everyone’s support, I can become strong several times over! I’m the same like that guy...a magic swordsman!!”

Kazuha-senpai that received Mio’s backing recovered her spirit, she collected the oxygen in her surrounding toward herself and doubled the fierceness of the flame that was armoring her body.

Using Pyrokinesis she concentrated that flame in the blade of her katana, heightening its attack power. The flame that enveloped the blade easily grew into a height that surpassed Kazuha-senpai herself. It easily became established thoroughly as Kazuha-senpai’s signature move, her magic sword.

“Wha, what the hell is with thaatt—! Scaa—ry but, its useless if it can’t hit—!!”

Asamiya-senpai evaded the flame slash with light movement skill. But, “Barrett!” when Asamiya-senpai’s attention was concentrated on Kazuha-senpai, Mio’s flame bullet was flying.

“Ouch-!” Asamiya-senpai was thrown back.

“Thank you, Mio-san! YAAAAAAAAAAAA!”

Not missing the chance Kazuha-senpai took pursuit with her flame sword.

“Wagyaaaaaaa!” Asamiya-senpai was blown away.

...It’s fine. If it was them then there is no need to worry.

Kazuki felt relieved, he headed to Hayashi Shizuka and Katsura Karin.

“Fuh, what are you planning coming here as a magic swordsman that doesn’t even have his sword huhh!?”

With the characteristic step of Chinese kenpo <Jouchouho>, Karin assaulted Kazuki with a momentum like a rocket. Riding that momentum she attacked with her palm heel. When he evaded that, Shizuka came from the side and launched a kick. Kazuki parried it with the back of his hand, but his arm rattled and became numb. In spite of being barehanded, its power should be feared. Both of them were strengthened powerfully.

And then without pause Karin and Shizuka attacked him alternately. With turning speed distinctive of unarmed attacks, moreover their cooperation was in the level of flawless. Before long Kazuki was cornered into a one-sided defensive battle.

If he didn’t chant some kind of reinforcement magic he wouldn’t be able to catch the chance for counterattack.

—But Kazuki felt a concerning magic power wave from the other side of the battlefield.

“...Don’t you dare think that such clever attack is going to stop my chanting! ...O goddess that accept the abuse of people from the past until reaching the future...Change that darkness into deadly poison and spit it all around! Slander all these fool!! Poison Argument!!”

—Mibu-senpai invoked poisonous Summoning Magic that ought to be cautious against.

The giant monitor lizard that accompanied the Empress Astaroth spat out foaming poisonous bubbles with pitch black color. The poisonous bubbles immediately spread out with forces that made people thought it would cover the whole venue of the match.

From now on you all are going to suffer from poison for a long time while fighting!!”

—Foresighting the invoked magic, Kazuki thought that he had to at least disturb this.

“O water’s surface that quiver from my singing voice, manipulate and gather the ripples and become giant tsunami! Coming from the beyond and washed away to the far off...Tidal Wave!”

What he invoked was the magic that he became able to use from his bond with Koyuki.

A large amount of sea water welled up in the match venue, it became a undulating giant tsunami and surged forward.

The scattering tsunami in this spacious venue didn’t have the momentum to the degree of inflicting damage to people.

However the bubbles of poison that were going to fly around in the surrounding surface were all swallowed by the tsunami.

When the magic tsunami vanished—the poisonous bubbles were all washed away, after that there was nothing left.

“Tha, that’s too muchh—! That bastard, the spilt water is going back into its tray—[\[12\]](#)!”

“...You, since a while ago you keep using dirty Japanese language!”

Kohaku mercilessly slashed at Mibu-senpai who was raising a scream.

Kazuki released a sigh of relief after looking at the battle progress at the other side.

“...Fuh, you are pretty relaxed aren’t you! With the two of us as your opponents you are not chanting magic for your own sake!”

While Karin was sneering at Kazuki's action, together with Shizuka she poured surging consecutive attacks on him.

It was exactly like a tidal wave of fist and kick.

Certainly devoting a long time of chanting not for reinforcing himself but spending it for [Tidal Wave] cost him a heavy price. Karin's heel palm caught his torso, making Kazuki's body bend forward from the waist.

Not missing that opening, Shizuka suddenly entered from the side.

A super close distance. Shizuka's palm softly pushed against Kazuki's chest.

Kazuki had known already that it was an extremely ominous sign.

His face lost color and a goosebump ran through his whole body.

With a 'SON!' Shizuka used <Shinmyaku> on the earth. The recoil energy from kicking the earth was magnified by the spiral movement of the whole body and converged in the palm. Using Shinmyaku and the spiral twisting, it became a severe zero-distance strike!

At the same time that palm perceived the wavelength of Kazuki's defensive magic power and released magic power wavelength of its exact opposite. Like the yin and yang the contrary magic powers opposed each other and expanded Kazuki's defensive magic power!

Through that crevice in the defensive magic power, a zero-distance strike was screwed inside like cannon—Secret Technique <Shintoukei>.

His heart was going to get destroyed directly!

He must not get hit by this. Kazuki shook off Shizuka's arm in panic, then he forcibly rolled behind and escaped from his predicament. However Karin mercilessly came in pursuit at Kazuki who was rolling unsightly.

“What a great sight you are, I'm going to make you correct the insulting remark from before you'll see!"

Karin kicked away Kazuki as if she was kicking a soccer ball.

"Don't get carried away, Karin. This guy is chanting a spell again."

Shizuka talked with calmness that was really odious.

"We have allowed him to invoke a magic before. Even if we win in exchanging blows it's going to be bad if we couldn't stop his spell."

"...But your chanting ability is average right, Hayashizaki Kazuki!"

Both of their beastly fists trampled Kazuki down even now. When he showed even the slightest opening the both of them would come aiming with a technique of instant death. Kazuki made a full rotation with both his hands and parried the two's fists and kicks. The part that he couldn't parry he endured. Endured it out till the end. ...Because he didn't want his chanting ability to be made a fool of forever.

Endure endure, not letting go of the connection between the Diva and the magic power...invoke the magic!

The low level magic he could chant even in this situation yet a magic that would display the maximum effect!

"Suicide Black!"

"...That magic is from that time!"

When Kazuki's whole body was covered with black haze, Karin became hesitated in her attack toward Kazuki.

"Magic that reflected pain huh...hnn!"

But Shizuka unhesitatingly launched a kick with power outside human's realm. Kazuki didn't dodge and intentionally received that kick. The pain that kick should bring should be reflected back to Shizuka.

However Shizuka didn't show even the tiniest bit of turmoil except for a slight tremble on her lips. And then immediately she hammered in a second strike, a third strike. ...This girl, is she a cyborg or something!?

“Karin, don't hesitate! Suppress your mind! If you let a BasilleusKing freely chant magic it won't finish with just this much!”

“U, UwaAAAAA!”

While screaming in abandonment Karin came attacking. But that attack became dull.

Kazuki easily parried that. Just from the room that dull attack gave him, it created a room for chanting.

Before long the effect of Suicide Black was cut off, but now he was able to invoke even higher level of magic.

“...Thunder descend on my body granting me lightning mind and god speed...Wake up the sleeping lion! Ride Lightning!”

“That's my magic!” Hikaru-senpai let out an excited voice from the stand.

The electric impulse that flowed inside the neurons of his whole body whirled like a whirlpool.

Muscle strength, nerve transmission speed—every specs of Kazuki were sped up electrifyingly.

Kazuki saw everything of Karin's thrust in slow motion, he struck her with his fist in a counter. While Karin was blown away, he parried away Shizuka's kick with room to spare and hit her back!

Kazuki's fist grazed Shizuka's cheek. Fury and irritation clearly floated in her expression.

He wanted to immediately pound her with consecutive attacks, but Karin too immediately got back up and headed his way again. He mustn't force himself. Give undivided attention in controlling the offense and defense.

If he could do that, he could chant even more additional magic.

“Kazuki, do your best!” He could hear Hikaru-senpai's delighted voice.

...I want power, but that's not the only reason that I gained a great relation with Hikaru-senpai.

Senpai gave her trust on that feeling, so...I borrowed senpai's power!

“Ayamur!!”

Storm was condensing inside Kazuki's hand, the pike of wind god was created.

He swept the pike sideways with speed that couldn't be caught by eye and blew away Karin and Shizuka altogether.

Without a moment's delay he narrowed his target to Shizuka and drew closer. He launched a barrage of thrusts like a meteor shower.

Shizuka attempted to parry with both her hands but she was unable to do it. Her posture was disordered thanks to the wind, just like that she got hit with multiple strikes. She was enduring with Resist but the magic power she used for that was shaved off greedily.

Karin attempted to help her from the side, but Kazuki had anticipated it earlier and swung his pike. Karin was blown away by the storm from the tip of the pike. Kazuki's speed overwhelmingly surpassed both of them.

Just by swinging the pike alternately to Karin and Shizuka, the accelerated Kazuki was able to overpower them.

In short he was able to gain even more room to chant his spell.

“Self Burning!”

Kazuki covered himself with armor of flame, he concentrated that flame with Psychokinesis into the tip of his pike.

The spearhead of Ayamur was blazing up, he swung that with all his strength.

The synergy of wind and flame—the wind incessantly supplied oxygen that strengthened the fierceness of the flame. Each time the pike was swung, whirlwind of raging flame burst out. That pike wielded by the accelerated Kazuki was exactly like a living tornado.

“Is, is this a joke!? This is already too absurd!!”

Karin raised a scream. The girl was sadly repelled away when she tried to help Shizuka. Shizuka too was blown away like trash by the blazing wind pike.

The audiences were making a stir. Manipulating multiple Summoning Magic at will, exhibiting a synergy that had never been seen before—the people were looking at the manifestation of a King at that time.

Shizuka who was blown away and fell on her backside was...for the first time, a look of terror floated on that shrewd face.

“Karin! Become my shield!!”

Karin who was trying to save Shizuka who had been targeted constantly until now had never tried to get in his way but she was commencing attack from the side. Toward that girl, Shizuka was handing down an order [not to help her but become her shield]. ...Without hesitation Karin forced her way through between Kazuki and Shizuka with her body.

And then she was burned and pierced as the sacrifice to Kazuki's pike.

That blown away body was caught from the back, Shizuka whispered into Karin's ear.

“It's fine, you too are going to resurrect until 70 times. As long as I'm safe everything is fine...”

“Hayashi Shizuka! ...You!”

Kazuki felt nausea and discomfort in his stomach. He tried to avoid Karin and aimed at Shizuka. But—

In response to Shizuka’s instruction, just like an unsightly puppet show Karin was moving right, left, throwing out her body in front of the spearhead, desperately stretching her arms and legs.

Even with the difference in speed, if there was the intuition to predict the movement, it was enough for something like just throwing out her body.

For the attack that Karin couldn’t cover, Shizuka parried it with a lot of room to spare.

Before long the effect of Kazuki’s [Ride Lightning] was used up.

“Ride Lightning!”

Without a moment’s delay the same magic was invoked. If the preparation was done while swinging the spear, he could continue to strengthen himself like this without pause. But the problem was the consumption of magic power.

Kazuki’s pike that persistently kept trying to aim for Shizuka was continuously blocked earnestly by Karin. ...If the thing called defensive magic power didn’t exist, then surely there wouldn’t be any spot left in Karin’s body now that was not opened into holes or scorched away. And then, Karin’s magic power was exhausted.

“UAAAAAAAAAAAAA! Ku, ugu, AAAAAA-!!”

Karin grasped her head and leaked out a voice of anguish. From that body, magic power was overflowing into its original amount—Joka's Divine Protection of resurrection. But this resurrection was accompanied with agony. Surely the magic power was restored, but Karin breathed roughly with face that looked white like paper. Even so the girl kept standing and blocking Kazuki's way.

“Ahahahahaha! This Karin too, those guys that became the opponent of your comrades too, they are immortal! Your magic power too won't hold out forever. What are you planning to do if this becomes a protracted battle?”

While hiding in the shadow of Karin, Shizuka ridiculed Kazuki.

In place of his reply, Kazuki swung his pike, but Karin threw out her body like a manipulated puppet and continued to cover Shizuka. While leaking out a moaning voice, even so she continued to receive the attacks showing a ghastly figure—Kazuki unintentionally stopped his pike. With Kazuki's will, the whirlwind of flame ceased from the spearhead too.

Suddenly a strange silence flowed between the three people.

“That's it, it's a chance Karin! Become useful!!” With a ‘DON!’ Shizuka pushed Karin's back.

“A...UAAAAAA_! I am! I amm!!”

While raising a loud voice, Karin slipped through the pike and leaped into Kazuki's chest. She made contact with Kazuki's chest using her palm, stepping onto the earth with Shinmyaku, and scattered apart the defensive magic power using peculiar magic power. Shintoukei...!

“Kuh!” There was no reason he could ignore it. Kazuki immediately used the butt end of the pike—he swung the tip of the opposite side of the spearhead and bashed her. Karin was blown away, that magic power of hers hit rock bottom once more.

“UAA...hurts...my head, it hurts like it’s splitting up...”

The collapsed Karin leaked out a complaint, but her magic power was restored while she writhed in pain, then she stood up once more.

The used up magic power, in what way was it restored? It made him think, as if the mental power that by all rights wasn’t supposed to be spent for magic power—the heart and the humanity itself were being whittled off in return.

“Hahaha, when she thought that she would get sympathy, she got done in again. How pitiful.”

“....kh! You, what do you think a comrade is!!?”

“They are just disposable dolls to be thrown away in the land I’m hiding of course, ribenren[\[13\]](#). What do you currently see these guys other than puppets, I’m going to teach you the contrary.”

In rage, the color left from Kazuki’s head.

When he heard the personal history of Katsura Karin from Headmaster Amasaki about how she was a former orphan that was adopted into Hayashi household, inside his head Kazuki imagined that Karin and Shizuka were raised as sisters and they were taught Chinese kenpo shoulder to shoulder. Just like him and Kanae, like Headmaster Amasaki and Mio, —he pictured a family.

Kanae’s smiling face and, Karin’s expression of anguish in front of him, overlapped in front of Kazuki’s eyes.

...Hayashi Shizuka. She is someone he couldn’t accept.

This girl...is an existence that denied all the warmth that I received throughout my life until now.

“I am, not a puppet...I’ll show that I can be recognized...”

“Hahaha, go for it go for it! Quickly stop the root of that guy’s breath with Shintoukei! After all you have no worth other than the Chinese kenpo I taught you and your Stigma!!”

With Shizuka’s indifferent words at her back, Karin glared at Kazuki with a messed face stained with tears.

“You, insulted my fist...! You denied my everything!!”

At the time when she attempted her second assassination, certainly Kazuki talked about something like that to provoke her. Right now, the figure of Karin with her heart whittled and her body writhing in pain yet still showing tenacity in that matter was bizarrely, courageously, not a figure to be pitied on. This girl’s everything in her life, what in the world it could possibly be?

Kazuki stopped his pike once more. In his heart he had decided, that he wouldn’t hurt anything of Karin anymore.

“UaAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!”

Toward Kazuki who was not moving, Karin kicked the ground and approached while yelling.

“...Soaring wings, glaring eyes, invading world-destroying conflagration—manifest the authority of god right here, as the agent of civilization I’m advancing deeply and deeply...Deep Striker!!”

Kazuki equipped a gigantic thruster unit on his back, flame spouted out from that back and leaped his body to the sky. Karin’s sorrowful rush was tragically hitting at nothing.

“What!?” Shizuka was taken aback and looked up to the sky.

After Kazuki drew an arc on the sky, he gripped Ayamur in one hand, and took a nose dive toward Shizuka like a falling star. The world blurred from the terrific acceleration, he became unable to see nothing other than Shizuka.

The thruster system of [Deep Striker] was using Kazuki's magic power, his force of will as fuel.

Kazuki's force of will was amplified by the acceleration of his nervous system due to [Ride Lightning].

Even the performance of the instrument that was created from magic, was affected by the effect of [Ride Lightning].

The thruster system of Kazuki at this time spouted out flame explosion nearly double the intensity even compared to when Lotte was manipulating hers. In addition the wind produced from the spearhead of Ayamur redirected the stream of air, decreasing the air resistance, realizing even further acceleration.

“He is still overlapping magic and enhancing it even further!?”

Shizuka raised a shrieking voice. It was already a speed not in a dimension where Karin could return to cover for her.

“—I, won't accept someone like you!! UOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO-!”

From the air resistance that couldn't be counterbalanced, Kazuki's own defensive magic power was also breaking while giving off luminescence. Kazuki that turned into the very ray of blue light itself pierced Shizuka fiercely. The earth erupted from the impact of the nose dive.

Karin was also blown away. With the buried Shizuka as the ground zero, a giant crater was gouged in the fountain plaza.

Kazuki shifted the propulsive power from vertical to horizontal. Shizuka who was buried in the earth was dragged along still pierced on the pike. Kazuki reaccelerated again with her right beside.

“U...UAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!!”

With her body protected by the defensive magic power there wasn't supposed to be any pain in her, but Shizuka raised a scream of terror. Dragging along the earth's surface with explosive acceleration, stormy cloud of dust and blue light of defensive magic power danced down.

While leaving behind a straight line of track from one side of the fountain plaza to the other side, Kazuki dragged Shizuka along and rotated. Just before crashing with the stand he directed the propulsive power to the sky and sprang up the spearhead. Shizuka's body was launched to the sky with great momentum. After a passage of several tens seconds remaining in the air, she was falling to the earth.

It was a strike with power that wouldn't be strange if it caused the receiver to fall into a severe magic intoxication, but—was it the boon of an excellent Resist skill, or thanks to the reinforcement of Joka, Shizuka stood up even with a pallid face.

“Im, impossible! Even with Joka's Divine Protection, if it keeps like this...! Karin, we are going to use Summon!!”

Are they finally going to use Summoning Magic? It was the proof that these guys were also challenging this match with preparedness of their determination. With this, the match had become something other than a contention for victory!

Responding Shizuka's order, Karin performed Access.

“O sinfully beautiful woman decorated with peach petal, thy name is... <Dakki>! I know thy true form...o fair complexion golden fur nine tail fox passing time of thousand years, lavish despair in the party of the last days!”

Beside Karin, an avatar of a bewitching beautiful woman was floating.

{Yareyare[\[14\]](#), so in the end you are risking your life, for such a trifling matter.}

Dakki. —Famous in [Houshin Engi][15], the great apparition of a thousand year old fox spirit that brought ruin to a country with her beauty.

The incarnation of [history's undulation] that induced revolution in ancient China in accordance with Joka's order.

Karin who obtained that power put on a Magic Dress tinged with the color of the great mainland[16], red and gold that shined bright. From her lower back, a golden fox tail grew out luxuriantly.

“...The symbol of infinity half of the yin and yang, o personification of earth. In this universe that would be deified in China, there is no one that doesn't know thy name...Thy name is <Joka>. Wearing the light of five color o snake body human head goddess, alter the universe of Pangu creation! ...We are going! Kill this guy!!”

What floated beside Hayashi Shizuka was one of the pillars of Chinese Mythology's three emperors, Joka.

Holding a compass in her right hand, she was a gigantic goddess with a woman's upper body fixed on a dragon's lower body. Both divine and ominous, filled to the brim with dignity that couldn't be lumped together with the scale of a human, she was in waiting behind her contractor. Shizuka's Sword Division uniform also shifted into an opal Magic Dress that was near endlessly colorless and transparent.

“...Kazuha-senpai! Access!!”

At this moment that finally came, Kazuki shouted at Kazuha-senpai and called out to her.

Part 5

“It's foul play! Stop the match...”

“Please wait!” Towards Liz Liza who was going to stop the match with her authority as the referee, a man leaped out from the staff member's tent—the Board Chairman Takasugi.

“For what kind of reason do you stop me? We have to stop them immediately, it's dangerous.”

Liz Liza glared at Board Chairman Takasugi from inside the grounds. From the start Liz Liza and Headmaster Amasaki planned to use Kazuki as bait and bait these guys to use illegal summoning in public, proving the suspicion at them. In addition it was not stopping at just Kazuki surviving, if he could defeat these guys and drive them into magic intoxication then they could catch them with more certainty.

But right now, to aim for those complete victory...was too dangerous with how much Hayashizaki Kazuki and his team's magic power had been reduced into. Kazuki's life was at risk. Liz Liza judged that it was enough to preserve their victory for the moment.

“Certainly there are rule violations, but...” Board Chairman Takasugi talked with calm tone.

“It's not to the degree that you need to stop the match isn't it?”

...What on earth is this guy saying!?

“Although the swordsmen are totally using Summoning Magic, there is no danger for the opposing team. If their magic power fall into dangerous area, all you have to do is make them leave the stage as the referee to protect them, right?”

Board Chairman Takasugi shrugged his shoulders. With an expression as if what he was saying was something really obvious.

But that was a story that left behind the fact that those two, Katsura Karin and Hayashi Shizuka possessed a mysterious technique that ignored defensive magic power and stopped the heart.

Those girls intermingled Summoning Magic together too and were going to aim for Kazuki's life in the middle of the battle.

“This match had already been Hayashizaki Kazuki's team victory on the record, but isn't it fine to continue the match? The objective of this battle election is to witness what the candidates are going to show in the middle of battle...to ascertain that with one's own eyes. Katsura Karin and Hayashi Shizuka, the both of them when they were at their wit's ends and were going to lose, continued to fight even if they perpetrated a violation of the rules. They chose to show something by means of the fight. The students' last tenacity while resolving themselves of defeat, we as educators should watch it with our own eyes right!?”

What last tenacity...what those guys were aiming for was an assassination in the middle of the chaos!

“...Using Divas outside the Solomon 72 Pillar which safety hasn't been confirmed yet in this battle election, that's the first problem before the matter of their tenacity.”

“Let's stop regarding forming a contract with Diva that is treated until now as illegal Diva as [absolute evil]...didn't our school just change such policy recently? If those girls are treated indiscriminately, then Hayashizaki Kazuki, Charlotte Liebenfrau, Tsukahara Kazuha, won't those three people also have to be seen as illegal magicians too?”

So that kind of logic is coming? So that the match wouldn't be stopped by rule violation even if Katsura Karin and Hayashi Shizuka used Summoning Magic, they really had prepared a rebuttal beforehand.

Liz Liza looked up to Headmaster Amasaki as if to surmise his opinion.

“Make the match continue.” Headmaster Amasaki informed with a grave

It won't do if the power of the King isn't demonstrated to this guy.
Headmaster Amasaki whispered inside his mouth.

Kazuha who guessed the situation performed Access even before she heard Kazuki's voice.

“My bare hand grasp the red hot ore. Ridge in the sky, blade in the earth, merging in a flash become namely a sole sword. Thy inscription is <Futsunushi no Kami>! O god of steel and fire, show that forging!”

Her hair lengthened with a flap, transforming into a figure of divine red and white miko. Mibu Akira opened her eyes wide.

“Yo, you bastaa—rd! You ‘re going to break the rules even though you al’ are honor students!! Ain’t that the privilege of delinquent!?”

“I’m thought as one of the student council and its pleasant companies but... I’m the dunce of the whole school! Don’t lump me together with them!”

Receiving an unjustified disparagement, Kazuha-senpai retorted back. Kohaku who was fighting in the side tilted her head deep inside thinking whether that was the real problem, but she circled back in order to earn the time for Kazuha's chanting.

“Anekii—! Shit, what coward for the swordsman to suddenly use Summoning Magic! ...O soul gathering by the calling voice of the god of death, armor my body make this body into hell's tormenting devil...the trump card against the heaven right here! Black Titan!!”

Asamiya Anna put a black mist on her body, transforming her own form into a jet black giant.

And then she assaulted Kazuha that began her spell chant!

“...In the middle of fighting with me, it’s unacceptable to avert your eyes!”

Mio who spread out wings of flame and flew in the sky was overlooking that situation and shouted.

“O bird of paradise where the light of heaven reside in that body, burn away the sin on earth following my accusation! Israel Judgment!!”

Phoenix’s avatar floated up on Mio’s back as if a halo was shining behind her. Brightness as if all the light in the world was condensing became an ultra heat laser, pouring on the defenseless back of the giant. The black mist melted in the blink of an eye inside the light, it thoroughly burned even up to Asamiya Anna.

“Flaming bird is not flame but light!? Ain’t that the element that darkness element is poor against oii—!?”

With that one attack Asamiya Anna’s magic power was mostly used up.

“Ugu...” Leaking a voice, the girl fell to one knee with a violent shaking.

But—even so new magic power was welling up from the depth of the girl’s mind!

“Sti...still not yETTTTTTTT! Are we going to lose against the brightness of honor students huh, Anekii—!!”

“Son of a bitch—! I ain’t gonna get deceived by that handsome bastard’s bluff again—! That guy already had zero mood to chant things like that tsunami magic ain’t— it—!!”

Mibu Akira finally shouted in a burst of anger. From the trauma of having her poison magic nullified by Kazuki in the opening of the match, she had been hesitating in chanting poison magic for quite a while.

“We make sure of human nature. Thy bowels is hell’s crucible, the spouted slanders become indictment toward the sons of heaven and man. Fill the surface of earth with the anguish of the end! Apocalypse Venom!”

Astaroth that straddled a poisonous monitor lizard materialize her figure in the sky. From the mouth of that monitor lizard pitch black vomit was spewed out, pouring down on all the area of the match venue.

Kazuki was protected by the wind that arose from Ayamur, but Kazuha, Kohaku, and Mio were helplessly afflicted by poison. At the same time, Mibu Akira’s magic power dried up and she staggered.

“No, nooo still not yet, it’s starting from now...! They’re ravaged by poison, as long as we don’t get beaten, from now on we gonna beat ‘em them up slowly in a long battle for surEEEEEEEEEEE!”

Mibu Akira’s magic power was restored too by the Divine Protection of resurrection from Joka. There would be no end to this if it keeps like this.

Kazuha while being afflicted by poison...however she finally finished chanting the spell they had long-awaited for.

“I become the miko of sword. Rock cleaved, root torn, sin severed, that virtuous sword of crushing evil right now in this hand! Draw sword, Futsu no Mitama!!”

A light shined inside Kazuha’s hand, inside it an ancient sword that looked as if Futsunushi no Kami itself materialized was created. What Kazuha first did was slash herself as if purifying her body that was ravaged by poison.

[Futsu no Mitama] that possessed the power to sever a magic effect destroyed the poison with a single stroke.

“”Kazuha-senpai!”” Kohaku and Mio who saw that state of affairs were scrambling to reach Kazuha first.

Kazuha slashed the two in turn, extinguishing that poison immediately.

“Do, don’t screw with meeeeeeeeeeee! You bastaa—rds from the start ‘till the end keep screwing around making a mess outta my poison eehhhhhhh!!”

“That evil clinging on all of you too...will be severed by this sword!”

After deciding with a strict decision as a miko, Kazuha-senpai first slashed at Asamiya Anna. When the shining blade tore apart the defensive magic power of Asamiya Anna, white light overflowed from the opening of the cut.

“Tha, that sword...are you seriously saying it can destroy our Divine Protection!?”

Asamiya Anna, guessing the change that happened in her own body, screamed out.

“...Joka’s Divine Protection cannot be severed with just one strike!? Then, one more strike!”

Asamiya Anna turned her back while raising her scream. She was trying to escape from Kazuha-senpai.

“Stop, if you do that I’m going to go back to just a mere delinquent, stop! C’mon stop, save me AnekiiIIIIIIII!!”

“Barrett!”

That back was shot out by Mio’s bullet, Asamiya Anna’s movement was stopped. Right there Kazuha dealt the final blow with one more stroke of the sword. This time for sure she felt the reaction that all the magic power effect had died out at her hand.

“If, if the Divine Protection disappear so suddenly, the recoil will...nn giiIIIIIIII!!”

The girl having obtained empowerment surpassing her original true strength forcibly abused her flesh body.

Furthermore having already resurrected multiple times repeatedly, the girl’s soul was distorted. That distortion was corrected by [Futsu no Mitama] in one stretch. What resulted from that was...recoil.

Who knows how much pain was surging inside her all at once. Asamiya Anna raised a scream so loud it was as if her throat would be torn apart. She writhed around on that spot and then lost consciousness.

Looking at that appearance, Kazuha shuddered once more at [the absurdity perpetrated by Joka].

“So, sorry! But even though that look really hurt, you are sure to get back to normal!”

Believing on Kazuki’s tactic, this time Kazuha slashed at Mibu Akira.

“Sto, stop! Don’ steal this power from mee—!!”

Kazuha’s [Futsu no Mitama] severed Mibu Akira’s strengthening until halfway. One more slash...!

“Sto, stooOOP! Crawl out from the crack of the earth that’s besmeared by sunshine, ugly beast with lips smeared by gore! Liberate the pig of earthly worry with that big mouth! Dragon Bite!!”

Mibu Akira counterattacked with offensive magic. A giant head of dragon was summoned in the presence of Kazuha who let her guard down. That big mouth lined with vicious fangs was opened. ...She was going to be bitten!

“It's dangerous, Kazuha-senpai!!”

Kohaku who predicted the danger forced her way through right there, pushing Kazuha away.

‘GUSHA!’ The dragon’s large jaw crunched Kohaku, the blue light of defensive magic power scattered.

“Hikita Kohaku, that’s the end! Get back already!!” Voice ordering to leave came from Liz Liza-sensei.

“Ko, Kohaku!” Kazuha rushed to Kohaku who was kneeling on the ground even though she was still in the middle of the match.

“This one is fine so...slash her and remove her from this match!”

“...Got it! With this it's the end!!”

Liz Liza lent her shoulder to Kohaku and brought her off the grounds. Taking a glance back, Kazuha drew closer to Mibu Akira and swung down the second slash of [Futsu no Mitama].

White light flashed in the track of the slash. From the body of Mibu Akira, all the Divine Protection was extinguished.

“The, the power of resurrection is...! Stop, don't steal that from us! We're gonna keep standin' no matter how many times and keep fighting! Whatever pain that hit us we will keep standing to show our guts, if you steal that from us...! ...uugYAAAAAAAAAAAAA!”

Similar with Asamiya Anna, Mibu Akira too were attacked by the recoil and raising a scream while writhing around.

While feeling pity toward that figures, Kazuha looked up at the direction of Kazuki who was flying in the sky.

“Hayashizaki, this side is finished!”

—Kazuki run through the sky using the thruster system of Deep striker.

“Kazuha-senpai, please lend Futsu no Mitama to me! Katsura Karin too...I'm going to release her from Hayashi Shizuka's curse!”

Not merely winning, he was going to save that Katsura Karin too. Toward Kazuki who was speaking such thing, Kazuha felt a faith that couldn't be expressed by words. This guy is seriously kind, that was what she completely felt once again.

“Right! I’ll entrust this to you!!” Kazuha presented Futsu no Mitama to Kazuki.

Hayashi Shizuka immediately inferred the aim of Kazuki who was heading to Kazuha.

“...O pitiful pit viper sipping the mud water. Disturb the flow of Yin and Yang, bring about the three thousand years of spirit essence to thy...Now, thy name is Yinglong[\[17\]](#)! Show that power of thy that had become the king of dragon running in the sky!! Yinglong Invitation!!”

Making the avatar of Joka waiting upon her side, Shizuka invoked Demon Beast summoning magic.

The sky was covered with deep black dark clouds. With a flash of light as if the rift between the clouds was torn apart, from there a gigantic dragon clad with lightning came flying. Yinlong—the dragon king that matured after the passing of three thousand years.

Looking at the flying Kazuki who was going to get [Futsu no Mitama], Shizuka directed the dragon king.

“I won’t let you!”

But to prevent that obstruction of exchange, Mio stood in the way of the dragon king. The dragon swung down its three claws at Mio. It was Mio who was poor at close-quarter combat, but she blocked that with the wings of flame.

An even defense and offense—it was not. The claws of Yinlong was not blocked but as if to say it [wouldn’t let her get away] the claws grappled Mio. Its mouth opened widely in a flash and radiating electricity was shot out.

“Self Burning!!” Mio instantly summoned an armor of flame.

However—even though the flame armor absorbed the electric heat, it didn’t defend the electric shock that flowed through the whole body. Also with all the damages that tormented Mio through this protracted battle, her consciousness felt far away.

It’s no good...I as well is going to protect Kazu-nii! I won’t allow this guy become a hindrance to Kazu-nii!

“Kazu-nii, take [Futsu no Mitama]...”

Mio looked down at the ground from the air. If that sword was handed over to Kazuki, this fight would...!

“Dragon Biteee!” —From behind Kazuha, a voice that should not be possible came.

Without even time to turn back, a gigantic large jaw of a dragon was created at her back, the perfectly off-guard Kazuha was crunched with a ‘GUSHA!’. Her defensive magic power was scraped off to the utmost limit.

“Tsukahara Kazuha, leave from the area!!” Liz Liza ordered her to leave the stage.

Kazuha turned back with unbelieving eyes.

“Li, lies...why, even though you are supposed to have been freed away already from the brain washing...”

Even while in agony Mibu Akira was just barely getting up on her knees, with fire lighting in her eyes and bloodcurdling expression, she carried out her spell chant.

“No way we’re fightin’ in this under brainwashing zeee—.... We’re fightin’ to prove that even a useless trash has their own spirit! ...We are fightin’ to make Karin-chan win!”

The girl raised her head, she shouted facing at Katsura Karin.

“Karin-chan, don’ lose! If you win against that Hayashizaki Kazuki, you are gonna get recognized by that always cold Nee-chan right!? Don’ lose okay, Karin-chan you’re not somethin’ like a pup...pet...!”

After shouting only that at the end, she crumbled down and fainted.

“So, sorry Hayashizaki...my magic power doesn’t last already...”

[Futsu no Mitama] vanished from Kazuha’s hand. Kazuki and Mio looked on with astonishment.

“Yosh, Karin. You too use Dakki’s magic.”

“But if I use this magic now, even those three people that cannot fight already...”

Karin hesitated to carry out the spell that she had already chanted until halfway, but Shizuka commanded coldly.

“It doesn’t matter. Do it, puppet. Kill that guy!”

{Again with the command for cruel thing...how pitiful.}

Beside Karin who was nodding powerlessly, Dakki’s avatar sneered at the transient world’s affair.

“...O goblin flower, bloom with glossy pride! What enfold tonight is the banquet of brute, tilt the cup sake of dosa[\[18\]](#). The five hundred years of heaven’s torture right here...Great Toad Lantern Thought HellDaitai Bonsou Jigoku!!”

Pitch black shadow spread from under the feet of Dakki and Karin, covering the whole surface of the fountain plaza. Even up to the bottom of the crater that Kazuki gouged out in the ground was swallowed by the magic shadow. From the depth of that shadow, innumerable poisonous serpents and poisonous scorpions were creeping up disgustingly.

It was as if the match venue had been transformed into a pit that was blanketed all over with vicious life forms.

“...!? You are using large scale offensive magic even though the defeated still haven’t left the area!”

The referee Liz Liza-sensei shouted while escaping to the staff tent outside the ground with Kohaku borrowing her shoulder.

“Your teammates too are fainting you know!!”

“I’ll save them!”

Mio ran from Yinlong, she fluttered her wings heading under the fainting Mibu-senpai and Asamiya-senpai.

“Bas, bastard—...No way I’ll get saved by the enemy...you bastard is still enemy now...”

Mibu-senpai that was caught in one of Mio’s arms let out abusive language. The other arm also held Asamiya-senpai. Although she was using Enchant Aura, Mio who was strained to the limit by the weight of two people got irritated.

“You’re annoying, I’ve seen with my own eyes your spirit or perhaps I should say I’m tired of looking at it. Just rest already!” Mio carelessly threw the both of them into the staff tent. And then one more person, Kazuha-senpai was—

“Kazuha-senpai, watch out!” Kazuki who was rushing with a plan of taking [Futsu no Mitama] just barely rescued Kazuha-senpai from a dangerous spot. With the girl in his arms, he made the thruster system of [Deep striker] to spout fires, he flew away to the sky from the hell of serpents and scorpions. He saved Kazuha-senpai but...he still couldn't say that all's well and end's well. Kazuki felt impatience and distorted his expression. [Futsu no Mitama] had vanished completely.

Despite his intention to liberate Katsura Karin too from Joka's power.

If by perchance Karin was not brainwashed, perhaps nothing would change even if she was slashed by [Futsu no Mitama]. Was the current Karin fighting by her own will, it couldn't be judged at all looking from the outside.

But...Kazuki didn't want to think that the distortion in Karin's mind was all the effect of undergoing abnormal education. He wanted to believe that her mind was overwritten by brainwashing magic and that was why she was made to obey so abnormally like a puppet. He wanted to believe that if the brainwashing magic was negated in this place and she was pulled away from Hayashi Shizuka, the girl too ought to be able to return back into a normal girl for sure. Despite so...!!

"Sorry, I weighed you down again.... Because I'm too half-baked and weak..."

Surmising Kazuki's color of impatience, inside Kazuki's arm Kazuha-senpai's eyes slowly became blurred with tears.

"That's not it, senpai has no need to apologize for anything."

"But...to save that girl Karin, the power of [Futsu no Mitama] is absolutely needed right? Even while I'm fighting I too had heard the cries of that child many times over. ...That's just too pitiful. Even though you are trying to save her...I, cannot do anything to be of help..."

Kazuha-senpai who could sympathize for a complete stranger until that much was surely a really kind person.

“Hey, don’t you have any other way!? You can use magic of so many types right!?”

Finally with a single line of tears going through her face, senpai raised a voice of dependence at Kazuki.

However among the magic that Kazuki could use, there was no purge magic. ...I’m still inadequate as a King. If only I had made my bond with Kazuha-senpai too as something definite....

Severing all the magic power of the technique user Hayashi Shizuka was also one way to extinguish the power of brainwashing.

But Kazuki too realized inside his heart that it was a difficult undertaking. Because at the time when he was attacked on top of the hill in the public park, he had seen Shizuka escaped with Joka’s [space transfer magic].

Space transfer—if some kind of countermeasure was not arranged for that magic, he wouldn’t be able to defeat Hayashi Shizuka. Precisely because her way to escape was ensured that Shizuka could display the use of her trump card so readily like this.

Other than hitting her with purge magic before she made her escape, there was no other way to save Karin.

Things like another method.... No.... Kazuha-senpai was removed from the stage but, right now she was still inside Kazuki’s arm. If that was the case then there was still one thing left that he could still do. Right, just one....

“Oi, that face of yours, that’s a face that just thought up some kind of method huh!”

Kazuha-senpai guessed from the change in Kazuki’s expression, she rocked Kazuki’s shoulder strongly.

“If there is some kind of way, then let’s save that girl! You are...not a brutish harem guy but a kind person right!? Please!!”

However, if I do that kind of thing, I....

“Hayashizaki Kazuki! It’s dangerous for your companion that doesn’t have magic power left, so drag her here to the staff tent!”

As if cornering the hesitating Kazuki, Liz Liza-sensei’s warning from the ground came.

“Yinlong, knock that down!”

Receiving Shizuka’s command, Yinlong too headed to Kazuki and flew.

“Coming from Ken’en tomb cave, one of Chūou Teishin’s three apparition princesses, o Dakki’s truly cruel next younger sister! Nine headed pheasant spirit <Kokibi>!!”

Karin too invoked even more Summoning Magic—from the far off sky, an unknown strange bird was flying.

A gigantic pheasant possessing nine heads—nine headed pheasant spirit. Possessing mystic power from passing through a long time, an apparition of a pheasant.

Its speed even surpassed Yinlong, this giant strange bird too was heading at Kazuki.

“I told you already...I won’t let anything near Kazuki!!”

In front of Yinlong and the nine headed bird, flapping the wings of flame Mio cut between them and Kazuki. Mio struck the strange bird as if pushing with her wings of flame, the scream of the eerie bird rang out in the sky of the battlefield.

But from the side, Yinlong hurled breath of lightning attack. Mio blocked it with the wings of flame but, she failed. The shock of the lightning attack pierced through and inflicted damage.

Mio's remaining magic power lessened, the wings of flame was shriveling down in the blink of an eye.

“The energy of the wings is exhausted...if it's exhausted, I'm going to be dropped into hell! If I fall into that kind of place in a condition of magic intoxication...I'm going to get bitten continuously by snakes and scorpions unable to escape...he, help me Kazu-niiii!!”

He could hear Mio's scream. The situation was...rapidly becoming urgent!

...As expected there is no other way than this! Without a doubt this would hurt Kazuha-senpai but...if it keeps like this then he would regret it in the end no matter what his choice!

Kazuki while still carrying Kazuha-senpai flew to the height where they couldn't be seen by other students in one go.

“Senpai, forgive me!!”

“What are you apologizing...nmuchu!?”

While accelerating and crossing the cloud, he pulled the bewildered Kazuha-senpai's face closer—and piled up their lips.

He kissed her. Inside Kazuki's chest, Kazuha-senpai was struggling with her hands and legs violently. But Kazuki kept hugging her strongly, he didn't separate their lips immediately. Reinforcing the link of bond between their magic power, after he felt a strong circuit was tied together—Kazuki finally separated their lips.

“Wh, wh wh wh wh wh why!”

After separating their faces with a ‘chuu’ sound echoing, Kazuha-senpai raised a panicking voice.

“Why are you suddenly kissing! My, my first kisss, why how!?”

Kazuki too, what kind of face he should made and what should he say that is good, didn't immediately come to mind. But Kazuha-senpai immediately took notice of something unusual starting to happen inside herself, she pressed her own chest *gyuu* tightly.

“...Wha, what is, this sensation!? Something hot linking something with you is...”

“Senpai, I'm sorry. But there is no other way except this!”

Kazuki one-sidedly apologized like that and swoop down, he entrusted Kazuha-senpai to the staff tent.

“Wa, wait, Hayashizaki Kazuki! You why...just explain thiss—!”

Kazuha-senpai that was dropped on the ground was crying with blaming voice in fluster. While receiving that question with his back, Kazuki silently flew up to the sky once more.

[Deep Striker]'s energy too only had a little left remaining. If he didn't decide the match immediately...! At the same time inside his head, a spell was coming to the surface.

“O god of sword from time immemorial that is extolled together with Takemikazuchi...”

Through the link with Kazuha-senpai, he called out to the true body of Futsunushi no Kami in Astrum.

“DON'T MAKE MY CUTE KAZUHA CRY”

Futsunushi no Kami floated beside Kazuki. That vision was changing from an avatar into a real entity.

“Well, there is no other way. I understand what you are doing. Anyone will judge that what you are doing is the right thing without a doubt. Kazuha too is angry, but she doesn't hate you. But I'm worried you know? ... You, something inside you that you were intending to never let twisted, is it twisted now?"

"...!" The words of Futsunushi no Kami pierced Kazuki's chest deeply. I was...for the sake of power I kissed Kazuha-senpai!!

"It's only a worry of mine that something of you had completely wavered though. Well your decision is not something mistaken! Right now raise your face, look at the enemy in front of your eyes! If it's my power then just in accordance to your will, you could sever every evil!! Come, chant the spell until the very end!!"

"Born from the whirl of steel and flame o god of blade that become pure! I'll take hold of thy with this hand receiving glory...draw sword! Futsunushi no Kami!!"

Together with the completion of Kazuki's spell chant, the presence of Futsunushi no Kami that was floating beside him was deepening thickly—accomplishing materialization in this transient world. Materializing a Diva...the ultimate Summoning Magic!

Futsunushi no Kami that was floating in the air was moving airily to Kazuki's hand.

"...Come, wield me!!" Eyes opening with a flash, Futsunushi no Kami declared.

...no wait, that's it!? I'm just wielding you like this without anything else!?!?

Kazuki made a tsukkomi inside his heart, but from the hilt that Kazuki held... a power that was without question was transmitted into both his hands. ...It was extremely impertinent for him to tsukkomi or the like wasn't it? Right now, the very thing in Kazuki's hand...from time immemorial the people of Japan regarded katana as something sacred. This sword in his hand was that very divinity itself.

Its appearance was an ancient sword with the face of a middle-aged man fixed on it, it was just Futsunushi no Kami that was materialized as it was without any change. [Futsu no Mitama] too was an ancient sword that looked just like a smaller Futsunushi no Kami, compared to that this was just something the same with a bigger size without any change in its appearance.

But the power hiding in its blade was like something completely different. If this real thing of [Futsunushi no Kami] was compared, that thing [Futsu no Mitama] was a shadow that was created by Futsunushi no Kami. He comprehended that it was nothing more than a cast-off shell.

Its appearance was, just a mere sword—but that blade hid a terribly frightening something.

“Kazu-nii! Save me quickly!!” Mio who was cornered by the dragon and pheasant raised a scream.

Kazuki opened the energy of [Deep Striker] on his back at full throttle.

While cutting apart through the cloud—he slashed at the Yinlong that he crossed path with.

Line. When the sword Kazuki wielded drew a line, Yinlong that was touched by it, along with the three clawed fingers it used trying to block—'zuu—' its body became two equal parts. In Kazuki's hand, he felt the same as if he was slashing at nothing with no sensation of touch at all. It was not a dimension of sharpness anymore.

The root of the magic life-form which was its magic power was destructed, the entity of Yinlong became countless lights and scattered apart.

Kazuki who was dashing in the sky drew an arc and circling, this time he was heading to the nine headed pheasant spirit.

The apparition of pheasant was not allowed any response—a flash. The nine headed pheasant spirit too became a light shower and vanished.

...What a clean feedback his hand felt.

At that time the wings of flame exhausted its strength and vanished, Mio completely exhausted freefell down to the hell. Kazuki swoop down and caught up with her just barely, taking her in his arms.

Kazuki's [Deep Striker]'s energy too was exhausted with his consecutive maneuver. Kazuki while holding Mio inevitably fell naturally. At their falling destination, innumerable poisonous serpents and scorpions were waiting for them in swarms. Kazuki embraced Mio with one hand, he took a reverse grip of [Futsunushi no Kami] with his other hand—he stood the blade toward the hell simultaneously while falling. With a flash, the match venue that was covered with darkness was ran through by light. Every vicious creatures disappeared, the fountain plaza returned to its original space.

“Mio, retreat back to the tent. Those guys’ ways of fighting are not straightforward.”

“...It's okay to rely on the teachers and stop the match you know?”

Mio said so worriedly. She seemed to want to say what would happen if Kazuki's heart was stopped when she was not there.

“It's okay, you don't need to worry. Also...if this is stopped now then there is no meaning.”

The wish of Kazuha-senpai, he would show that he was going to free Karin too here!

Sensing the obstinacy of Kazuki's determination, Mio ran to the staff tent.

“Coming from Ken’en tomb cave, one of Chūou Teishin’s three apparition princess, voice of Shinin, dance of Hokuhi, playing the comfort of Bibi o Dakki’s youngest sister! Gem and stones biwa[\[19\]](#) spirit <Oukijin>!!” Even during this interval, the opponent chanted their spell. At Karin’s side, a gigantic stone biwa appeared. It moved by itself and began to play music.

What kind of ominous power that tune possessed—Kazuki had no idea.

Just by thrusting [Futsunushi no Kami] right in front of himself, all of the mystical sound waves were cut apart and dispersed.

“Tha, that...how could sound get cut!?” Against that unreasonableness, Karin’s expression was taken aback.

Kazuki was naturally reminded of Prometheus’ [Olympia Forger].

As the result of the mutual hailing with Kazuki’s soul, Prometheus’ power was embodied in the shape of sword. But to the last its essence was [weapon]. Its blade hid energy that would explode to outside direction, it was a weapon that released a wave motion that would defeat countless military forces altogether with one slash.

[Futsunushi no Kami] in contrast with that, hid energy that was concentrated in inside direction. It couldn’t do something like releasing sword wave and defeating an army altogether. However the thing that was touched by that blade—whether it was material thing or an effect of magic power—it would get cut down and bisected with one stroke.

“Ride Lightning!” —A fitting spell to wield this blade, Kazuki had already finished the chanting for it.

Kazuki accelerated his body and filled the distance with one breath, he parted the gem and stone biwa spirit into two.

And then with the returning slash, he cut Karin.

The power to cut all things—that was not all there was to it. This sword was able to cut only the thing the wielder wished to cut. At that time Kazuki was able to choose what he wanted to cut.

What was cut from the girl named Karin? ...Joka's Divine Protection. ... Everything that remained of her magic power.

And then sense of pain and consciousness. So that there would not be anything painful for the girl from the recoil of the Divine Protection's severing.

Slowly swaying, Karin fell asleep at that spot like her battery was plugged out. Seeing that Kazuki caught her in his arm.

Kazuki softly laid the girl whose expression was only now just softened down on the ground.

“The water god of raging scarlet hair is the broken heaven pillar, mending the chasm of destruction Joka's greatness shine! ...Distribute that light of world compilation in this hand! Five Color StoneGoshoku Seki!!”

Shizuka too invoked her magic. The tremendous magic power wave conveyed the power of the invoked magic. On the palm that Shizuka raised to the sky, a shining [sphere] was created, it emitted light of every color...!

“GUWAHHAHHA! Hey Kazuki, what that stone released is wave that overwrite and transform all existence – the world! Superficial magic power would just get rewritten magic power and all, it's a power of instant death you see! But if your skill and me are joined then there is nothing we cannot cut!! Believe in me and just slash—!!”

Kazuki with his honed swordsmanship faced the light and swung [Futsunushi no Kami]. The light was bisected right into two—as if the impact was transmitted through the light, the [Goshoku Seki] inside Shizuka's hand was smashed apart.

“Kuh...impossible, does anything goes for that sword!?”

“GUWAHHAHHA! Strictly speaking it's not everything. The thing that I can cut is in proportion to the skill of the user just for you to know. That's why... putting aside Kazuha if it's Kazuki then it's possible everything really can be cut! Wielded by the supreme swordmaster, as a sword too it's the supreme enjoyment! GUWAHHAHHA!!”

Kazuki's might was roused up. As a swordsman, it was words of a sword god that were really more than he deserved...!

Shizuka was “Chih” clicking her tongue. The girl had noticed that [the battle was impossible to be kept on]. Even while holding up the five colored stone, she had already begun to spin an emergency spell.

“O five colors that are the shine of Joka, repaint the world! The sky I wish for is not here! To the end that compass pointed at...Kujinhen'i!”

The compass held by Joka's avatar that was floating beside Shizuka rotated fiercely. Space transfer magic!

It was that compass! With this sword of cutting evil, if he could destroy that compass...!

Kazuki accelerated with [Ride Lightning] and approached Shizuka. But in the nick of time the compass shone. ...Not enough, only with [Ride Lightning], the acceleration was not enough...!

Right in front of Kazuki's eyes, the space distorted like jelly. And then the figure of Hayashi Shizuka thinned out and disappearing!

Right after, feeling a slight presence at his back Kazuki looked back.

At the back a half transparent Shizuka was standing. That form of hers was already not a material substance but an avatar.

After the girl looked down on the unconscious Karin, she glared at Kazuki provokingly.

[I'll give that puppet to you. You, I should have met you while you were still weak.... However I'll soon come again to kill you just so you know. I too, cannot go back to motherland empty handed...]

—Leaving behind words of ill omen, Shizuka's figure disappeared.

She wouldn't be able to show her figure anymore as a Sword Division second year of the Knight Academy.

At the conclusion of the strange final battle, the stands erupted in commotion. This match had obviously become something odd from the midway. Students that were supposed to be swordsmen were recklessly firing magic using unknown Divas, defenseless students that were in the middle of evacuating the arena were dragged into it. On top of all that a single student's figure was vanishing to who know where.

Liz Liza-sensei who grasped the situation called out a blessing with a megaphone in order to gloss over the incident.

“The match is over! The Knight Academy's Chief Student Council President Tournament battle election, the champion team is...the candidate Hayashizaki Kazuki and his supporters! Give a big applause for them!!”

The students of the whole school at the stands, even with many things they didn't understand, all at once gave applause and raised loud cheers with great mood.

Chapter 2 – Discarded Fox Diary

Part 1

The collapsed Karin was immediately transported to the school infirmary.

And then Headmaster Amasaki informed Kazuki and his companions that were gathering besides Karin's bed—he entered the gravity of bearing the burden of a student's fate into his voice.

“A seal would be performed on her Stigmata to make her unable to use magic power completely. I have made an arrangement with the Knight Order for a <Stigmata Suppression DeviceLimiter>. It's the newest measure for illegal magician with minor offence.”

“You are not going to use <Stigmata Removal Operation> that was recommended for Otouto-kun before?”

Kaguya-senpai asked. In comparison to seal by tool, removing Stigmata by operation was thought to be a more fundamental solution. But Headmaster Amasaki shook his head.

“If the link between Stigmata and Diva is destroyed, the injury to the mind cannot be avoided. The former Headmaster Otonashi that advanced the research by his own accord claimed that it had become a technique for practical use, but in reality it's still too inhuman. Even the illegal magicians that are caught by the Knight Order are currently restrained using Limiter.”

“That thing called limiter, what kind of item is it?” Kazuki asked.

“What is called Limiter is a tool that read the wavelength of the magic power that flow inside the Stigmata and make it so magic power cannot flow into the Stigmata. On top of fixing this tool on her, she is also going to be sent to a <detention facility>.”

Detention facility—the establishment that detained the illegal magicians that the Knight Order captured. They were safely managed there, at the same time it was also a facility for keeping them away at a distance so that they wouldn't become a victim of persecution and revenge.

It could also be reworded as [the prison you wouldn't be able to leave until you die].

“Please wait a second, there is no need to go that far right!?”

Kazuki objected in panic, but Headmaster Amasaki opposed imposingly.

“Why do you think so? Of course there is a need to go that far. You realize if the limiter is broken or removed, this girl is just going to use dangerous Summoning Magic again?”

“Headmaster, the logic that she is [dangerous because of illegal magician status] is also going to be completely disadvantageous for our position that claimed the safety of Hayashizaki Kazuki and the others though.”

Liz Liza-sensei interjected in the middle and covered for Kazuki. “What kind of pretext is used to send the girl to the detention facility? Is there a basis to hand down an even more harsh treatment compared to Hayashizaki and the others?”

“There is. This girl while there were still students in unconscious condition remaining in the match venue, used a large scale offensive magic. Her riskiness has already been proven.”

A resolute fury stained the words of Headmaster Amasaki—in regard to someone that exposed the students to danger. ‘I’m going to send this girl to a detention facility for sure’, that was the kind of face that he was currently making.

“That was because of Hayashi Shizuka’s order that made her did it! This girl was just manipulated! Despite so, for this girl's life to be closed here, I won't allow such behavior!!”

“How could you know that she did it just because of the brainwashing? How much of it was by Katsura Karin's own will, how much of it was not, can you really judge it accurately?”

“That...when the person concerned herself wakes up we could ask her...”

“The word of the person concerned herself couldn't become a proof.”

That was just like a suspect that cried of his own innocence in a trial. There was no persuasiveness inside it at all.

“Hayashi Shizuka is the mastermind of everything, Katsura Karin just got dragged into it. Katsura Karin is completely innocent...if such thinking is considered normally, it sounds forced don't you agree?”

“But to be punished just for doubt and simply get sent to detention facility like that...!”

He got the reason of Headmaster Amasaki that regarded Karin as a danger. However, even so...!

“Don't fuck with mee—!”

At that time, a voice came beyond the curtain that partitioned them from the neighboring bed.

“Don't screw around, I won't allow you bastard to send Karin-chan to a place that looked like jail huh!!”

The curtain was opened violently. The source of the voice was Mibu Akira. The girl too together with Asamiya-senpai fainted at the final, just like that they were laid on the bed beside.

“Karin-chan didn't do anything bad...no really she might do something just a little bad but...but Karin-chan isn' someoneee bad okay!”

“That’s right—, what Aneki said you know—!”

Snapping at the headmaster the moment they woke up, the small statured protégée Asamiya-senpai too gave her backing at that timing.

Facing defiance from unexpected place, Headmaster Amasaki made a shocked face.

“...You two, are you going to give testimony that Katsura Karin was brainwashed? ...But the testimony of the both of you is not going to fly. Both of you also continued to fight even without under the brainwashing of Joka. Both of you were also conspired with the sleeper agent of China by your own will, a dangerous element.”

Sometimes he really felt like wanting to say something like [choose your words a little more carefully] to Headmaster Amasaki.

Against that high handed attitude, Mibu-senpai and Asamiya-senpai became even more worked up.

“I was fightin’ for Karin-chan’s sake! Karin-chan...honestly I don’ know how far she was brainwashed. There is also some aspect of Karin-chan that choose to fight. But, that was only because she was made to choose! Karin-chan’s [own will] was not regarded at all! This girl just wanted to get recognized by her stepsister as family!! I wanna help her with that. Me and also Karin-chan doesn’t give a damn one bit about whether China is backing us up or whatever! No way I’m fighting for such thing!!”

“Wishing to get recognized as family...?” Kazuki was dumbfounded and leaked out a voice in a murmur.

“Karin-chan is not a bad child! Even if she doesn’t get slammed into prison she could still start over!”

“Hmph.” Headmaster Amasaki snorted his nose without changing his attitude.

“If she could still reform than that way is better. She is still a young girl of fifteen years old, even I think so. But why you can declare that so confidently? What’s your basis? If the worst possibility should happen what are you going to do?”

Mibu-senpai faltered. After looking down with anxious eyes, she said a [girlish basis].

“...Because that girl always made lonely eyes. If she really had gone bad, if she didn’t give a damn on the world and despaired, she won’t even feel any loneliness or the like. If she had really gone bad then she gonna become a monster that keep cool no matter what screwed things she get done. But it’s still not too late for guys that get lonely. If a kind hand is reached out to ‘em by someone, there is no way it’s too late for ‘em!!”

From those words, the infirmary became enveloped in silence.

That was by no means a logical argument, but it had the persuasive power of a pleading from the heart.

Was there something inside Kazuki that couldn’t get to agree with this development, he had a feeling that he could understand her argument.

This was a conceited talk but, never once Kazuki felt of Karin as strong.

The girl always raging and shouting at Kazuki, always clinging on Hayashi Shizuka [wanting to get approved]. That frailness completely like an infant raising a crying voice was really transparent.

Hayashi Shizuka used such girl’s weakness to the bone without leaving anything untouched.

Even in the case that brainwashing magic was not even used, that was already the same as brainwashing.

I...if there existed a powerless person that got oppressed and fell into fate of sorrow, it was something that I couldn't allow.

As expected I wanted to help Karin. Even in the case of the existing possibility that the girl was a future [enemy], even so he wanted to discover the possibility of happiness for the girl.

“It's not worth considering. What you called as your basis is only a really subjective story from your side.”

Despite the bitter face that Headmaster Amasaki was making, he cut Mibu-senpai's argument without a second thought with a sentence.

“Anyway you two don't forget that you are also someone in suspicion. No matter how much you said that she is not bad, it was nothing more than your attempt to cover for your comrade.”

“Shit-, is it because we are delinquents...! Really until now we just kept doing whatever the hell we wanted and then suddenly askin' to just believe what we are sayin' it's really askin' too much but still...”

Mibu-senpai dropped her shoulders dejectedly, Asamiya-senpai too “Aneki...” had her eyes glistening with tears.

“Mibu-san why did you become a delinquent...rather than saying delinquent, why didn't you spend your school life seriously as a knight candidate until now?”

Kaguya-senpai once again inquired about Mibu-senpai's real intention.

“I didn't...even though I didn't even wanna become something like a knight I was forced to enter the Knight Academy, of course I won't have any motivation. No way I'm gonna go along with it.”

”Yes, before we also had a talk like that hadn't we?”

Until now Kaguya-senpai had already tried to reform Mibu-senpai many times and it really weighed on her mind.

“But that kind of you really made so much effort like this with all your power in this battle election. For the sake of this child named Karin. Why in the world would you do that?”

“...Karin-chan was treated like shit by Shizuka. I too am this academy’s shit, that was why I wanna do something. Really, I don’ even know about things like with China or Japan at all.”

Kaguya-senpai suddenly became flustered.

“I said that you are delinquents but, I don’t think that you are this academy’s shit or the like at all! I just thought that I wanted us to do our best together as a fellow Knight candidate, that’s all!

“I get it really. But I couldna’ take an offered hand like that! Because that’s too shameful right!? When I got treated kindly, that just made me got awareness of my own wrong!”

“Aneki...” Asamiya-senpai watched over Mibu-senpai whose eyes were wet with tears.

“Actually I, wanted to enter confectionery school...and become a cake store owner!”

“Ca, cake store!?” Hearing that too unexpected words, not only Kaguya-senpai, everyone too was surprised.

“What’s strange with that, isn’t cake store the best! I’m gonna open my own shop in a small town, getting the auntie and the girls going home from school as my regular.... At Christmas or birthday, if there is something to celebrate everyone is gonna come to my shop, picking out the cake with eyes bright with hope.... For the sake of answering that hope every morning I’m gonna wake up early, I got confidence in my magic power so I'm gonna make my own flavor with Alchemy Cooking, everyone gonna say that it's delicious... even though I have a dream like that...this arm that is for the sake of whipping up cream was suddenly got fixed with Enigma!"

From Mibu-senpai's eyes, tears were overflowing in drove, spilling out messily.

"That's why...what responsibility of knight, I don't know anything like that, like that I rebelled against the academy. I don't have any plan of doing anything mistaken, so I don't plan to reflect on myself or anything like that. But...I noticed it while looking at Kaguya-chan."

"M, me? Looking at me?" Kaguya-senpai pointed at herself and blinked with surprise.

"Kaguya-chan was always piling up harsh training on herself, she even challenged dangerous quests energetically. Moreover many times she reached out her hands to shit like me sayin' [let's do our best together]. Not just that, despite being the student council president of the Magic Division she insisted to have an equal relationship with the Sword Division...even though there is dissenting opinion, she stuck to her own will for the sake of those guys in weak position. ...That made me think if this kind of person is what a [knight] really is. I got aware of that. If no one is fightin' as a knight then it's gonna be like that [Tokyo Great Destruction] fifteen years ago, there is gonna be no place for cake store. If no one is gonna fight...even I get it that I canna' just waste away the great power that I finally got my hands on uselessly like that. But after thoroughly saying [This academy is the one that's bad] [I'm not the one that's bad] continuously, I slapped away Kaguya-chan's hand. There is no way after all that I coulda just suddenly say shameful things like [I'm going to aim as a Knight]! Kaguya-chan is just too bright, I cannot take that hand.... When I see Kaguya-chan....my own shittiness is just too pathetic!"

Asamiya-senpai too, together with her elder sister figure Mibu-senpai became messed with spilling tears.

“Err, someone like me is really not that great.” Kaguya-senpai was all shook up.

“I want to become like Kaguya-chan, so I secretly piled up magic training. But this late I already cannot go back to become an honor student. Then at that time Shizuka came invitin’ me into the battle election. If I made great showin’ in the battle election then maybe everyone woulda looked at me differently. Everyone would get to recognize that I’m not a shit, that I coulda take Kaguya-chan’s offered hand unashamedly like that, that was what I was thinking.”

“Me and Aneki, didn’t get told of Shizuka’s objective or anything like that. We know that girl sometimes gave us special training in a secret location, she called us out. She planned to make us pawns that are easy to handle and also quite strong as suits the occasion. For that girl we are nothing more than pawns. But for us whatever those guys’ objective are doesn’t really matter at all.”

“But gradually the matter about ourselves too didna really matter! Karin-chan had much more crappy experience than someone like me, compared to her my worry is just a simple half-baked thing...she was treated like trash by Shizuka! If we complained or whined that Shizuka beat us blue until magic intoxication...after that, we became reluctan’ to say any complain to Shizuka...”

...Mibu-senpai definitely received brainwashing. But what was overwritten by the brainwashing was not their motive for fighting but only the pecking order between them.

“Please I beg you Kaguya-chan! Just like what you try to give to us, reach out your hand to Karin-chan too! You’re an ally of justice right!?”

Mibu-senpai caught hold of Kaguya-senpai’s shoulders, while doing that she brought her tear stricken face near.

“I’m, I’m not really an ally of justice though...”

“Inside me you are ally of justice anyway—!!”

Mibu-senpai kept shaking Kaguya-senpai’s shoulders. Looking at that appearance, Kazuki too naturally sympathized. ...Kaguya-senpai reached her hand to me too, I was saved by her.

“Headmaster Amasaki, we don’t need anymore reason or proof don’t you agree? Right now I absolutely don’t want to think that these two are lying.”

“Ugh...” Headmaster Amasaki’s expression soured.

“Before, I became concerned whatever happened to the illegal magician that I captured, so I had went to inspect the detention facility. ...It’s no good you know, to do something like sending a child to that kind of place because of false charges.”

Hikaru-senpai that once went through bitter experience because of Karin too, that gentle face of hers distorted in sorrow.

“Tou-san, if you are a teacher then there are times when you had to have faith in your students even without any proof right!? In drama this is not the time to say such things!”

Mio who was until now had kept quiet and watched the situation gave her assistance to Kazuki as well.

“Ughh...even though papa is just taking a prudent stance for the sake of the academy, even up to Mio...”

Headmaster Amasaki made a grimace that add even more wrinkles in his wrinkled-covered face.

“Well then headmaster, at least please wait before sending her immediately to the detention facility. I will take the role of monitoring Karin for a while and make sure of Karin’s true feelings. Just like when before Kaguya-senpai did that for me and I was put in the Witch’s Mansion!”

“Yo, you—, you’re gonna help Karin-chan!?”

“Don’t say stupid things! Katsura Karin is aiming for your life, you know that!! If you asked what is the most dangerous, it’s to be put and left here near you, that’s the number one danger!”

“Saying it in reverse, the only one who can prove that this girl is not a dangerous character by being together with her is only the target, just me. Moreover even in the case that the girl bared her fang as an assassin, I am already beyond her ability to kill. If it’s this girl that’s impossible.”

“Kazuki, didn’t your heart get stopped once already?”

From the side of Kazuki that was saying so while puffing up his chest, Mio made a swift tsukkomi and flustered him.

“Tha, that was just because I didn’t understand the opponent’s technique that’s why I intentionally got hit to test it, that’s all! A second hit won’t succeed anymore! I had perfectly grasped this girl’s true strength!!”

“Certainly only seeing from the match, I think the difference in strength was evident. Nevertheless can you really assert that so certainly? If for example you are to be attacked when sleeping...”

Kaguya-senpai murmured worriedly.

“Hayashizaki-style is surprise attack proof.”

“When we first met, didn’t I creep up behind you unnoticed and pranked you

[Who— is it?]?”

Kaguya-senpai too launched a swift tsukkomi, Kazuki was “Tha, that was because senpai didn’t have any killing intent!” and made some justification in fluster. Moreover, just before this, he had been pranked [Who— is this?] by Beatrix.

This was bad, from some time ago he let out too many excuses. The persuasiveness was just too doubtful even if he said so himself.

“Nii-sama...that being the case are you planning to don the <War Preparation Spirit>?”

As if to throw out a life saving boat, Kanae said that.

“War Preparation Spirit?” Everyone other than Kazuki tilted their heads. In place of Kazuki, Kanae made her explanation.

“Hayashizaki-style is an old school of Iai. Iai’s original doctrine is [to never let show an opening no matter what kind of time, always being ready to draw sword and counterattack immediately no matter against any kind of attack], like that. Surprise attack doesn’t work against Nii-sama is a fact.

Hayashizaki-style can detect [killing intent] even while sleeping....What is called killing intent is not a concept that like an occult. Killing intent, namely the emission of offensive-like magic power. In order to be able to sense it even in the subconscious, the subconscious of oneself has to be mastered—that is the War Preparation Spirit. In short it is one kind of a Trance technique.”

The surrounding bunch felt the persuasiveness inside Kanae’s words and “I see” nodded their head.

“Putting on War Preparation Spirit, in short if I sleep with my mind still in a half-awakened state, even if I am attacked in my sleep I could immediately wake up. That’s why it’s impossible for Karin to kill me. Headmaster, please give me time to spend with Karin! ...If you recognize me as a possessor of the power of King then please!”

King. With that word brought out, Headmaster Amasaki grudgingly accepted that proposal.

“...One week. After one week the student general meeting will be carried out, the counting of the votes will be performed and the seat of the Chief Student Council President will be settled. Until that time, keep Katsura Karin company and don’t leave her side for even a moment. Smell out her true feeling.”

One week...if there was that much time then it was enough.

“You said don’t leave her side for even a moment...Certainly if she is a dangerous character then a monitoring around the clock is needed but, then that means Kazuki is going to have a life of constant attendance with this child Karin? For one week too?”

Mio talked in whisper. And then with a blushing red face, she claimed an unparalleled thoughtless remark.

“...That’s totally unfair!!”

Part 2

“...Here is?”

The time when Karin who was laid atop the bed in Kazuki’s room opened her eyes was several hours later.

“This is my room.”

Kazuki answered so in a posture of sitting on top of the chair of his desk.

“...Hayashizaki Kazuki!?” The instant she saw Kazuki, Karin sprang up with the force of Jouchouho.

“Wait, calm down. You don’t need to be on your guard. By the way the sheets of that bed and pillow had been changed into new ones, so it shouldn’t smell like me!”

“Smell or whatever doesn’t matter!”

That might be so but...when Hikaru-senpai said to Kazuki that his bed [smelled the smell of boy] he became bothered by it.

“You, I’m going to...!”

Kazuki quickly interrupted the words Karin was going to say.

“Hayashi Shizuka who gave that order had already gone.”

At that time when Shizuka left, she left behind a discarding talk of [I’ll give that puppet to you]. That kind of thing.

Karin looked around restlessly *kyoro kyoro*...she instantly comprehended the meaning of Shizuka’s inexistence there, that after the fight the one who was captured was only herself. And then that expression of hers changed into a hollow expression.

“...Is that so? So I have been discarded.”

In Kazuki’s room that has a width of about six tatami mats, so that he could put Karin on the bed, Kazuki also brought the futon for his share inside. It made the room even more cramped. In there, even more monitoring equipment was arranged.

First was a lock and buzzer at the door and window. If those were attempted to be opened forcibly, alarms would ring out throughout the Witch’s Mansion. The alarm’s volume was so loud that it would make any who hear it leap out from their bed.

At the corner of the ceiling, a lens of a monitoring camera was shining. Kazuki's own privacy was also taken from him, this camera took the film and transmitted it to the staff room in real time.

The guaranteed article was the bracelet type Limiter that was installed on Karin's wrist. It was the item sent from the Knight Order that was arranged by the headmaster. It was accompanied with vicious functions that would create a powerful shock to the mind through the Stigmata and drive the wearer into unconsciousness when they tried to destroy the bracelet forcibly or when the identified wavelength tries to perform Access.

“In short you are put into a situation where it's impossible to escape from cohabitation with me!”

“You, are you a pervert?”

When he explained the situation with high tension, an extremely natural tsukkomi was returned at him.

Looks like it was difficult to have a bright atmosphere in his conversation with Karin.

“If I don't do this you are going to be sent to the detention facility you know? You'd hate it right, to be sent there in this young age.”

“I don't particularly mind. Whatever happens to someone like me...”

Karin who had a thoroughly vacant expression murmured crestfallenly.

“Hey, I have one thing I want to ask you though.”

“There is nothing that I can answer. If I get interrogated with truth serum or mind magic it’s going to be useless to resist anyway so I’ll say this beforehand, but I don’t know anything.”

“I’m not asking about that. Are you a family with Shizuka?”

Against Kazuki’s question, Karin’s expression stiffened.

“You’d know if you look from the name right? The family name of Hayashi was not given to me.”

According to Eleonora, it seemed Hayashi Shizuka had the real name of Lin Zhijing<sup>[1]</sup>.

From the simple fake name they were using, their underestimation of Japan’s intelligence network was clear as day.

“I’m called as KatsuraGue KarinFarin. Losing my original name of Katsura Karin, I became an existence of nobody.”

“But you wanted to be recognized as family right?”

“...No. I’m a puppet. There is nothing that I wished for.”

“Is that so? ...Actually I was also an orphan.”

Karin who was averting her face to the side looked back here. An interest was growing from a faint sympathy.

From that action, an emotion that was unlike a puppet bled out for an instant.

“I was treated kindly by Hayashizaki household. I obtained a family. ...I who became happy and you who was treated as a puppet, what’s with this difference?”

“Are you planning to boast and feel good with yourself? Just so you know that I don’t feel any jealousy or anything.”

“No. This mere slight difference of fate that separated you and me...I really cannot tolerate it.”

After Kazuki spat out those last words behind, he went out of the room and went to the kitchen.

And then he served the share of the girl’s dinner on a plate and brought it back. It was the food that Kazuki made while Karin fainted. The usual fried chicken. Rice. Salad. The time was not enough so it became just a simple menu.

But he wanted to make the girl eat his own homemade food.

“Do you think I’m going to receive any charity from you!”

Karin knocked off the plate of food that Kazuki presented to the floor.

Kazuki wordlessly tidied up the food that was scattered on the floor. It’s great that it was a menu that didn’t have any soup in it.

“I didn’t put any poison in it. It’s delicious you know. Even though I have confidence in this food.”

Kazuki didn’t even get angry, then he put the part of fried chicken that was still safe on top of the plate into his mouth with a snap and made a show to her of him eating. “...” Karin was glaring silently at that situation.

And then they went to bed that night. There was no conversation between the two but there was also no attack.

“Karin, here is breakfast.”

The menu was freshly toasted toast garnished with homemade butter and crispy bacon egg. Puffing up vapors was still visible on top of the plate, filling up the whole room with fragrant aroma.

The exquisite grilling adjustment made the appearance and the aroma very stimulating, making the one who sees it won't be able to stop imagining how good it would be to feel the food texture in the mouth.

“Don't need it. Bring it back.”

“Is that so? Even though it's so delicious.”

With intention of appealing that there was no poison inside the food, Kazuki made a show of eating it in front of Karin.

With homemade butter melted in brim on top of the dry surface of the toast that was toasted into light brown color, when Kazuki bit it a *saku* sound resounded. When the fork was stabbed into the sunny-side-up fried egg, the half-cooked syrupy egg yolk soaked the bacon, the egg mildly enveloped the bacon's richness. When it was brought into the mouth, both things mixed together spread out the flavor of microcosmos.

Right there black tea was also included into his mouth. In truth in making black tea, Mio's way was far more detailed than even Kazuki, this tea was made by her for him. The fresh aroma reset his tongue and he once again took a round of taste of the butter toast.

In that situation Karin kept making a small glance from the side. Her lips were trembling all over as if enduring something.

—After the breakfast was over, for the sake of monitoring Karin, Kazuki had took a break from the academy.

There was plenty of time but, it presented a space where there was only Kazuki and Karin, just the two of them together. Kazuki didn't have any intention of doing something like an interrogation. In exchange, he tried making small talk many times to relax the atmosphere but he was ignored.

“Karin, it’s lunch time.”

In the afternoon it was Oyakodon[2]. Kazuki brought over two bowls covered with lid into the room, then he suddenly removed the lid. With a puff the steam puffed up from the bowl, a gentle fragrance from parsley and soup stock filled the room.

“...Don’t need it. But I’m going to say one thing. Don’t eat it in front of my eyes.”

Karin said it with sharp tone of voice, that stomach of hers was ‘kuuu’ rumbling.

When he thought about it, the girl will have not eaten for a whole day soon.

He was unaware of it but, by perchance he had made a behavior of awful torture already.

“But I’m the monitor of Karin, so as much as possible I have to be here.”

Reluctantly, Kazuki consumed the food including the share that was also prepared for Karin’s sake heartily right in front of Karin’s eyes. Then the last remaining rice grains that had absorbed the broth were picked one grain by one grain by chopsticks. It was really fun that he cleaned the bowl until it shined.

Karin became teary eyed while her eyes were nailed looking on that situation.

At the afternoon, he studied the self-learning textbook that was prepared by Liz Liza-sensei, and also he thoroughly performed muscle training and magic training that could be done in that room. For Kazuki he went through a productive afternoon...then it became the time for dinner.

“Karin, it’s dinner but...”

For dinner it was sukiyaki<sup>[3]</sup>. So he could just take the shortest possible time being away from this room, he made the meal as simple as possible.

Furthermore it must be something that he wouldn't get embarrassed to serve for a guest that came from afar.

He brought the iron pot that was filled with gently boiling sukiyaki together with the gas stove. The gas stove was put onto the tea table. Inside the iron pot the cooking hadn't been completed already, rather it was still halfway cooked.

Enticed by the aroma, Karin unconsciously peaked into the pot's content, then finally she cried out messily.

From her stomach, 'ku—kyurupi—' groaning voice that sounded like a small animal leaked out.

"Oi...your stomach is hungry right? Though I think that patience is meaningless."

"...My stomach is hungry. My throat is parched..."

Karin talked in resignation.

"Your stomach is hungry.... Strange. Why is that? Why, despite being a puppet without any home to return for...even though you think that it's okay even if you die...your stomach is hungry."

In front of the girl that refused even drinks, Kazuki put and presented the cooled black tea pot, then he served the sukiyaki from the pot into a bowl for the girl.

"It's really natural. You still haven't lived in a way that would make you able to say [I can die satisfied]. Eat up. You are not a puppet but still a human."

After Karin drained the cup of tea in one gulp, she took and gripped the chopstick with trembling fingers. After mixing the beef meat seeped with salty-sweet flavor and raw egg, she brought it to her mouth.

“...Delicious. This is the first time I eat something this tasty.”

“It’s a cooking I have confidence in after all. Sukiyaki is decided by the quality of the beef meat. I know an old man that used alchemy to raise good cow. Are you listening, the breeding of cow is very deep. This is a second-hand knowledge from the old man but to raise a good cow, good grass is needed. To start with the soil is important. For the sake of choosing the soil first he needed to lick and eat the soil, he ascertained the chlorella with his own tongue you know...That pH value is...”

“You’re annoying.”

“...Sorry. In the house of Hayashi, what were you normally eating?”

“Bean sprouts or something like that.” It was curt, but that was the first time she gave a reply to his question.

“Something like stir fried bean sprouts?”

“No, directly from the bag just like that.”

“Raw!? Just as I thought Hayashi Shizuka that guy’s personality is the worst...!”

Karin continued to move her chopsticks in a daze without even wiping her tears. This time she ate with vigor that didn’t even leave Kazuki’s share untouched.

“Why, even though you are treated like trash until that much, do you still listen to what Shizuka was saying?”

“...Because I’m a puppet. There is nothing that I think as painful.”

“Wrong. You listen to me, you are not an unfeeling human to the degree of a puppet.”

Rather, even though she was an assassin, she immediately lost her cool from some provocation. Mibu-senpai too, she said that Karin had [lonely eyes that were waiting for someone to reach their hands for her].

The Karin at that time when she was treated as a meatshield by Hayashi Shizuka, that expression....

And then mixing the egg with salty-sweet beef meat and bringing it into her mouth with that brightness, this expression....

“You were coming to this point enduring that harsh way of living for a long time while hoping, wishing to become happy someday. That decided it. You are not something like a puppet.”

Part 3

“Karin, let’s watch anime or something.”

Choosing the one that he hasn’t watched yet among the anime URD that he borrowed from Lotte, Kazuki called out to her.

“Anime...?” Karin tilted her head looking at the URD package in his hand with deep interest.

“This is an appliance that projected a story, isn’t it...? How foolish, this is just a children’s amusement.”

“Is that so, well even if you don’t watch I’m still going to watch alone.”

Kazuki set the URD into the Phantasmagoria and it projected three dimensional images. At his back Karin kept sneaking glances this way.

“Hayashizaki Kazuki. Oi Kazuki.” Along with the sudden voice, his shoulder was shook from behind.

“What is it, even though now is a great scene, gusu-[4]”

Kazuki paused the images temporarily and looked back while wiping his tears.

Even though a great scene that even made him forget Karin's existence was currently going on.

"...I can't comprehend the action of Ivlahimopitch just now. It's irrational."

Karin said with a serious expression.

The one she called Ivlahimopitch was the main character of this anime [Magical Girl Ivlahimopitch].

"Ivlahimopitch who was a female delinquent ruffian was reformed by her master Park Chison and she accumulated training of magical taekwondo. Finally she surpassed the strength of her master and then she proceed forward into a destiny of various magic martial arts battle together with the enemy of her parents, the user of magical Muay Thai Pon Saklek, I wonder if it's that kind of scene."

"Haven't you grasped the story well already?"

"Ivlahimopitch is supposed to be a girl that dedicated her life in fighting. Despite so, why did she suddenly neglect the enemy of her parents and headed to Mourinyo's location. This Mourinyo was an ally but parted company with her for the sake of pursuing her revenge. Currently she is supposed to be an enemy."

"That's because she noticed the futility of revenge and the awakening of her love to Mourinyo right?"

The girl who stopped the revenge realized that she was loved not only by Mourinyo but also the whole world and she liberated herself from the curse that bound her life. A really moving scene.

However Karin shook her head. "I don't get it, how irrational."

“That’s because the thing called love is something irrational in the first place...”

“Love...what is love[5]?”

“Tha, that’s...I too don’t get it.... Don’t ask such philosophical matters so suddenly!”

“You bastard, so you are showing something you don’t understand well yourself to me!”

“You don’t think about this kind of matter! Feel it!”

Kazuki and Karin raised their voices and quarreled, suddenly ‘BATA—N!’ the door of the room opened.

“Tell the story to me, Kazuki-oniisan! To talk about Ivlahimopitch without me participating is unforgivable desu!”

The one who came along was Lotte who was wearing a dog-modeled pajama.

“Kazuki, what’s with this girl?”

“This living thing is Charlotte Liebenfrau...when she finds humans who share interest in anime she will bite the prey and won’t let go until the prey had talked with her through three days and three nights. A ferocious anime lover wanwan[6].”

After Kazuki made that totally unthinkable introduction, Lotte “wanwan!” barked happily.

“What’s with that, scary.”

“She will be silent when you pet her head see? Though she is going to immediately talk again after that.”

“Wanwan! Tonight let’s treat ourselves with all night anime admiration & debate! I will make newcomer-san not fall sleep too desu!!”

—When he noticed, the three were already sleeping together in a huddle.

Kazuki roused Lotte, who was supposed to go to school, out of the bed. Lotte who was awakened from sleep, seeing Kazuki himself who was taking a break from school murmured “Unfair desu...” while leaving the room. And then Kazuki and Karin, the two of them had breakfast with eyes that were still half-asleep.

“Karin, I noticed an incredible thing.”

“What?” Karin said with her head kept nodding off *kokukoku* from lack of sleep.

“You stink.”

Karin who was a target of monitoring...hadn't entered the bath at all.

Now that he entered this topic, her attire too had been the Sword Division uniform all along.

“You didn't use Extra Sense and Psychokinesis together to remove the filth from your body and clothes? I have been together with you continuously but I have done so with my body at the same time with my magic training though.”

An advanced magic user could remove the filth from their body with the power of magic. Because of that, in the occasion when they took a bath they put more importance in smell rather than washing and used things like <fragrance soap>.

“...I have never done that kind of thing.”

But it seemed Karin had always washed her body normally with soap. There was no mistake that she had never used luxury items like fragrance soap. She didn't have the concept of washing her body with Psychokinesis.

“It can’t be helped huh, we are going to bathe.”

Even if he said that she stinks, it was not to the degree that would make him uncomfortable of being together with her.

Having said that, Kazuki was not a maniac so he wanted a girl to be hygienic.

When Kazuki pulled Karin’s hand, she lost her presence of mind.

“Wait a second! I cannot enter a bath alone right!?”

“You are in the middle of monitoring after all, so of course that is so but...as expected it’s embarrassing in the end.”

“Hm, hmph. I am a puppet. Such humanlike emotion doesn’t remain inside me.”

He totally didn’t understand her need to bluff in this area.

“Is that so? Then don’t mind it. I’m going to persevere too and exposed my nakedness to you. Let’s go to the bath.”

“Wait! Anyway wait a second for that!!”

“Got it, then let me give a call to Mio so that she could bring a change of swimsuit. It’s going to get hard to wash the body, but let’s enter the bath wearing swimsuits.”

...Gradually it felt like he was picking a pet.

“Well, it’s not like it’s not embarrassing just because we are wearing swimsuits isn’t it?”

Entering the changing room in turn, Kazuki and Karin changed into swimsuits alternately.

“U, useless feeling like shame does, not exist in me.”

Karin was wearing a swimming race type school swimsuit on her body with slenderness of a fist fighter. She hung her head down in embarrassment. It was a swimsuit that Mio brought and gave to him, but it was a little too big and baggy.

The bathtub of the Witch's Mansion had the space that could be enjoyed by all the dwellers of the mansion altogether if they went for it.

“You understand how to use the shower right? You enter the bathtub after cleaning your body first.”

“I know shower, but what is bathtub?”

“...So in Hayashi house you used nothing other than shower huh.”

“hotHAWTT! Hayashizaki Kazuki, this shower lets out hot water!?”

“You didn't get any hot water there...basically it was just all-out abuse there...”

Though if it was just setting the water temperature, it could be controlled however they like by just using elementary Pyrokinesis.

Kazuki and Karin stood back to back in the washing area and began washing their respective bodies.

They looked completely like a family. That kind of emotion welled up, Kazuki's chest became slightly warm.

“Then that thing called bathtub, what kind of item is it?”

Even if she asked what kind of item it is, it was just a mere bathtub. Kazuki explained with serious expression.

“Listen well, first you place the towel on your head. And then you submerge your body inside this hot water until your shoulder, relax your whole body, then you say ‘Fuih—, it's absolute heaven’. This is the custom so follow it absolutely.”

Having said that and submerging herself inside the bathtub, her expression relaxed to the point that she looked like she was going to drool, her limbs became very loose. ...The former assassin exposed her simpleton face in a school swimsuit appearance....

Kazuki too submerged himself together inside the spacious bathtub. According to what Kaguya-senpai said, this hot water was from some famous artificial hot spring. However Kazuki who was raised with a poor person’s mentality didn’t have the habit for long baths.

“Oi, are you not going to get out soon?”

“Wait!” Karin let flew an intense voice.

“Just wait a little bit...Fuih—, it’s absolute heaven.”

“You are that pleased huh?”

“What stupid thing are you saying, I am a puppet. This kind of thing is by no means...fuhii—, it’s absolute heaven.”

Karin who was warm and flaky couldn’t help her mouth from loosening up slovenly and leaking ‘fuhii—fuhii—’ breaths.

“You are a really simple idiot aren’t you?” Kazuki was amazed.

Part 4

And then the third night after Karin came into Kazuki’s room.

If Karin was going to try to kill him, it was supposed to be in the first night. Having that kind of thought, Kazuki went to sleep while feeling a peace of mind.

Inside the room with its lights turned off, there was a shadow that woke up while suppressing the creaking sound of the bed to the very minimum.

That shadow—Karin was slowly creeping up unnoticed to Kazuki's spread out futon.

The moonlight shining in from the gap of the curtain illuminated Kazuki's sleeping face. Karin looked down on that sleeping face for a while. ...It was just for ascertaining the depth of his sleep, there was no other intention.

After holding her hand in front of Kazuki's nose and making sure of the breathing of someone fast asleep, she crouched down near his pillow.

If she wanted to aim for his heart then she must circle the futon, but that made her hesitate. Karin decided to aim for Kazuki's nape of the neck and held her palm aloft. If it was with the power of Shintoukei, the bone of the neck could be easily broken apart.

Humans wouldn't die instantly from just having their neck snapped. The opponent was going to have his consciousness returned from the sleep and he was going to try to call for his comrade while his magic power prolonged his life. To prevent that event...after breaking the bone of the neck, Karin was going to twist the neck immediately and block the flow of blood to the brain. She constructed the flow of sequence inside her head.

[A certain one hit kill in this age of magic] —for the sake of achieving that, the required knowledge had been engraved inside Karin.

For the sake of this moment.

—'You are a puppet but this technique is the only thing you can be proud of', that was what Hayashi Shizuka said. Those words were everything for her.

Karin perceived the wavelength of Kazuki's defensive magic power with her palm. Defensive magic power that was the product of the subconscious kept protecting the whole body of the magician thinly even while in the middle of sleep.

Magic power kept flowing without pause at all. This flow was not a simple phenomena, it possessed warping *gunya gunya* and complex mysterious wavelength. It was a complexity that was as if expressing the chaos of a human's heart itself. There were no two humans existing that possessed the same wavelength of magic power.

Karin who had accumulated training perceived that wavelength of magic power. She crashed that wavelength with the exact opposite wavelength of magic power, achieving counterbalance for just an instant. This technique was without doubt the <Ki[7] of Yin and Yang>.

With the magic power counterbalanced, that instant he became defenseless she punched him with Shintoukei. It was difficult to succeed in the middle of real battle but...it was child's play when he slept.

Now that his magic power was read thoroughly, clashed with the exact opposite magic power, and then—that instant. Like a snake aiming for its prey, Kazuki's one arm raised like a snake head and grabbed Karin's wrist as if snapping at the prey's neck.

“!?” With her dominant's arm sealed in the nick of time with the strength like a thousand strong, Karin floated an expression of terror.

“You are awake!?”

“No, I was asleep without doubt. But the highest summit of an Iai swordsman is a [continuous battle preparation].”

Immediately clearing away his sleepiness with Mind UnityTrance, Kazuki opened his eyes in a snap.

He was having a peace at mind from looking at Karin's situation but—it was not to the degree that made him undo his <War Preparation Ki>.

“In the first place if you wake up Leme, things like surprise attack wouldn’t come true though.”

Furthermore Leme materialized with a pop beside Kazuki.

“...Well, I don’t have any plan to pamper you until that much though—”

Leaving only those words behind, Leme’s figure disappeared with a pop again.

“If you kill me and bring that achievement back...are you thinking something like that?”

While asking, Kazuki became aware of the depressed tone of his own voice. Kazuki was disappointed.

“...I don’t think of anything like that. I don’t know the place I can go back to with my achievement. Because I don’t even know where Shizuka is right now.”

“Then why?”

“If it keep like this then I will be changed. ...Shizuka said that the world is a scary place. I am more scared of living not following what Shizuka said, even more than dying. ...It’s supposed to be like that.”

Karin’s arm desperately struggled. However Kazuki was not going to let go of that arm.

Karin became scared of the feeling that she had never known until now.

“Shizuka was only trying to use you. ...The world without a doubt is a happier place.”

It was an obvious fact that should even be said as the significance of living. However Karin was scared even of that fact.

“I’m not wishing for anything like happiness! I’ll kill you...and I’ll get killed too!! It's fine already with that...!!”

“Don't abandon yourself!”

{But...with your current strength you cannot kill that boy though.}

In the middle of the arguing two people, a voice appeared—it was not a voice. Reverberating directly inside the head of Kazuki and Karin, it was a telepathic voice. It was a voice that he remembered hearing before. But, it couldn't possibly be...that voice was impossible.

{Wrong, it's possible you know? Karin, if you want to kill that fellow, it's fine to use my power.}

“This voice is, <Dakki>!”

Behind Karin whose hand was gripped by Kazuki, a dim avatar was floating. Karin's contracted Diva, Dakki...!

But even though Karin and Dakki's contact was supposed to be sealed by the Limiter...!

{Wrong, boy. Fufufu. The name of the current I is not Dakki. Know this. What is known as Diva is the state of things that is altered by the human hearts, that illusion.}

Altering the state of Diva—like how Baal became Beelzebub.

During the change of history, civilization, there existed Divas that possessed several faces.

The stigmata was shining on Karin's body. It changed into a totally different shine compared to when he fought her in the final!

{Right now, my name is, the fox of hundred faces golden fur nine tails <Tamamo no Mae>! Things like a Limiter that identified the stigmata of Dakki, is already useless!!}

The faint shadow that was floating behind Karin gradually linked into a clear contour of beautiful woman. Golden hair, golden tail, beautiful face accompanied with sharpness as it was. The clothes that wrapped her body transformed from China-style into motif of Japanese clothes.

This fellow...was she transforming from Diva of Chinese Mythology into Diva of Japanese Mythology!?

Kazuki leaped out from the futon, his hand grasping his beloved katana <Doufuu> that was waiting at the side.

{Come Karin, let's kill this boy together!}

“I can kill Hayashizaki Kazuki...I can, Hayashizaki Kazuki will...?”

{What's wrong Karin? Don't tell me...[I can't kill him anyway] you are already half giving up like that and yet you are still trying to kill him, that's not so right?}

Asked like that, Karin twitched as if in fright and her line of sight wandered around.

“I, I am...even if I use your Summoning Magic, I can't win against that guy at all...”

{That might be so huh. But—it's going to be different if you assimilate with me. Materialization, if you chant your magic with a speed that far surpasses even Contract Summoning, there is no reason that you can lose in a one-on-one fight. That's right...if you yield your everything to me, you can kill that boy in this place!}

“Yielding my body, to you...?”

{That's right. You planned to kill that guy and get killed anyway, right? But that...surely it's scary isn't it? Living too is scary, dying too is scary...then offer everything to me...!}

A voice so sweet that even made chill ran through, Tamamo no Mae whispered. {Inside my pitch black womb, you would have no need to fear anything anymore. That is without a doubt the most comfortable choice...}

“Stop!” Kazuki yelled. Throwing away oneself—that was something that must not be done the most!

“Karin! Don’t run from this world!! This world is not a scary place!! Because the meal is delicious, because anime is interesting, because you can go to bed after entering a warm bath...everything is something ordinary you can find anywhere!! There is no meaning at all in running away!!”

Karin whose gaze was sucked by Tamamo no Mae looked at Kazuki as if she had just woken up.

The eyes of Karin at that time were...what Mibu Akira expressed as [lonely], that kind of eyes.

That was why, Kazuki resolved himself to reach out his hand.

Just like the hand offered to me from Tou-san, from Kaguya-senpai.

“If you are not alone, there is nothing you need to fear!!”

“If I’m not alone...”

“I am right here!!”

{Don’t lend him your ear. Close your eyes. Shut yourself. Believe in me!}

“Believe in me! Running away is useless!!”

“I, I’m...” From both of Karin’s eyes, tears were spilling out in drove.

“...I don’t want to kill. Ac, actually, I don’t want to kill Kazuki...”

Karin fell into her knees at that spot with a slump.

Hanging her head like a withering flower, drops of tear *drip drip* were spilling out onto the flooring of the floor.

“...Karin.” Kazuki let go of Doufuu. Ignoring Tamamo no Mae, he hugged Karin.

Rather than regarding her as a woman, it felt like he was embracing a child.

“Scary...it’s scary. Hayashizaki Kazuki...living by myself is...”

Karin pressed her crying face into Kazuki’s chest, she was talking while her shoulders were heaving with sobs many times.

“Fu. Fuffuffu...”

Suddenly, Tamamo no Mae leak out a laughing voice. Kazuki reacted to the voice and looked back, then he glared at the avatar.

Towards Kazuki who was on guard whether she was planning to do anything else, Tamamo no Mae grinned...and smiled.

{Fufufu...o devil king of Solomon 72 Pillar, Lemegeton. Tamamo no Mae and that contractor, Katsura Karin is surrendering under your banner. It’s fine to add this one in the lowest seat of the 72 Pillar.}

“...Eh?”

{Hayashizaki Kazuki. Don’t you dare forget the proclamation that you made in the presence of I...a Diva. I’m entrusting Karin to you.}

Kazuki who was taken aback with surprise, slow by one beat, he finally comprehend the thinking of this Diva.

“Were you...pushing Karin’s back forward? You are planning to betray Chinese Mythology?”

Karin who was cornered until she was stuck between a rock and a hard place, she made Karin be true to her own feelings...?

{In the first place I don't belong under any Mythology. I went along with Joka, but it had been also established in the Mythology about how I betrayed Joka. Surely because of that Shizuka had arranged to use and discard Karin. But how dull it is if it ends like that, I too, and also Karin's life.}

Tamamo no Mae stared at Karin with an unexpected gentle smiling face. And then when she looked back on Kazuki again, her gaze had a different quality compared to when she was staring at Karin. Only her mouth was grinning... and it warped showing a terrifying smile.

{I won't let you off if you slighted my Karin.}

“Hayashizaki Kazuki...” Karin too stared at Kazuki as if clinging on him.

Katsura Karin—41

He had a feeling that somehow he had burdened himself with something terrific.

Chapter 3 – Tally of Votes

Part 1

Passing through the promised one week, when the end of days of his monitoring of Karin, or it could be possibly likened as accustoming a wild animal to eat food given by humans. Anyway, when the end of those days came, Kazuki returned to his usual normal days once more.

And then in this school day that he had missed for quite long—it was also the same day for the voting of the Chief Student Council President after the election battle.

“Well then, after the distribution of the blank voting paper, write the name of the candidate that you support.”

After Liz Liza-sensei said so, she distributed the voting paper to the students in the classroom.

The paper also reached to Kazuki who was sitting in his missed chair that he hadn’t sat on for a week.

From his surroundings, he began to hear the rhythmical sounds of pen tips dancing around on the voting papers.

...Should I vote for myself? In front of the voting paper, Kazuki felt lost.

But after he became a candidate, it might be irresponsible if he couldn’t puff out his chest and claim that [I am without a doubt fitting as the Chief Student Council President]. Finally Kazuki wrote down his own name with what-do-I-care attitude.

“...In the period while Kazuki took a break, the academy had gone through a serious situation you know?”

“Serious situation?” Kazuki replied without turning his head.

“Because of the Takasugi brothers, they conducted an extensive election campaign...”

After the battle election tournament ended, it wasn't like the candidates couldn't do any appeal anymore. Public address, pamphlet distribution...in this one week there was many things that could be done.

“Every time it was break time, the Takasugi brothers kept repeating speeches with unpleasant contents. Those days were tedious periods.”

“Ah, I can imagine it. ...Though I left my election campaign to Mio and the others, did it go well I wonder?”

Kazuki entrusted the election campaign to his teammates Mio and Kohaku as his representatives.

The advocacy that Kazuki wanted to convey—[The Magic Division and the Sword Division's equality and friendship]

[Research of tactics unbounded by Heaven and Earth Formation and the class to incorporate it]

[Flexibility of the treatment and application toward illegal summoning of Diva outside the Solomon 72 Pillar]

[Commencement of Sacred Treasure's experimental use continuously and, tactic research to make use of it] —those matters.

Sure enough, could the students agree with those advocacies? Including the matter of how he didn't show his face at all in front of the students in this one week, there was no doubt that it was disadvantageous for Kazuki.

“It’s fine. Amasaki-san did it properly. She also made a poster.”

Koyuki handed him some kind of paper from behind.

When he opened the folded up poster, there was a printing of Kazuki’s illustration inside that was drawn in an awfully shoujo manga[2] chick pattern. Painting of anime tone. Eyes that were twinkling brightly. Nose and jaw that tapered angularly. Tall and thin body proportion that looked like a walking stick...

Beside the illustration, it was accompanied with a speech balloon that said [Follow me!]. The background was the universe for some reason.

“...It became like this while I was resting? I...”

Beside Kazuki who was trembling all over, the girls who were in the neighboring seats were chuckling. “We are going to follow you until the end of the space you know, Chief Student Council President!”

The girls in the other neighboring seat were also looking this way. “Even more than Hayashizaki-kun’s advocacy, it was an election campaign that conveyed more of the fact that Amasaki-san likes Hayashizaki-kun so very much right?”

“Well, it got you favorable reputation.” Koyuki said. “It has more than just formality, there is also intimacy in it.”

Intimacy.... He had quite a feeling that to have the intimacy in it was the most important thing compared to anything else.

Noticing this side’s conversation, Mio who sat in the front row of the classroom looked back and waved her hand.

“Kazuki! That poster, I was the one that drew it you know! How is it!?”

“Shut your mouth you trashes! Don’t talk of unrelated matter!! Don’t do any discussion too!!”

Having Liz Liza-sensei's scolding resound, Mio shrunk her shoulder in fluster and fixed her gaze back to the front.

Before long the voting paper was folded until the content couldn't be seen and it was collected.

And then in the afternoon of that day, the student general meeting was conducted. Finally the voting result would be announced.

In the seats of the auditorium, all the students except the third years lined up. The third years of the Knight Academy were going through practical training in the form of rotation to the Knight Order of the whole country. Their appearance also couldn't be seen in this day. It became that their vote didn't get counted in the total tally.

The sixteen candidates including Kazuki were sitting in a row on top of the stage that overlooked the students.

Headmaster Amasaki and Board Chairman Takasugi appeared on the center of the stage in turn. They each made the greeting for their own inauguration.

And then it became the programme of the voting's result announcement.

The auditorium returned to deadly silence. However, the presenter Headmaster Amasaki who was standing in front of the mike didn't open his mouth.

Before long Liz Liza-sensei came running from the wing of the stage. She informed the lateness of vote's tally.

The students were noisy. For some reason it seemed that the announcement of the voting result would still take some time.

Kazuki who was on top of the stage was also feeling his own nervousness rise.

Nervousness—Kazuki was someone that was recommended by Headmaster Amasaki rather than stepping forward by his own will. Kazuki himself naturally also had a feeling like [I who just enrolled this academy for around two months am...].

But if there were people saying to him that he was fitting to become the Chief Student Council, a feeling that he wanted to answer those expectations also became stronger day by day when he went through the battle election.

Kazuki took a glance at the rivalscandidates that were sitting in a row beside him.

He wouldn't mind if he lost to Kaguya-senpai or Hikaru-senpai.

But the other thirteen candidates were mixed with enemies that he had doubt of.

The first was of course, Takasugi Shūsui who he didn't want to get elected.

And then those others seniors from the Sword Division—Mino Tamiya, Shiraha Sekairi, Oguma Tokaku, and Mikogami Daizen too were also dangerous characters that had a high possibility of being intimate with the new Board Chairman Takasugi.

It seemed that they were doing [Anti Magic Division] speech in the period of election campaign.

The candidates from his own Magic Division, Miyamoto Reina, Kiritani Natsuo, Yumeno Shiori, and Tsukimiya Shion, these four people were all right people. Those girls were included in the group that assaulted him in the middle of the date with Hikaru-senpai.

In short they were candidates that were brainwashed by Hayashi Shizuka. They were already released from that brainwashing.

The next was the group of delinquent students from the Magic Division. ...

They were not even brainwashed, having said that it were unclear what they even wanted to do if they got elected as student council president. Probably they didn't even have any purpose when becoming a candidate, a doubtful group of students.

That Mibu Akira was [wanting to show her good side in the battle election], but the other candidates, Iwatami Reiko, Akihita Hibari, and Karino Mika were not limited to that kind of reason. They might be pawn candidates that were encouraged or bribed by Board Chairman Takasugi.

Saying it broadly, Hayashizaki Kazuki – Otonashi Kaguya – Hoshikaze Hikaru – Miyamoto Reina - Kiritani Natsuo - Yumeno Shiori - Tsukimiya Shion - Mibu Akira, these eight people were characters that were not related with Board Chairman Takasugi's scheme for certain.

And then the remaining eight people, some were included in the grey zone, but they were Kazuki's [political opponent] so to speak.

If he thought of it properly, Kazuki was the champion of the tournament, the second place was Mibu-senpai, third place and fourth place were Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai, so he had no need to worry. However this battle election was shadowed by suspicious happenings from the start till the end. Owing to that, even now Kazuki couldn't wipe his uneasiness yet.

...Was there still some kind of plot remaining that would make a complete reversal of this situation....

"The tally is over!" A voice colored with exhaustion could be heard, Liz Liza-sensei came running from the wing of the stage. Headmaster Amasaki received the paper of the tally's result and informed "Then I will conduct the announcement". The inside of the auditorium returned to silence. Kazuki too felt dryness inside his mouth, he gulped his saliva audibly.

"I will only announce the five top names in the number of votes obtained."

What was important was only the first place. Even if the lower rank's vote tally were announced it was nothing more than a public humiliation.

“Fifth place, Takasugi Shūsui. Number of votes obtained, 23 votes.

Fourth place, Yumeno Shiori. Number of votes obtained, 25 votes.

Third place, Hoshikaze Hikaru. Number of votes obtained, 76 votes.

Second place, Otonashi Kaguya. Number of votes obtained, 112 votes.

First place—Hayashizaki Kazuki. Number of votes obtained, 263 votes.

That's all, possessing the majority of the votes, Hayashizaki Kazuki is elected as the Chief Student Council President.”

After a moment of silence, the auditorium was enveloped with loud cheers. Even on top of the stage...Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai and Yumeno-san, the other candidates gave a round of applause to Kazuki.

Kazuki was being dazed and listened to the loud cheers and applause for a while. After that the self-awareness of the fact that he was being elected came late. He was being elected properly without any incident...

...Then the matter this time, could he say that he had finally reached a checkpoint where he could pause with this? Everything was over...?

“Chief Student Council President, the general policy speech.”

He was urged by Headmaster Amasaki. Kazuki brazenly walked to the center of the stage and stood in front of the mike.

He faced about the applause that reverberated through the auditorium. Already, he couldn't act overly humble or servile anymore.

There were people that thought of him. Answering that and making great effort, gave birth to bonds—

Right now, he was standing right here.

“I receive this appointment to become the Chief Student Council President because of the support from everyone.”

Even in the case that they were not elected, all the candidates were told to think of the content of their speech beforehand. Kazuki read out loud the script inside the memory of his head.

“I have enrolled in this academy for less than two months, honestly there are still many things that I don’t have any idea about. I would likely going to rely on many things to both the student council president of the Magic Division and the Sword Division. Even so I intend to understand the things that I should do by myself and the things that I want to do.

The fifteen years where magic was born in this world, along with the cooperation of Solomon 72 Pillar, this academy was established. The time has come where we should stop being in the age where we are just wielding about this new principle of the world without any idea of what we are doing. Magica Stigma has to stop being haughty of their own power. The swordsmen has to have pride of their own training. Both sides joining hands together. The strong power to cut through this [new era of sword and magic] has to be grasped within the two hands joining together.

I think it is the professional duties of this Knight Academy’s Chief Student Council President to be the keystone of that turning point.

To cause a change that had never been seen until now by our own hand is going to be accompanied with the feeling of walking inside the darkness groping about blindly. However even inside the darkness, as long as you advance without letting go of the hands of your comrades, you should be able to discover the light without fail. The Chief Student Council President as the existence that connects the Magic Division and the Sword Division, the one who stands as the vanguard inside this darkness, right here I will declare my resolve to face this challenge.”

Even while choosing decorated words, Kazuki intended to insert his own will inside those speeches.

“...For the last, to those people that reached out their warm hands, accepted, and supported this me that is of different nature when seen in various surface as far as this academy is concerned, once again I express my gratitude. With all my heart, thank you very much.”

With a lowering of his head with a bob, the applause that was stopped in the middle of the speech returned with the vigor of heavy thunder.

{Leme is going to get troubled if you don't live up even more to Leme's expectation okay? Shine, o future Harem King!}

Inside Kazuki's head, Leme's encouraging voice also rang out.

Part 2

When the student general assembly was over and it became after school, Kazuki hurriedly sprinted back to the Witch's Mansion. He went to look for Karin's situation for the moment.

“So the school is over, Hayashizaki Kazuki. You are slow. It's boring playing games alone, so it'd be fine to compete against you or Charlotte.”

—Karin who swore to enter Kazuki's circle of comrades along with Tamamo no Mae had become a NEET[\[3\]](#) that got addicted to anime and game in this span of a few days.

“Also my stomach is hungry, so it'd be fine to eat your homemade snack.”

In this one week period of monitoring, this girl had experienced depending on Kazuki's life support entirely.

Kazuki seized that kind of Karin's scruff of the neck.

“From now on Karin will be going to school too.”

“Wha, what? Is it to the Magic Division?”

Karin’s monitoring period was already over. He also had already obtained the permission from Headmaster Amasaki about this matter.

If that had been decided then the girl must be returned to school without delay. If she kept living like this he had the feeling that she would become a NEET that was too late to be saved. The place she would be going was not the detention facility but to the place where Kazuki’s eyes could reach—the Magic Division.

Kazuki had become the Chief Student Council President, so he was able to advance the procedure for changing course speedily.

“We have to give you your own room in the Witch’s Mansion too. There are several empty rooms here.”

“Wha!? You bastard-! You are planning to cancel my monitoring!?”

Being informed of the sudden separation, Karin yelled in a shocked condition.

“Are you lonely?”

“Hmph, I’m not lonely at all.”

“I’m going to be lonely you know?”

“Fuh, what an effeminate guy. Well, if you bastard say so it’s fine even if I stay together with you.”

“But get out. Get out right now. Come on get out.”

“Wait a second! I might be coming to assassinate you again you know, this me!?”

“You are not going to do that already, I believe in you.”

“No way—! I ‘m staying here—! Snackk—kk!!” Like that, the quack assassin kicked and struggled.

While Kazuki dragged out Karin's scruff of the neck, he hurriedly headed to <Student Council Room>.

Student Council Room—to the end the Witch's Mansion was a place for living, so there existed a separate location purely for working in the main school building of the Magic Division.

For Kazuki who had never been helping except as the servant in the Witch's Mansion, this was his first time entering the student council room.

“Once again congratulations, Otouto-kun!”

The instant the door opened, the smiling face of Kaguya-senpai come flying right in front of his eyes. It seemed she had been in waiting in front of the door, senpai's forehead was real close it almost touched Kazuki's jaw.

“Fufufu-, and also welcome to the student council room of the Magic Division! Chief Student Council President-dono!!”

Kaguya-senpai performed a bow, then she invited Kazuki to enter the room.

The student council room differed from the elegant atmosphere of the Witch's Mansion. It had a business-like uproarious space.

...So this is the place where Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai does their student council work.

What stole his eye the foremost was the desk that held the four personal computers in the middle of the room. Among those it looked like two were unused. It was transformed into a state where paperwork, coffee maker, and snacks were piled on it.

There was also a multi-functioned machine that was equipped with printer and copy function, but papers that were printed wrongly were left alone slovenly as it were on the ejection tray.

Large numbers of paperwork files and URD that preserved electronic information was stored in the bookcase, but those that didn't have space left in the bookcase were piled up into a mountain on the floor. The decorative plant that was put beside it was losing its vitality.

...It was a room that made him pictured Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai doing their job frantically. Kazuki felt the itch to first start from cleaning up the room and then tidying and putting everything in order.

Inside this cramped space, his usual comrades were lining up in full force.

“That was very cool! If I was the one that got elected I wouldn't be able to say such things,ahaha.”

“Nii-sama! Kanae is filled with emotions both as big sister and as little sister in this big moment of Nii-sama!!”

“So Karin-oneesan is coming too desu-!” Lotte hugged Karin that was led here by Kazuki.

“Wha, what, I'm not playing around now!” Like that, Karin gave out a shy reaction.

“...I don't think it's good for the Chief Student Council President to perform his duties in the Magic Division's student council room. It feels like he is leaning too much to the Magic Division like this.”

Kaguya-senpai murmured like she was worrying about the fellow of the Sword Division like Kanae or Kohaku.

“It doesn't really matter, does it? Nii-sama is a student of the Magic Division. It'd be troublesome if it's not in the Magic Division student council room and Nii-sama moves away. If from now on there is a matter that the student of the Sword Division has to bring to the Chief Student Council President, at that time it'll be fine to use the student council room of the Sword Division.”

Kanae's expression became bitter while talking.

“...Or perhaps I should say, in the first place the school building of the Sword Division is still a wreck.”

The scar of destruction that was left behind in the Sword Division by the Quad Core Magica that Naiarlatotepe directed couldn't be returned to its former state in just two weeks even with the use of the latest construction technique that used alchemy freely. Currently it was in the middle of construction with high praise.

Fortunately the student dormitory was safe so the students could continue their life in dormitory, but the classes were conducted in a temporary prefab school building. It seemed they were in a situation that prioritized practical skill class that was performed outside as much as possible.

“Now that you mentioned it, in the end what happened with the organization of the Sword Division's student council?”

“...Because Kohaku resigned as the student council president, in the end the voting for the election of the Sword Division's officers was also performed today. Thereupon I became the student council president and Kohaku was the vice student council president...”

Kanae answered Kazuki's question with her shoulders dropping very low in dejection. In contrast Kohaku's cheek was blushing and she cheerily said things like “I'm happy that I can work with Kana-nyan-senpai”.

“If I am supported from both sides by Kaguya-senpai and Kanae, then I can rest easy.”

“Now that we are talking, what is the job of Kazuki as the Chief Student Council President anyway?”

Mio spoke of the essential question.

“The Chief Student Council President doesn’t need to takeover the work that I and Kana-chan has done until now, so what Otouto-kun going to do is [the new work that have never been done until now] or something. ...Things like a totally new project design for connecting the Magic Division and the Sword Division and its implementation I wonder.”

“Hee, project! Then, how about combined Magic Division and Sword Division excursion!?”

Mio made her proposal with excited expression.

“At the very least we should do a combined athletic festival or culture festival together! If that happened I could enjoy school event together with Nii-sama!”

Kanae too talked in agreement with Mio’s opinion. Until now the Magic Division and the Sword Division were managed as if the two were separate schools. Because of that their school events were all done separately.

“We should talk about everyday classes before an event like that you know. To heighten the cooperation between swordsman and Magika Stigma even more, we should adopt a combined tactic research class. Growing out of the Heaven and Earth Formation is also one of Kazuki’s public promise after all.”

Hikaru-senpai who wore serious expression put out a proposal fitting for a senior.

“Sacred Treasures treatment too, this one will be troubled too if there is no class work for that.”

Kohaku too interjected with earnest voice. Upping the battle power of swordsman with the application of Sacred Treasure was her dearest wish.

“The things the Magic Division can do, the things the Sword Division can do...so they could mutually understand each other respectively, how about publishing a school newspaper?”

Koyuki too expressed her opinion properly. Because she said newspaper, indeed it sounds fun.

“The right to sanction things like budget integration goes to Otouto-kun after all. The last responsibility is in Otouto-kun okay?”

Kaguya-senpai talked with an expression that disallowed any pampering. A lot of opinion came out without even any time to take a memo.

“This kind of really new thing, so it’s my job to start a committee or something and then advancing it steadily. ...The first priority might be to create a school newspaper for the point of contact between us and the students to let them know of our activity and also for us to take in their opinion.”

...Suddenly Kazuki looked around everyone’s face, he noticed the lack of someone from the usual members here.

There was no appearance of Kazuha-senpai. Senpai was not someone related to the student council of the Magic Division and the Sword Division, so she didn’t have any duty to come to this place, but....

“Kohaku, what is going on with Kazuha-senpai...?”

Kazuki quietly walked near Kohaku’s spot and whispered into her ear.

“This one invited her to come together here, but her expression darkened for some reason and she refused.”

Kohaku’s expression clouded as she answered. Kazuki felt his chest stirred unpleasantly. He hadn’t had a conversation with Kazuha-senpai after he forcibly kissed her.

“If you have business with Kazuha-senpai, this one think she is in the [altar of the sword god] —the usual abandoned clubroom.”

In the middle of the ringing sounds of the construction work for the rebuilding, Kazuki traversed the ground of the Sword Division that was painful to look at with the destruction that was still here and there. He walked to the abandoned clubroom where he once encountered Kazuha-senpai. Ascending the outer stairs of the clubroom building with *kan kan* clanging noise, he arrived in front of the clubroom located in the second floor. Kazuki knocked the door while feeling nervous.

“The pingpong club is abolished so we are not taking new application of club member anymore—” Kazuha-senpai’s voice came back like that.

“...I am Hayashizaki though.”

“EAA!? Hayashizaki!?”

“There is something I must talk with senpai.”

Slowly opening the door, Kazuha-senpai showed out her face.

In any case Kazuki let out a breath in relief that senpai showed her face to him.

However Kazuha-senpai that was facing him directly had her face boiled red in the blink of eye.

“...!” Kazuha-senpai caught her breath and averted her eyes from Kazuki in a snap. Then with half tackling she wrenched open the gap between Kazuki and the door *dokan* and slipped through.

“Senpai!?” Kazuki was panicked and pursued her back. There was a difference in their running ability. Kazuki caught up with her immediately around the area where Kanae and Kohaku once fought.

“Senpai, please don’t run and talk to me!” Kazuki caught Kazuha-senpai’s hand while gasping.

To chase a fleeing girl and catch her elbow forcibly...feelings of guilt welled up inside him overbearingly, but if he couldn’t talk with Kazuha-senpai in this place he had a gut feeling that he would completely lose something that couldn’t be recovered.

Without looking Kazuki’s way, Kazuha-senpai whose elbow was restrained opened her mouth.

“You...I hear the more you get closer with a girl the stronger you become.”
Kazuki’s mind froze all of a sudden.

“I want to talk about that after this but...where did you hear it from?”

“After that, Otonashi Kaguya taught me. About what you did to me suddenly, the kiss too...”

It seemed Kaguya-senpai saw the figure of Kazuki wielding Futsunushi no Kami and guessed everything.

Kazuha-senpai had already known, about how he stole her first kiss looking for power.

“...Senpai, but I” The helpless Kazuki opened his mouth to make excuse.

“That Karin too, did you help her planning to [conquer] that girl? Did you kiss me for that purpose? Helping girls for the sake of becoming closer to them...you kissed other girls for that purpose...you did that kind of thing repeatedly for that!?”

“That’s not true! I don’t have that kind of inten...!”

“...I know. Sorry, I, said something unreasonable.... I got it already, the one who said to help Karin is also me, certainly there was no other way at all before. Moreover I, that time you kissed me.....I don't particularly hate it."

"Kazuha-senpai...?"

"But I don't like that kind of me! I don't want to understand and accept you!"

Kazuha-senpai was shaking her head in exaggerated motion and raised an exasperated voice.

"Kazuha-senpai, forgive me. To forcibly do that kind of thing..."

"It's fine if you don't apologize! You didn't do anything bad! But I cannot not say this complaint!! Because...a girl's first kiss is really important you know!! Even me, even me even though I had imagined that my kiss would get stolen in a more romantic situation!"

Senpai's voice, shoulders, were shaking. Even with her back turned at him, he knew that she was crying.

"Despite so...despite so, with a guy like you, that is friendly with various girls, to get kissed like this...!!"

"I'm sorry, senpai. But, I didn't steal senpai's kiss with a simple feeling. But certainly it was also not a pure feeling. But...even in the case that I have to do over that moment one more time, I'll do the same thing."

"Do you think I can consent just like that—!! Saying but but but, don't keep repeating contradictory things—!!"

Kazuha-senpai yelled out in order to spit out the feeling that she didn't have an outlet to express.

"I, had changed my feelings from how I hated you. ...I had fun fighting together with you. I had a feeling I can become strong without limit. ...But, right now I don't want to see your face already."

The words that came from senpai's back were—the words of parting.

And then senpai tried to run away once more. Kazuki panicked and caught her arm once more.

“Senpai, please wait!”

“Do, don't touch me, let go!”

“I, I don't want to break off my relationship like this with senpai. Can't we somehow return to how we were before?”

“...Doing thing like kissing already, of course there is no way we can go back to before...!”

To make a kiss they had done once already as if into nothing, that was something impossible to do.

If he thought of the weight of that act...that was really obvious.

“Senpai said to me to not apologize. But, because of that I hate to part with senpai quarreling like this. Please let me atone in some way. Whatever it is I'll do it, this kind of thing is unpleasant.”

Finally Kazuha-senpai turned to look at him. Senpai's face from her nose to her cheek, even further until her ear had become bright red. Her glaring eyes that was shining with tears looked completely like a flipped blade of a knife.

“.....Then, take responsibility.” Kazuha-senpai said while sniffing *gusu* from her nose.

“In what way could I take responsibility?”

“.....Kiss me over again, this time in a romantic situation that could make me content.”

“Eh?” ...Romantic, she said?

“In this one month! If in this one month you cannot kiss me in a romantic situation that I can approve, on top of that if you do it unnaturally, then it's permanent break-off!!”

“Please wait a second senpai! Aren’t you just saying some earth-shattering things because you got carried away with the momentum!?”

“Idiot! Womanizer!! If you are just going to back away...then why did you restrain me like this! As I thought someone like you, is someone I hate the most!!”

She shook off Kazuki’s hand that unintentionally slackened. Then as if to hide her bright red face, Kazuha-senpai turned her back and dashed away in full speed. This time unable to chase after her, Kazuki recovered from his daze. The inside of his head was dizzy. An unthinkable difficult problem came flying that he never even imagined.

Romantic she said...what is the meaning of romantic?

“...E, even though I thought that she hated me, I really have no idea of what happened.”

Tsukahara Kazuha—62. By reflex the display of the positivity level floated in front of his eyes.

“Puh, kukuku...this is, I happened to witness an unexpected scene of carnage just now.”

Suddenly, a voice came from the shadow of the tree beside him. ...Appearing in unexpected places and unexpected moments, a voice he remembered hearing before...

“Kaya!?”

“Long time no see huh. As always Onii-chan, looks like you are getting along well with girls, making me laugh unintentionally that one.”

A silver haired girl dressing her body in punk fashion of T-shirt and damaged jeans.

The companion that always caused a foreboding premonition inside Kazuki's chest was here.

“We didn't meet recently, so I come to give my blessing after Onii-chan became the boss of this academy. And then when I sneak around, I happened to meet this kind of farce. Kukuku...”

Kaya laughed arrogantly. But what she saw was not something like a farce for the person concerned. Also what is called the Chief Student Council President was something that tied everyone together, it was nothing like a boss.

He noticed a girl accompanying Kaya beside her.

A black figure like a shadow—the moment their eyes met, Kazuki felt indescribable chill.

She was a girl in the age around middle schooler with black hair and black skin. In order to match with Kaya's punk fashion, she was wearing black no-sleeve parka with hood that was worn low over her eyes and a miniskirt tied with a belt decorated with studs. The legs that extended from there were also long, slender and well proportioned black legs.

It should be their first time meeting each other. Despite so he felt a chill that was carved into his heart from somewhere....

“I also thought of introducing this child. Come on, take off your hood when you are introducing yourself.”

Kaya reached out her hand from the side and removed the parka's hood from covering the girl.

A long ear leaped out with a ‘pyon’ along with jet black hair.

“No-!” With that she shook her head and the girl fixed back the hood to cover her head again.

The ears just now was an elf...no, but this color of hair and skin was....

“The name of this kid is, Naiarlako[4] you know.”

Kaya called that name with good mood as if she was singing. The girl was “That’s not true!” and raised an angry voice.

“I, I’m not something like Naiarla or whatever! I am Maya. That’s the name that Kaya named me, so call me properly with that...!”

“Fufufu, sorry okay, Naiarlako♪”

Kaya called her like that again without correcting herself, she stroked Maya’s head over the hood and made fun of her.

The black girl was “Uu—” and she looked down with teary eyes.

...Naiarlako. Kazuki’s whole body got goosebumps. It couldn’t be, no, what was going on?

“Fufufuu♪ This child is also an elf. No, I wonder if she should be called a dark elf. The debut in this country, Dark Elf! Well, if the secret of the trick is disclosed, it’s just because [a certain black thing] was inserted into the mind of the girl that her skin and hair became black though. This kind of phenomenon, does Onii-chan happen to know about it?”

He knew. The time when a certain Diva took over the flesh body of Koyuki temporarily—Koyuki’s body transformed into black like this. The name of that Diva was...!

“That’s right, inside the mind of this child, a <fragment of Naiarlatoteph> is residing.”

...Naiarlatoteph was supposed to be defeated already! Without even a fragment left in this world!

“A nobody but also a somebody, <The Faceless God> Naiarlatoteph can split his mind in great numbers. What a plainly awesome ability, his power of existence is not something half baked. As his insurance when push comes to shove, Naiarlatoteph entrusted a piece of his smallest ego that he divided to me you know?”

Kazuki was dumbfounded from that shocking revelation. He was not destroyed...that evil god was....

“Why are you with Naiarlatoteph...?”

“At first I...Loki noticed that the headmaster of this academy was Naiarlatoteph. That was why we made a contact asking if he could become our comrade. That negotiation failed, but in exchange the guy entrusted his fragment of existence to me. In exchange for sheltering his fragment, in the time of ruin of Naiarlatoteph’s main body it’d be fine to add this mini Naiarlatoteph as our comrade...that was what the guy said, he exchanged promise with us.”

Kaya pulled off Maya’s hood once more and exposed the elf ear.

“Then joyously Naiarlatoteph’s main body died, so I picked one of the elfexperimental body Naiarlatoteph stocked, and there I planted the fragment of Naiarlatoteph. That’s why this child is Naiarlako-san.”

“I’m Maya I said! ...I am, going to master this power’s factor...!”

But Maya’s expression immediately distorted in pain and she held her own head.

“Inside this child, Naiarlatoteph is trying to recover his power slowly. In reverse this child is trying to not lose against that. While his power is weak she is attempting to tame Naiarlatoteph and make him into a mere power supply. What a super interesting sample right, this child. If she could break Naiarlatoteph thoroughly while he is weak, this child might be able to control him.”

“I am not Naiarla-whatever! I’m Maya!”

While holding her head, Maya raised a scream that was the proof of her existence.

“For that reason, this is my comrade Naiarlako-san.”

“...Why are you trying to revive that kind of Diva? That worst Diva!!”

“Naiarlatoteph was going through weakening and was a worthless Diva, but a Diva that specialized in mental pollution until that degree is valuable so I want to add him into my comrade by all means. Something like [Psycho Noise] that could obstruct a large number of Magika Stigma altogether from chanting without a doubt will be useful in a fight against humans after all.”

Psycho Noise—producing sound waves that obstructed spell chanting and making Magika Stigmas powerless.

The one who could break through the effect and continued to chant at that time was only Kaguya-senpai.

“Moreover Onii-chan said things like the worst Diva but...I wonder if Naiarlatoteph is really that bad? Isn’t that nothing more than Onii-chan’s own opinion? That guy is played around by the logic of the world and got weakened. He was desperately trying what he could do in the middle of unblessed environment with all his power. That’s all there is to it. Using all he could for the sake of his existence...there is nothing bad with that right?”

Like how humans domesticated animals and pushed them into cramped cages in order to procure the stability of their food...could that be said to be righteous, or was it something that should be called evil? If the angle of the ethics was changed it would go through an upheaval.

“Rather aren’t the ones who dragged Onii-chan’s feet behind are the incompetent government of this country and the incompetent adults of this academy!?” Kaya yelled as if spitting out.

“It was that Headmaster Otonashi that used Naiarlatoteph that was just desperate to live for his own interest! Onii-chan...how long are you going to be loyal for the sake of all these low-life?”

“I am...being loyal to them?”

“Even Onii-chan is just being used you know? Isn’t it absurd? Using that power not just for your sake, but for the sake of those fools!”

“...I don’t think like that. I use my own power by my own will. ...In short what is it Kaya wants to say?”

“Just become my comrade. Cast away those foolish adults behind.”

Then Kaya’s mouth warped and she talked to give a speech.

“People are creating groups guided by the gods <Order>, the weak human’s chances of survival increase with the creation of a group!”

Order—there were two types of element that were Order and Chaos that each Diva belonged to, Kaya once said.

The ones who aimed for Lotte’s life were the gods of Order of the Norse Mythology that pushed severe commandment to the people.

“However as the group become organization of Order, degeneration will appear without fail. When a hierarchical relation is born, the humans that had experienced the top position will think only about his self-protection and neglect the benefit for the whole body. A weak ideal will only get defiled and smeared all over by the poop of those sleazebags!”

The degeneration of the human that stood at the top—certainly there were people like that in the reality that Kazuki faced in his way until now.

“Then what do you think humans should do?”

“That’s why, it’s <Chaos>. The Chaos that humankind once abandoned, now is the time that it should be revived. Obtaining the power called magic, humans are not weak anymore. The current us should realize that we have no need of things like group anymore. Things like rule is unneeded. Live doing things that you want to do as you please. Crush the degenerated hierarchical relationship to the dust, seek for happiness as you please inside the Chaotic world! Before long Onii-chan too is going to break away from the stupid chain binding you. Then let’s come together with me, that’s what I’m saying!”

“Isn’t that just a mere survival of the fittest? What difference is there between your Chaos and this degenerated hierarchical relationship?” He understood instinctively that their opinions were mutually exclusive with each other. He returned a question in order to oppose her.

“A world where a human who is not even strong without any worth to speak of greedily monopolized the ruling class, and a world where a human with worth always get recognized at the top position, both of them are totally different things.”

“But with that way of doing things in the end, oppressed weak people will always appear!”

“Don’t you know, the humankind would abandon the word called equality before they even realized.”

Kaya talked with a cruel expression. The girl’s logic was—whatever happened as long as myself is fine then it doesn’t matter, it was that kind of logic. Her own self was strong, that was why she could be so haughty....

“Then I cannot be together with you.”

The smiling Kaya twitched her eyebrow and trembled. “...Recently Onii-chan is getting along well with someone like Beatrix. I wonder if Onii-chan even got indoctrinated by that girl?”

“That kind of girl had nothing to do with this. I don’t have any intention to make friends or anything with her.”

“Then, why is Onii-chan sticking to the side of Order.”

“It’s not the case that I went along with the side of Order or whatever. Right now I...am together with my important companions. I am living together with everyone in a small place called the Witch’s Mansion...occasionally there are also times when our thinking comes to a head with each other. Even so we considered each other’s feelings...”

Particularly Lotte.

“making rules...”

Kaguya-senpai despite appearances skillfully restricted the conduct of everyone nonchalantly and brought them together.

“with compromise for each other...”

Even though Mio was making Hikaru-senpai to look more like a girl, Hikaru-senpai was cooperating.

“With that everyone can obtain happiness. The rule that is created from thinking of each other, tying bonds and bringing them together, I am in no way rejecting Order. That is the civilization and society itself.”

“It’s going to rot someday. The last stop of the bonds between people is degeneration.”

“I don’t think I will become happy doing only the things that I want to do. No matter how strong a human I become, I cannot feel happy alone. If I live doing whatever I please, I will join hands together with someone only at that moment where our interest match...ultimately that will keep me in solitude.”

“It’s okay for strong humans to be in solitude you know? I like Onii-chan, but it’s not a reason to always want to be together forever. Surely there will be things thought to be troublesome, moments where we mutually despaired. If we are only doing the things that we both want to do, then we can only see the good side of the other party.”

“If it’s with someone that is truly precious for you, you can actually feel happy with human relationship that is troublesome or so. Just like how there is worth in doing team battle compared to fighting solo even though it’s more complicated. Just because you said humans had become stronger compared to the past by using magic, there is no need to go as far as throwing away being together with other people. Magic is for the sake of understanding other people, alchemy makes the world plentiful, it’s fine to use strong power for the sake of other people.”

“What Onii-chan saying is just a mere pipe dream. Things like using strong power for other people’s sake is impossible. What is called power is more fun to be used for trampling other people underfoot compared to using it for other reason just so you know!”

In this world humans who enjoyed trampling weak humans even without any reason at all, certainly existed.

However that kind of people, why in the world they became human with that kind of character....

“Even so I believe in people.”

“For me, I don’t believe the likes of people.”

Kazuki and Kaya glared at each other.

“...Why are me and Onii-chan who originated from the same orphanage can have this much difference in thinking?”

Because at that time when you were trembling from loneliness, there was no one that reached out his hand for you....

Kaya turned her back to Kazuki abruptly.

“Got it. I’m going to make Onii-chan regret it. If I cannot obtain Onii-chan then I don’t need you. I’ll trample Onii-chan down and make you cry. I who is stronger than Onii-chan will teach you despair. Because I am rapidly collecting strong allies even other than Naiarlako. I still have an even more great surprise you know? With Onii-chan’s crushed and pitiful figure that is exposed because of my power, everyone around you will leave. At that time Onii-chan will know of degeneration...”

“...Kaya...don’t you feel any loneliness?”

Kazuki asked that back. Kaya turned back and directed at him eyes without any doubt in it.

“Since I got my hands on Loki’s strong power, I never felt any loneliness, not even once.”

That became the conclusion of everything and the decisive failure of the two.

Chapter 4 – Love Simulation

Part 1

“The Magic Division first year class one, Yumeno Shiori.”

A docile girl with her hair cut and evened up shortly said that and lowered her head down with a bob.

“Despite being a first year, you want to become the candidate as the committee chairman?” Kaguya-senpai said in surprise.

Yumeno-san smiled bashfully. “I...in my middle school I used to be in literature club, I was also a committee member of the library so I have experience in creating library newspaper...with that...”

“Is that so, then you are qualified.” Kaguya-senpai also smiled.

What Koyuki proposed, Kazuki put the matter in question all together as a plan of [the establishment of academy’s newspaper]. It was also immediately approved in the staff room and then they were taking applications for newspaper committee member from the whole academy body.

As the result six people of committee member were gathered from the Magic Division and the Sword Division. Among them, the one that was chosen as the committee chairman from the interview with each of them was this Yumeno-san. Like this she came along to the student council room for introduction.

“You also participated in the battle election right?” Kazuki immediately noticed and asked her.

“You won through until the third round with team made of first years as the core.”

It was plainly a great thing. At Kazuki's pointing out, the girl curled herself up more and more.

"It's embarrassing...I announced my candidacy even without understanding it well myself..."

She was one of the girls that was brainwashed by Hayashi Shizuka. In other words with that she was a person that could be said to be innocent with certainty. Kazuki felt relieved with the election of the girl as the committee chairman. From what he saw Yumeno-san was a good person.

"...But, I can't reach Hayashizaki-kun or Amasaki-san or Hiakari-san, it's a little regrettable. Just a little, I wanted to test my strength so..."

In a surprising behavior the girl murmured warlike words. It made Kazuki thought 'Oho'.

"...This girl, if before this I was demoted to rank B, without a doubt she'd be the one that was supposed to be raised to rank A and came to the Witch's Mansion you know? She is the top of rank B after all."

Mio made a complicated face. The top of rank B....

"There is no mistake that somehow a capable committee chairman has come to us isn't it? Please treat us well."

"Plea, please treat me well too, Chief Student Council President!"

"Though I want you to talk casually, seeing we are in the same year..."

Toward Kazuki who was smiling wily, Yumeno-san kept bobbing her head *peko peko*.

Spontaneously a graph floated right in front of Kazuki's eyes.

Yumeno Shiori—31 Mibu Akira—42 Asamiya Anna—38

The after school of that day, everything was completely devoted into the sample creation of the school newspaper's first issue. Properly doing the template of the space design first was a good move. In the end of an uproarious argument, the work still couldn't be said to be done but they broke up for the day. Kazuki returned to his own room.

Released from the heavy responsibility of the Chief Student Council President—and then this time he faced a different worry again.

The difficult problem that Kazuki put aside at his privacy. The demand of Kazuha-senpai for a [romantic situation]. He must clear this request and then he must beg her for forgiveness.

Kazuki sat down on the bed and groaned “Uu—n”. Then with a pop Leme materialized on his knees.

“From working phase to conquering phase! Not the worrying of the Chief Student Council President, but the worrying as the Harem King!!” Like that, she was saying some game-like things.

“What do you think romantic is?”

“It's useless even if you ask that kind of thing to Leme.”

“That is so huh.” Kazuki circled his hands around Leme's waist as if hugging a plush toy.

“That's so. Generally the King didn't treat Leme as female for even a little bit.”

With a glance, Leme turned Kazuki's way with a look that was a little mature. That Leme—had already grown into an appearance around the same age as Lotte. Rather than a little girl she could be said to be a girl already.

“...Do you want to be treated romantically?”

“No, if you have free time to do that kind of thing for Leme, you better use it for the girls in your harem. Even if you asked what is the meaning of romantic, how about you try asking it to the other girls?”

Leme left those words behind and then she disappeared with a pop from inside Kazuki’s arm.

That was certainly the most correct opinion. Kazuki assented with that and stood up from the bed.

Part 2

“Ah, Kazuki-oniisan!”

The moment he exited his room, he happened to come across Lotte who was running in the corridor unexpectedly.

“Lotte...what’s with that appearance?”

Lotte was wearing something that looked like a blue string swimsuit, and on her back a showy wings decoration was attached. The high exposure rate looked similar with a Magic Dress but it was a little different.

“Fufufu, this is the cosplay of <Bashful Angel Chirariel>, Chirariel[\[1\]](#) Blue desu!”

Bashful Angel Chirariel—Kazuki too watched that anime together with Lotte and Karin. Collecting the gaze of people with their embarrassing appearance, they amassed [Glance Energy] and fought. It was the tale of angel girls of justice.

In a glance it seemed like a cunning setting to aim for the perverted heart of the male viewers, but that was nothing more than a front to gather sponsors. The content was filled with the staff's obsession for diehard battles that knew no bounds. Unrolling the figure of flowery beautiful girls, it developed stylish battles that fired up the viewer. That gap collected great evaluation not only from the male viewers but also from the female viewers, a masterpiece of an anime.

“Chirariel Blue appeared to be cool but with heavy emotion, she is a good character really. It’s fine for you to cosplay, however running around in the Witch’s Mansion’s corridor is not good okay?”

“Sorry desu...” Lotte meekly hung her head’s down.

“By the way I’m greatly changing the talk here, but what kind of romantic situation is Lotte looking for?”

“Romantic, desu...?”

Chirariel Blue alias Lotte tilted her head in puzzlement.

“I think my current situation is the ultimate romantic, so I’m not asking for even more than this desu.”

“What do you mean?”

“Because...I, am a princess that took flight from my country you know? My life was aimed by the motherland, even in the country where I escaped to I was not accepted, everyone is using my life as political tool...at that time, I encountered a man that saved me even at the risk of his life desu!”

“...Certainly, I didn’t realize as a person that was involved in it myself, but that was amazingly romantic huh.”

“Right now I’m perfectly content with this desu♪ That’s why right now I want to go searching for anime chick rather than something romantic desu. Changing the shameful heart into blue healing....CHAAAAAANGE! CHIRARIEEEEEELLL! BLUEEEEEEE!!”

Lotte took a transformation pose with movement that had sharpness in it.

Like a transformation effect, a heart mark of positivity level up was flying.

“That voice...! So you are in this kind of place huh, Chirariel Blue!”

From one end of the Witch's Mansion, a voice could be heard along with the sounds of someone dashing through the stairs.

“That voice...Chirariel Red!” Lotte too raised her voice.

“Touu!” Skipping the last step of the stairs lightly—Chirariel Red made her appearance.

Similar with what Lotte wore, the one who wore a cosplay costume that looked like a red string swimsuit was—

Karin. When Karin noticed Kazuki's existence, her face blushed bright red and she hid her own body.

“Wro, wrong, this is that, because Charlotte said that she wanted to play with me...”

“Karin-oneesan! To lose against your shameful heart...you don't have the quality to introduce yourself as Red desu!!”

“!” Karin receiving Lotte's scolding, she made a face of realization.

An expression completely like she was noticing that she was almost throwing away something important from her by her own hand.

“Change the shameful heart into flame of justice....CHAAAAAAAANGE! CHIRARIEEEEEEEELL! REEEEEDDDD!!” Karin stopped hiding her body and took a sharp transformation pose.

‘What are they doing, these guys’...that's not what Kazuki was currently thinking.

Kazuki too loved that anime. Confronting Blue and Red like this, his spirit reflexively blazed up.

“...Chirariel Blue! I'll have Takashi back!!”

“Kazuki-oniisan, please do the Takashi role!”

...Is it okay for me to do Takashi's role!? This scene is...episode 21 part A without doubt!!

“Stop it, you two! Why are you two has to be fighting!!”

“...So I can fight, that's why I need Takashi!”

Lotte yelled back with voice that had completely become Chirariel Blue's cool tone.

“Before I even know it...when I noticed I already cannot feel any more shame other than from Takashi's gaze, only you. It doesn't matter what happened with those other people that I should protect! For me, Takashi is already my everything!”

“That completely went against the iron law of Disgraced Angel Chirariel!”

“If it's to monopolize Takashi's gaze for myself then...I don't care even if you become my enemy!”

“Are you losing your mind!?” If there was somebody else that was witnessing this sight from the side, they would surely doubt the sanity of the participants of this scene. Yet even while being in the middle of the aforementioned scene, Karin yelled such.

“Stop it, Chirariel Blue!” Kazuki too got carried away by the mood and yelled.

“Takashi just step back and look at me! ...CHIRAAAAAARI WAAAAAAVE!!”

Lotte linked both her hands behind her head and took a pose that highlighted her chest.

Chirariel exhibited their ChirariismSuper Sure-kill Move through taking a sexy pose!

“GUWAAAAAAAAAAAAA!”

Karin raised a scream while trembling *buru buru* all over. Kazuki too hallucinated the violent water torrent that was created from the Chirari Energy that spring forth from Lotte’s sexy breast valley (fiction).

“Shitt...I won’t hand over Takashi to you! CHIRAAAAAARI FLAAAAAAAAME!!”

Karin opposed the attack and pushed out her butt with a ‘boing’. From that butt, Kazuki hallucinated seeing the violent flame spouting out.

“KYAAAAAAAA!” This time Lotte was the one that screamed out. Flame and water clashed against each other!

“Kuh, both of you, what a fight...!”

Kazuki completely engrossed in being Takashi and poured his gaze to the two who were taking unbelievable pose in unbelievable appearance.

“Takashi! More...look at me more!” Lotte yelled while kept puffing out her chest.

“Takashi! The one who you have to look at is just me!” Karin too yelled while dancing out her butt.

“Which one I...should look at...”

Kazuki held his head in his hands and kneeled on the spot. At that time Kazuki was making Takashi’s conflict as his own, the corridor of the Witch’s Mansion transformed into the battlefield of the two girls that stopped being angels.

“...What in the world are you all doing here?”

Suddenly—a voice of absolute zero dragged Kazuki and the other two back from the delusion world into the world of reality.

Koyuki opened her door unnoticed by anyone and put out her head into the corridor.

“You two...are you sane?”

Lotte and Karin returned to their own respective room while Kazuki was remonstrated by Koyuki in the corridor.

“Making them dress shamelessly like that and taking impure poses, what are you doing?”

Though Koyuki was also such girl that always wore only white shirt put on top a single panty as her casual wear.

“No...we were just a little, heated up too much in playing around...”

When he thought back, Kazuki too, Lotte too and also Karin didn't go through a normal childhood period.

Kazuki who was a senior in his orphanage always held the awareness of [I have to be dependable] and matured prematurely through his childhood period. He never had fun playing some make-believe game innocently for even once.

Karin who was an orphan like him too, Lotte who was raised in an imperial court too, their circumstances were without a doubt similar to him.

The three of them, somewhere in their heart they might yearn for that kind of childlike playing.

“Somehow it's like we were discovering the lost puzzle piece that didn't exist in our time as children, a refreshing feeling...”

“Are you always searching for chances to get a girl emphasizing her chest to you in flutter or for a girl to push out her butt to you bouncily since you were a child until now? That is really a serious sickness of perversion isn't it?"

That's not it Koyuki...Chirariel is pointlessly lewd, but it's a really great anime....

"Well, I'll accept Kazuki even if you are a little perverted but...please refrain from perverted conducts that go too far."

Koyuki turned her back in a huff, then she was going back to her room. Unconsciously his eyes became attracted to the butt that jutted out just a little from the end of the shirts that she wore, but Kazuki was "Wait a second" and called her to stop.

"For Koyuki, what kind of thing is a romantic situation for you?"

Kazuki was trying to rely on Koyuki who was an avid reader here. She might be unexpectedly a romanticist.

"Romantic...is it?"

"Things like what you are yearning for in this kind of situation."

After Koyuki was hesitating to say for a little in shyness, she opened her mouth timidly.

"I...I yearn for wall bang..."

"Wall bang?"

"Cornered close to the wall...then the right elbow banged the wall to block the escape path..."

Blocking the escape path? He didn't understand why Koyuki yearned for that kind of thing, but Kazuki thought he would try it for real. He smoothly approached Koyuki as if cornering her to the wall of the corridor.

"Like this?"

Right beside Koyuki's face who was glancing around restlessly in bewilderment, ‘DON!’ Kazuki banged his right elbow close.

Certainly, it felt like her escape path was blocked. Then Kazuki naturally brought his face near Koyuki’s.

Koyuki’s face blushed bright red and she looked down.

“In other words, it’s fine for Koyuki to be approached forcefully?”

“Ye...yes...” Koyuki murmured with a voice that almost couldn’t be heard.

“I, am a shy coward, I always want to escape immediately so...even so a person that chased after me like this is...”

Kazuki decided in his heart that if Koyuki wished for this then he was going to try it.

“So you are thinking like that. Then Koyuki, I’m not going to let you run from here at all.”

“I, I’m ashamed...” Against Koyuki that was averting her eyes, Kazuki directly put his hand on her chin.

“Look at here properly.” He made her face to his way and then he stared hard at her directly in a distance where their nose tips could touch each other. Koyuki became completely bright red from her ears also until her neck.

“Koyuki, right now you are making a really cute face.” Kazuki whispered. The whispering voice was naturally tinged with sweet reverberation.

“Noo...I don’t like to be looked at like that...”

Koyuki’s eyes were wet with tears, yet a heart mark flew from her chest. That appearance of hers was truly cute.

“You are saying that in your mouth but, you don’t hate it right? Next what do you want to be done to you while we are like this?”

“I want a lot of embarrassing things...to be done on me.... Despite so I am made unable to escape...”

“Embarrassing things, for example what kinds of things?”

Kazuki blew his breath softly at Koyuki’s long ear. “Fuaa!” Like that, her body was trembling in shivers. Koyuki was weak in her ears. With his left hand finger, Kazuki stroked Koyuki’s long earlobe gently.

“Actually you are not thinking of running away at all right? In truth, you want this to be done more to you don’t you?”

“Ye...yes...! I want you to do more embarrassing things to me...!”

While trembling in shivers, Koyuki came appealing at him. Kazuki was “You are cute” and kissed her pure white cheek to convey his honest feelings. Koyuki closed her eyes tightly as if to endure the excitement in her chest. While doing that she said self-torturing things like “Lies...someone like me is cute, that’s...”.

“You are still saying something like that. Then I’m going to continue kissing you until you believe it.”

Not only her cheek, but also her forehead, chin, nose tip, Kazuki rained down kisses to all the place he could reach on her face. While he stroked her sensitive ear with his left hand gently, he caressed her whole face with his lips dearly. “Hauu...” Raising a frail voice, Koyuki leaked out rough breaths from her enchanting half opened mouth.

“After this, what am I going to do to Koyuki who is pretending to dislike this?”

“Af, after this...even though it’s embarrassing, my clothes is stripped off forcefully...”

Kazuki stopped playing with Koyuki’s ear and moved his hand to the button on the shirt’s collar. Koyuki stared at that hand manner as if seeing a dream.

One, two buttons were unfastened, and then the white shirt fell under the floor in flutter. Koyuki who now only wore a single piece of panty was trembling with a vroom in shame.

“This kind of thin body...is embarrassing...”

While saying so Koyuki didn't do anything like hiding her body—as if inviting him.

“That's not true. It's a really beautiful body.”

The skin that was white like snow drew gentle-sloping line, forming the still unripe bulges. Kazuki's sight unconsciously became nailed down on the reddening tip on those bulges. This is bad, he thought.

“...After this, how does Koyuki want to be treated?”

“I, I want to be touched...touch all over my body, I want to be loved...”

“...But if we do even more than this, my self control will be completely gone. Even if the time where Koyuki thinks that you truly want to escape comes, I won't be able to notice it...let's leave it around this much.”

*puni* Kazuki pinched Koyuki's cheek. Koyuki's rough breath calmed down little by little. Her eyes that were like looking at a dream returned to the color of reality slowly.

“...Puu. Then for the last please kiss me at the mouth, gently.”

Embracing tightly the Koyuki who was only wearing a single piece of panty, Kazuki sucked Koyuki's lips as strong as he could.

Koyuki's spine was trembling in shivers.

“I, I...I'm going to enter the bath...”

When they separated their lips, Koyuki ran away after rubbing both her thighs against each other restlessly.

Part 3

When he thought back, it was really something that seemed completely unrealistic that they had done in a whim, but it was a deeply sweet time. In short it was romantic, that situation just now.

But the romantic just now...he had a feeling that to a certain extent it was from Koyuki's peculiar interest....

He should try to ask for the opinion of the other girls just a little bit more. While the fast beating in his heart still hasn't settled down yet, this time Kazuki visited Hikaru-senpai's room—.

“Romantic situation?”

“Yes, a situation that senpai is yearning for.”

Hikaru-senpai made Kazuki who suddenly visited sit on the bed, then when she sat beside him she came leaning on him. While conversing, she nuzzled her chest that as always was covered with a fit-wear that tightly stuck to her skin, to Kazuki, probably intentionally. This person always nonchalantly appealed herself that she was a girl, coming at him with temptation.

“If we talk about romantic...then it's a rapidly falling ceiling.”

“...Huh?”

“When a ceiling comes falling, I hold it back desperately. Then [Quickly go forward while I'm holding this back!] [How could I advance forward by leaving senpai behind...I won't do that!] [Stupid idiot, if Kazuki doesn't go, who will stop the great demon lord Kaguya!]”

With an expression and voice that were true to her nature, Hikaru-senpai made a lone performance. But great demon lord Kaguya....

“Right there with a ‘WHAM’, I kicked Kazuki away from the room where the ceiling is falling into the corridor. [Live for my part too okay...actually I held this feeling for you, I lov...] ...GUSHA! BORIGORI! (pulverization sound)[2] BICHUGUCHU (water sound)!”

“Senpai died!? Moreover the sound effect of the result is pointlessly gross!”

“...That kind of situation, that’s what I yearned for.”

While cutely leaning her body on him, what in the world was this person saying?

“It’s different. What I want to ask is not something from a shounen manga like that, but something more like a shoujo manga.”

“Shoujo manga huh—. I’ve never read any shoujo manga though—. If I have to say what I’m yearning for then, I want to be treated more like a girl or something—”

“Senpai is a cute girl you know.”

“Ahaha, get affectionate with me more and even more pleeease♪”

With a ‘pyon’ senpai approached her face near Kazuki’s then she rubbed her cheek with Kazuki’s *suri suri*. Against a more senior senpai that he respected in both character and strength, should he feel shy or troubled when she fawned at him like this....

“Hey, Kazuki. I have thought this for a long time but...”

Hikaru-senpai attached their cheeks together tightly and whispered with a sweet voice.

“My second kiss...how should I beg you for it I wonder?”

—For that request, just that word is sufficient already.

Kazuki grasped one hand of Hikaru-senpai with his left hand, embraced her slender waist with his right hand, and then he touched their lips together.

“Nn...♪” Senpai rubbed their lips together enjoying the feel of Kazuki’s lips, held his lips in her mouth, and she also nuzzled her well-ordered nose at Kazuki's nose grazingly—eskimo kiss.

Along with ticklish frolicking around, a heart mark came flying.

After she separated their lips with a 'chuu' sound, Hikaru-senpai was being bashful.

“Ju, just as I thought, it's really embarrassing and makes my heart beat really fast isn't it, kissing. Ehe.”

—Researching more of the romanticness of the action of kissing itself might be a good idea.

“Senpai, is there a kiss like this that you want to do? Like an even more romantic kiss or something.”

“Romantic kiss? Uu—n...” Hikaru-senpai tapped her chin with her finger and pondered.

“My breast and my butt, I want to be kissed while being touched on those two places.”

“...Eh?” Kazuki was taken aback. Looking at Kazuki's bewilderment, Hikaru-senpai grinned widely like a young boy that just thought of some mischief. Kazuki's left hand that was linked with her hand was moved onto her breast, then Kazuki's right hand that was in her waist toward her butt, each of the hands were guided by Hikaru-senpai.

Kazuki's fingers that were paralyzed with nervousness reflexively dug *funyuu* into Hikaru-senpai's flesh. Senpai's breast and butt that was covered with only a piece of fit-wear were soft similar with being naked—no, it could even be thought that the softness increased even more because of how it stuck to the skin tightly.

He had several experiences of breasts that were pressed on him until this much. But the softness of a breast that he grasped with an eagle's grip using finger where the nerves was concentrated, it had a different dimension with his experiences in the past.

Unthinkingly he kept massaging *funyu funyu* several times just like that. Looking at Kazuki whose face heated up, Hikaru-senpai was laughing "hehehe" and then she kissed him one more time. Lips, breast, butt...tasting the three places that were full of a girl's sensation at the same time. —He couldn't touch them this simply in this kind of place. Even while thinking that thought, he couldn't release his palms from Hikaru-senpai's breast and butt in fascination.

With 'chuu' sound their lips parted. Kazuki asked what was her intention with his gaze.

"Because like this I can actually feel that you are really feeling my charm as a girl..."

While smiling bashfully, Hikaru-senpai dropped her gaze to Kazuki's lower body.

"Also...when a change happened to your penis, for me it's really romantic you seeee♪"

"That is not romantic...but erotic you know!"

Borrowing the momentum of the tsukkomi, Kazuki somehow brought his hands far from the soft sensation.

But against Kazuki that was trying to separate their body, senpai leaped at him "Ahaha, I won't let you escape—. Heyaaa—!" and embraced him tightly. Like a fellow children innocently, but also accompanied with the sweet thrill of man and woman, Kazuki and Hikaru-senpai entangled together on top of the bed. And then they kissed one more time.

The night gradually grew late.

“If you want to know about romantic, you should come to my place right from the start you know!”

The one that he visited next was Mio’s room. Without even sitting on chairs, the two stayed standing in the center of the room. Mio puffed her chest ‘ehhem’ and answered Kazuki’s question.

“Is Myon-chan a romanticist?”

“Kazuki, stop calling me Myon-chan!”

Mio-sensei ‘kohon’ cleared her throat and began the class.

“What is called romantic is a way to stir up your feeling, a play technique just so you know.”

“I have a feeling that this is the first time I am hearing an opinion that has a truth in it.”

“There are various techniques but...the most easy to understand technique is surely [poem]!”

“Poem?” Hearing that word he was not familiar with, Kazuki leaned his ears with deep interest.

“Even with a really ordinary object, but the instant you express it with poetic words, it will make you reconfirm it with a totally fresh beauty. Changing a normal day into an extraordinary day...it’s not an exaggeration to even say that poems exist to make everything romantic.”

Now that she mentioned it, when Mio made her self-introduction she said things like liking poems.

“For example when a boy says [cute] to a girl. The girl too would be happy when it was first said to her, but it will gradually change into feeling of [okay okay I get it] if you keep saying it to her right? It's a weak word. It's a word that will become ordinary, become obsolete. If right there the boy comes up with a more ingenious sentence like [ah, you are really cute without question] using all sorts of poetic words to present to the girl, the girl will once again notice how she is being thought of so importantly by the boy in a really fresh sensation, turning into a romantic feeling!"

"I see...but is it not embarrassing to say such clichéd words? Even with only saying the word cute but with sincere feelings, or maybe simple is the best, I think it will already transmit the speaker's feeling enough though.... It's scary to make a blunder and make the atmosphere go cold."

"Certainly depending on the situation there are also times when simple words are enough to pierce the heart. But you know, to a certain degree it's fine even if you fail. [Ah, for the sake of making me happy, this person tried hard until this much] thinking like that, just from that won't she feel an emotion of love? What is called romantic is not focusing on the result, but it's something that appreciates the process too!"

"I, I see! You won't get anything without challenging anything is that it? But I don't have any confidence here, doing something like using words stylishly like a poem is..."

"The, then...first you need to practice. Try it by expressing my charms poetically here!"

Mio's charm was it...she was so to speak a companion that was always charming through day and night. I'm going to show her.

"Mio's hair is...as if pure gold that is made into threads, beautifully glittering in light."

"Fufuu, it's a little clichéd but isn't it quite good? So Kazuki first come from the hair...”

“This elegant brightness suited Mio’s noble heart perfectly. Mio is always proudly, magnificently, truly a possessor of a golden heart after all.”

“That’s a good feeling! The mix of not only praising the external appearance but also the inside earned you a high score!!”

Kazuki and Mio stared at each other with rapt attention.

“Your beauty is like an unattainable flower however...Mio’s big and beautiful eyes that are gazing at me are overflowing with charm and rich in expression, that’s why I unconsciously reached my hand in my wish to embrace you. A gem so precious that it made me timidly question myself whether it is okay for someone like me to hold it in my hand...for me that is Mio without doubt.”

“Kyaa—!!” Mio suddenly yelled and hopped up and down repeatedly.

“Kazuki, so you think of me like that!? Aren’t you loving me too much!?”

“I love you Mio. No matter how many times I convey it, when I thought that my feelings couldn’t be conveyed and how it would make Mio anxious, it made me glad that I can convey my love like this.”

“Funyaaaaaaaaannn!”

Mio staggered as if she was being dizzy from standing too fast. Kazuki held her for support in panic looking at her state.

“Fuwawa...I’m going to faint. Ah, but right now I’m in this kind of appearance...”

Mio suddenly noticed that she was in her pajama right now and shook her head.

“I’m not a person like this! Kazuki, wait a little bit! I’m going to enter my serious mode after this!”

Mio suddenly hit Kazuki’s chest with her hand lightly. She pushed him out from her room to the corridor.

The door was closed loudly, and then he could hear sounds of rustling and moving around from inside the room.

“Kazukii, how about this!?”

What she came wearing were clothes that looked like in the midway between dress and one-piece, an extravagant deep crimson clothes.

“The deep crimson feels like Mio’s theme color. But it’s not an offensive color and instead more of an elegant luster of silk’s softness and drape. It has the impression of your best clothes. To be able to face a girl this beautiful, it’s an unthinkable honor as a man.”

“Hanyaa—nn♪ ...Yosh, next!”

—From there Mio modeled various clothes coordination by all means... towards Mio’s effort, Kazuki used all his power to praise her using honeyed words. Mio’s fashion show crossed a lot of genre. She turned into a natural cute style, becoming an outdoor girl, dressing in celebrity style, and many others.

...How many clothes does this girl have, Kazuki shuddered in front of Mio’s girl power.

“...Then, next is this-!” What appeared next was an appearance he was used to see—her Magic Dress.

“The me in this form...once again what do you think?”

“...I think this is the appearance that let out Mio’s charm the best. Gorgeous, but at the same time a crisp awe-inspiring appearance of a fighting girl. When I’m looking at it, my feelings tighten from the dignified beauty, like standing in front of a work of art in the museum that I cannot avert my eyes from at a moment's notice. However at the same time...Mio's beautiful skin and the line of a girl's body are mostly visible, that's why my heart as man is tickled fiercely. Is it okay for me to be charmed by this sublime beauty, is it also okay for me to fall into my desire...am I human, or beast, the boundary line between those two is blurring..."

"Kazuki, you are turning into a beast..." Mio's face boiled bright red.

"The, then I'm going for the next!"

Mio went back to her room once more. This time there were no sound of clothes being taken off or clothes being worn for a while.

After no sound at all the door immediately opened—what appeared in front of him, was the naked Mio. There was not even a single string attached on her body. The important places were only hidden by both her hands, the other everything was fully exposed at Kazuki.

"The bare plain me...how is it I wonder...?"

While Kazuki's eyes were being stolen, he gulped his saliva.

"This is not good, Mio. I become unable to restrain myself. In front of someone this beautiful and important, I still mustn't become a beast."

"Kazu-nii...do you really value me importantly? Then..."

Mio parted her hands that hid her body, only to Kazuki, she exposed her everything.

However it was only just for a moment, the girl immediately leaped into Kazuki's chest.

And then she turned to Kazuki's face and closed her eyes. Guessing the unsaid meaning, Kazuki touched their lips together. Mio who was in the form just like when she was born, if they couldn't mingle their body together then at the very least even if it was just her feelings, she kissed Kazuki greedily.

“Romantic? For me I really yearn for adult’s romance.”

Kaguya-senpai quietly smiled and said that.

“Adult’s romance, is it...? Something like night view?”

Hearing Kazuki’s poor imagination, Kaguya-senpai was “Right right!” and nodded.

Inside Kaguya-senpai’s room, an incense was being lit as usual. It didn’t have strong emphasis that made him concerned, just a sweetly tickling aroma at inadvertent moment. It even resembled senpai’s own scent—Both of them were sitting on the bed, a thick sweet scent was also coming from Kaguya-senpai’s body that was sitting right beside him.

Kaguya-senpai’s room, compared to others—it had the characteristic of the collection of various analogue games inside the cupboard. Standard card games like trump or uno, chess or shogi[3], standard board games called game of life, furthermore there were also international-made maniac games that were imported to Japan in the past. There was even a game with Cthulhu Mythos as its theme where Nairlatoteh made an appearance that made Kazuki felt complicated. With Kaguya-senpai’s love of bargaining[4] and psychological warfare, occasionally Kazuki also played together with her. The games results so far between them was even.

“Night view is also good! In the high grade restaurant on a rooftop of a high rise hotel, where one side of the wall is fixed with glass where we could see an unbroken view of the night Tokyo! Well, though the current Tokyo’s night view seemed like it has become fairly darker when compared with the past Tokyo. Reserving such a place, with the waiter always staying in standby at one corner of the room, Otouto-kun is swirling around a wine glass that sparkled from the light reflection of the chandelier above, and then you make a toast in front of my eyes. The wine is chateau wine that has aged for ten-odd years.”

“We are still minors, senpai.” Of course all the wine that was circulated in the market currently only consisted of domestic products.

“And then when the meal ended, continuing just like that we are going to the suite room of the hotel.... While I’m in the middle of showering, Otouto-kun will be waiting wearing a bathrobe and sitting on a chair. While swirling around a wine glass in one hand.”

The wine glass that was continued to be swirled around actually had an outstanding supporting role here.

“For the sake of me who seemed to be shy, Otouto-kun turned off the lights. And then the overlapping silhouette of the two people with the night view as the background...That kind of adultery night...”

“That’s too adultery really.... Also it takes too much money it’s impossible...”

“Fufufu. Even if it's not that kind of place, something like watching the night parade in an amusement park with the two of us, doing a date in a romantic place is great I think.”

For the sake of creating a romantic situation, going to a romantic place was certainly an easy to understand solution.

“By, by the way I wonder why is Otouto-kun suddenly getting concerned about something romantic!? By any chance perhaps it’s for the sake of enlivening the promised date with me...?”

“Hawaa!?” Kazuki reflexively let out a strange voice. ...His promise of a going to a date with Kaguya-senpai, had completely faded out from his head.

Looking at that reaction of him...Kaguya-senpai's eyes was holding still.

“...Otouto-kun, by any chance...did you forget?”

The pressuring smiling face of Kaguya-senpai came closer smoothly.

The next instant, *ton* Kazuki's shoulder was pushed and he rolled onto the bed.

“Se, senpai...” Although he was leaking out his voice, the fault was in his own self so he couldn't resist. However Kaguya-senpai was taking off Kazuki's pajama shirt with popping sound of buttons. It's fine going until that far, but suddenly even as far as his pajamas' trouser was also sliding down, as expected Kazuki became flustered.

“Ple, please wait a second senpai! The trouser together!?”

“Kazuki-kun, it's punishment time♡”

—The color of Kaguya-senpai's pupils were changing into purple color. Affected with Asmodeus' magic power, it was the color when her self-control was completely dyed with desire. Instantly senpai's pajama disintegrated into Prima Material and she transformed into the Magic Dress figure with its unnecessary ornament omitted.

Her appearance consisted only of the small fabric that covered the upper part of her chest beginning from under her neck and the parts that resembled the letter 'V' on her abdomen.

“...Fufufu, because I had been using a lot of power in the deciding match for the third place.”

“Isn't that already more than one week ago!”

And then *gachink* there was a metallic sound. There was a handcuff attached on Kazuki's hands.

“...Please wait a second. This, where did senpai take it out from?”

When he didn't resist, he really became unable to move his body at all.

Right there Kaguya-senpai's sensual body was—bending forward on him. Kaguya-senpai's big breasts that was almost bare-naked in liberated state shook *tapun tapun*, climbing on top of Kazuki's chest with great jolt. Her voluptuous thighs are entangling with Kazuki's lower body.

The reality of a girl's softness and warmth was thoroughly taught into his whole body—a body posture that should even be said to be a [meat blanket] [\[5\]](#).

“This whole night, Kazuki-kun is my plaything de—su♡”

Senpai's hand stroked Kazuki's chest in a sliding movement. For some reason senpai liked chests.

“Kazuki-kun poke po—ke♡”

“Uwaaa!” Having his nipple suddenly poked, Kazuki let out his voice reflexively.

“Poke poke po—ke♡”

His side was poked even further, Kazuki trembled fearfully.

“Kazuki-kun pero[\[6\]](#) pero♡”

Kaguya-senpai crawled her tongue in a slide from Kazuki's nape of the neck until his cheek, and then she pursed her lips on his cheek and made out a 'chuu' voice. And then her soft lips sucked Kazuki's cheek strongly.

Grazing that voluptuous body on Kazuki, Kaguya-senpai began to gain a faint pleasure. Senpai's whole body was influenced by Asmodeus' magic power and becoming sensitive. Visibly tormenting Kazuki like this, senpai's breath began to 'haa haa' get disordered.

The hand that stroked Kazuki's body moved down little by little. It was heading down to a bad place.

“Sen, senpai, you mustn't do that.”

“Things that I mustn't do doesn't exist. ...I still cannot kiss with Kazuki-kun mouth to mouth, so...I have to do everything else excepting the kiss, or else you will be taken by the other girls...”

Kaguya-senpai leaked out her voice in a whisper. In her expression that was colored with pleasure, a slight urgent feeling of being cornered was mixed. Senpai was being impatient.

“Kaguya.”

Kazuki whispered to the senpai who was really kind to him more than anyone else since his enrollment here.

“I really love you.” With that he got his face that could move freely closer and kissed her cheek.

There were also times when a mere simple word could pierce the heart—With a flush, blood was rushing to Kaguya's face.

“Sheesh! It's no good for Kazuki-kun to be the one attacking right now! Even though this is the night where I'm the one who is attacking!!”

But perhaps the impatience and anxiety had disappeared from Kaguya, her hand that was reaching to Kazuki's lower body stopped in a narrow call. She circled both her hands around Kazuki's hips and hugged him tightly again.

“...I won't do something too extreme, but it's a waste to get satisfied immediately, so I'm going to enjoy Kazuki-kun thoroughly and comfortably through the whole night.”

Kaguya declared so and turned off the light with a remote control. And then she restarted nuzzling her body on Kazuki. Inside the pitch black room, only Kaguya's sweet sigh reverberated in his ear. The large fruit of her breasts were kneaded on Kazuki's chest. Kaguya's nether region was rubbing on Kazuki's thigh. Kaguya made her pleasant feeling get worked up greedily, that body of hers got damply wet with sweat. Around him was teeming with the sweet fragrance like a nectar from the sweat and pheromone. Sometimes the girl's body trembled in a twitching way *bikun bikun*.

Kaguya made Kazuki's hard body as a tool for the sake of pleasure without rushing in a trance.

It was fine to desist from escalating their action, but because of this and that, Kazuki as usual continued being completely in a half-dead state from the exposure of the sensual temptation.

He wanted to indulge Kaguya's body in insatiable lust as much as he could. Even that kind of desire also existed inside Kazuki.

However Kazuki was being handcuffed, also even if he was not being handcuffed, there was also his self-restrain that forbid him from taking a step past the line. If he stepped past the line once, then his restrain of himself would be completely gone.

Restrain.... It was not only Kaguya-senpai, he also had to stuck it out in regards with everyone else....

As the swordsman of Hayashizaki...if he didn't suppress his worldly desires....

“UOO...Namu Amida Butsu[\[7\]](#)...Namu Amida Butsu...”

To suppress his worldly desires, Kazuki chanted a Buddhist prayer with groaning like voice. Kaguya-senpai was startled.

“Kazuki-kun, stop chanting that weird spell! That's the total opposite of romantic!!”

Part 4

He had a feeling that he had already caught a glimpse of that concept called romantic.

Last night he could make everyone happy more than usual and passed the time in sweet atmosphere.

{If you could grow until you could create that kind of flow deliberately, then you will become an excellent playboy!}

Leme came transmitting her voice with Telepathy.

No, it was one kind of training to acquire skill and knowledge for the sake of spending an even better time with his precious people. It was not like he was aiming to become a playboy or something but....

Only the problem was that everything he had done yesterday could go well because the other parties were the amiable people of the Witch's Mansion. He didn't know if it could also go well if he did the same thing to Kazuha-senpai.

However...nothing would change if he didn't even do anything. To face the [romantic] problem assigned to him by senpai seriously was the responsibility of him who kissed senpai forcefully.

As the swordsman of Hayashizaki, he couldn't run away from romantic!

{However when I thought will something happen...or nothing will happen...}

...What?

{No, it's nothing. O King, don't worry and make the girl fall!}

As always the yell from Leme that made him feel bad superbly, he thought.

After school, Kazuki finally came at the Sword Division's school building searching for Kazuha-senpai's figure.

With Leme's ability—the power of <Positivity Level Map>, he could perceive that for some reason today too Kazuha-senpai was at the abandoned school building. Most likely she was just alone.

When he finally arrived at the club building after traversing the Japanese garden, his timing was just right with Kazuha-senpai coming out of the abandoned club room. Toward senpai who was raising *kan kan* footstep sounds descending the outer stairs, Kazuki hurriedly called out to her.

“Senpai, I was looking for you.”

Kazuki too raised his voice in nervousness, but even more than him, Kazuha-senpai jumped in surprise. And then as if leaping down, she descended the stairs and turned her back at Kazuki. Then she dashed away like a startled rabbit.

“Wa, please wait a second senpai!?”

Kazuki chased her in panic. The story was different with what she said yesterday when she didn't even give him a chance to talk.

“Hayashizaki, don't tell me you...you are coming here to do something romantic!?”

While escaping, Kazuha-senpai looked back. That cheeks of hers had already become slightly red.

“Even though senpai is the one that said if I didn't do something romantic you will cut ties with me, why are you running away!? I won't be able to do anything romantic like this!!”

“I, it's fine even if you don't do it! As I thought it's fine even if you don't do anything romantic!!”

What irrationality. With this the chance that she promised to give was only a waste paper and she was going to cut ties without any question asked. No... Kazuha-senpai's positivity level was not that low that she would cut ties that absurdly.

Or perhaps had senpai came to become embarrassed later on after she demanded that [romantic kiss]!? The senpai at that time was in an absurd temperament after all, it was not impossible....

“Wait senpai! It's dangerous to run away while not looking at your front you know!?”

“Eh!?” Kazuha-senpai raised her voice and looked back at her front, but it was too late.

While she was looking back here, senpai who was dashing through the Sword Division's garden with Enchant Aura at full power didn't notice the excellent pine tree that stood in front of her, then she splendidly collided with it head-on. “UWAAA!” She tottered while scattering away blue defensive magic power.

Kazuki caught up right there. There upon all of a sudden, [wall bang chance] such idea floated in his head. The escaping Kazuha-senpai was overlapping with Koyuki's figure.

Kazuki approached Kazuha-senpai and sandwiched her between his body and the pine tree. Kazuha-senpai turned to look his way. He thrust out his right hand through the side of her face to the trunk of the pine tree with a ‘DON’. Wall bang stance—success.

“Senpai, please listen to my story.”

Kazuki naturally brought his face closer. Kazuha-senpai meekly shrunk herself.

“Why are you running away? Isn't this different from the promise?”

“Be, because when I thought about it calmly, what kind of romantic thing you are going to do, it’s strange I thought...”

“But I’m troubled if there is no chance for me to repair my relation with senpai. Even though if it’s for the sake of that, I plan to show that I will do whatever romantic thing I have to do.”

“E, even if you become that overly serious to do something romantic in high spirit...”

“Please give me a challenge to do something romantic. For the sake of that I had done training.”

“You said training.... ..You don’t have any reason to be that attached to me right? Let’s stop this already, there are a lot of other girls after all...”

“There is only one Kazuha-senpai here.”

“.....Lusting for me until that much, just stop it.” She was talking in a voice that became smaller and smaller.

“Maybe this is lust, but I don’t want my bond with senpai to be gone. Also if senpai reject me from the bottom of your heart I will even give up, but like this won’t the both of us will just get sad?”

“...You cannot do something like a proper kiss anyway...”

“I’m sorry, but that time there was no other choice except to kiss.”

Kazuha-senpai fell into a dead-end because she had no outlet for her emotions, she was slightly trembling with a bright red face. Then suddenly “WAA—!” she yelled and pounded at Kazuki’s chest *poka poka* with both hands repeatedly.

“Even though you don’t really like me that much! Just let me go already—!!”

Kazuki hugged Kazuha-senpai tightly altogether with the arms that were hitting him.

“Why is senpai thinking like that? There is no way I don’t like anything about senpai.”

Just like what Mio said, his own feelings had to be conveyed completely.

Exhaust all my words.

“The same magic swordsman like me, you love kenjutsu beyond all else rather than Summoning Magic. Even when you were in the very bottom of failure, you kept trying to crawl up with your sword and hard effort. That figure of senpai made me arbitrarily think of you as a companion that is similar with me.”

“Don’t just think of me as someone similar with you as you please. At any rate, someone like me is completely weak...”

“Please don’t talk like that, I want to become stronger together with senpai.”

“If you think like that, doesn’t that mean you only see me as a swordsman and nothing else...”

He thought it was a little unexpected. Senpai’s way of talking just now could be thought as behaving like a spoilt child that wanted to depend on him.

“That’s not true. Senpai is a lovely person with that straight forward personality of yours. You scold me not to hurt girls. I was anxious whether I was hated by senpai or not but senpai came to rely on me for your kenjutsu. Through one thing or another senpai worked really hard for the sake of my battle election that didn’t have any connection at all with senpai. You also cooperated with me even though it was for saving Karin who was an enemy...”

The more he looked back at his memory, the more he realized that Kazuha-senpai was a [good person].

“And then you got angry, you laughed, you got angry to hide your shyness... senpai is an energetic lovely girl. I don't want to see such senpai to have a sad face.”

“...Just like everyone else?”

“Yes. Just like everyone else, senpai is precious for me.”

“Even though you understand my feelings you still say something like that, how unfair...”

Certainly it might be unfair. But he had decided not to do anything unfair. It doesn't matter even I become a pet or I become someone with a harem, either way I will devote my everything for my precious people.

“Kazuha-senpai. It's okay even if it is not immediately right now, so please recognize me. Because for the sake of that, I will continue to do romantic things for senpai. And then...I will kiss senpai one more time.”

Kazuki proclaimed such in Kazuha-senpai's ear while hugging her body tightly. Senpai groaned “uuuu...” while burying her face into Kazuki's chest—an avatar of a small key flew to Kazuki.

It was the proof of positivity level that surpassed a value of 65. She didn't hate him, on the contrary.

“Senpai, just now, your positivity level had gone up.”

“Wha!?” Kazuha-senpai opened her eyes wide, “Release me, release me release me release me alreadyyy—!!” She struggled violently and ran away from Kazuki's arms. And then without delay she speedily slipped away through Kazuki's side.

“I really...really really don't like someone like you at all—!!”

After shouting that, she turned her back to Kazuki and dashed away.

“Kazuha-senpai, let’s eat lunch.”

—From there on every time Kazuki had time between his work as the Chief Student Council President, he showed his face as much as possible in front of Kazuha-senpai. If the wording was changed that just meant that he followed Kazuha-senpai around.

“Hayashizaki...from now on I’m buying from the canteen...”

Seeing Kazuki who suddenly appeared out of nowhere, Kazuha-senpai showed a forced scowl.

“I know, I heard from Kohaku. Usually senpai ate Kohaku’s homemade box lunch together with her at the abandoned clubroom, but unexpectedly she has work in the Sword Division’s student council during the lunch break so senpai is having bread from canteen right? But isn’t it lonely to just eat bread alone?”

Because of the Chief Student Council President’s sudden entrance, the surrounding students of the Sword Division were making a stir.

“He is taking consideration for Tsukahara-san who lost her lunch companion.”

“The Chief President[\[8\]](#) is so kind~”

Listening on the surrounding’s conversations, Kazuha-senpai was grumbling “gunu” and making a bitter face. Kazuki too was a little surprised on the surrounding’s reaction and he looked around restlessly, but then he chose not to mind and continued the talk.

“Tha, that might be so but...there is no reason to eat together with you just because of that.”

“Senpai, didn’t you say before that my lunch box was delicious?”

“Even the bread from canteen is tasty.” Kazuha-senpai turned her back in a huff.

“Hohou...does senpai like bread that much? A cheap bread with cheap quality that has unbalanced nutrition. ...Senpai’s desire to improve yourself as a swordsman is only to that degree in the end.”

The canteen of the Sword Division, because it wasn’t provided with satisfactory budget until now by the Knight Academy, they only stocked up from vendors that couldn’t be said to be first class. Of course this matter is also one of Kazuki and his group’s target for reformation.

“Wha, what did you say!” Against Kazuki’s cheap provocation, Kazuha-senpai turned back so quickly.

The moment she turned back, Kazuki took hold of Kazuha-senpai’s hand tightly,

“I brought senpai a box lunch with a more balanced nutrition, so let’s eat together. I won’t overlook this aspect as your master in sword.”

From Kazuha-senpai whose hand was caught, a heart mark came flying. However Kazuha-senpai still resisted some more.

“Do, don’t grip my hand! You are just too overbearing!!”

“Hayashizaki-kun is so kind—!” “Don’t tell me you are refusing Chief President’s invitation, don’t be like that Tsukahara-san.”

The surrounding’s conversations were in Kazuki’s side. Kazuha-senpai was groaning “gununu”, and she continued to get dragged away by Kazuki. Just like that the both of them walked to the abandoned clubroom.

“Senpai, your positivity level has just went up a little again you know?”

“You lie-! I don’t feel happy for even a tiny little bit being treated like this—!!”

Kazuha-senpai kicked and struggled in vexation.

“Ah, senpai. I forgot to prepare the chopsticks for two people. There is no other way except to feed senpai with ‘aa—n’ using my chopstick then.”

“Youuu—!!”

Of course there was no way he could devote all his time just following Kazuha-senpai around.

Around the start of June, finally the first edition of the academy newspaper was finished in the form of data at the student council room.

Next they only need to print it and they would be in a situation where they could distribute it to the whole students of the school.

The content was first about the introduction of Kazuki who became the Chief Student Council President and his declaration of opinion in the form of words, and also the introduction of the Magic Division and the Sword Division’s student councils. They also especially took picture of the introduced characters and published it in the newspaper.

And then the introduction of various policies that Kazuki thought he wanted to perform from now on, and also the collection of opinions from the students regarding his policy. It became that students could express their opinion by mailing it to the student council.

Furthermore the newspaper also consolidated the fundamental introduction of the Magic Division and the Sword Division. It was because the Magic Division and the Sword Division didn’t know of most things about each other. What kind of system each Division had, what kind of classes they received, what kind of activity they spent their time with...the first edition of the newspaper became really varied in its content.

“Even though I wanted to write about battle articles if there is leftover space, or maybe a poem corner.”

Mio pouted her lips and booed. Well, he had the feeling that he wanted to try and read such things though.

“The committee chairman had also done her best and reduced her sleeping time you know?”

Yumeno-san had the color of exhaustion peeking out a little in her expression, but she directed him a smiling face filled with a sense of accomplishment.

“After that for the time being, we are going to have Headmaster Amasaki do the last check including the design. Though I think there will be no problem, because he had looked over the main manuscript.”

When Kazuki murmured that, the monitor that was attached on the wall of the student council room made a ‘putsun’ sound. It was receiving a signal and started automatically. In the monitor, Headmaster Amasaki’s face was projected.

This monitor was the hotline that connected the staff room with the student council room.

{Hayashizaki Kazuki...not just you but everyone else seems to be present. Well fine.}

“Headmaster? We are just finishing the academy newspaper here. We have also sent the data to the headmaster’s address but...do you have any business?”

The time from when they had send the newspaper data and him contacting right now was too fast for him to have finished checking already.

{This is something that I’m really not clear too so I’m going right to the point...the Board Chairman Takasugi had disappeared.}

“...What did you say? What is the meaning of this?”

{That’s why I also don’t get it. He didn’t even leave a note of explanation, there is no trace of an incident. It’s just so sudden, that bastard’s figure vanished just like that. Even the guy’s family cannot be contacted. There was a search request coming from the Knight Order.}

His family too, did that mean that Takasugi brothers had also disappeared.

{Because of that there will be a new Board Chairman coming in the near time. The front page for the newspaper’s next issue is decided already with this big scoop isn’t it? Hahhahaha.}

“...What hahhahaha, this is not the time.” Kaguya-senpai was making an amazed face with all her heart.

After leaving behind a careless laugh, the communication was cut.

Board Chairman Takasugi—all of his student protégées lost in the general election. Hayashi Shizuka also failed in her assassination of Hayashizaki Kazuki. Had he judged that he had no business anymore in this academy?

Even so there was supposed to be some value left that could be used in the position of Board Chairman....

In the end it ended with their inability to grasp any proof of that man’s true colors.

In the end their exaltation of finishing the newspaper was poured with cold water completely by this unknown uneasiness.

Part 6

The night of the same day.

Kazuki together with Kaguya-senpai and Koyuki, these three people were doing card games in Kaguya-senpai's room.

Reading the opponent's thought and building the road to victory with [strategic thinking], for Kazuki who had experienced a lot of matches as a swordsman this card game was something familiar. However Kaguya-senpai and Koyuki were also extraordinarily strong opponents in brain-using game, the match was being well contested.

Koyuki who was set up by Kazuki and Kaguya-senpai and fell into the last place showed a lovely sulky look with her cheeks bulging. During that time Kazuki's cell phone rang out.

“WATCH THE NEWS RIGHT NOW!”

It was Headmaster Amasaki's loud voice with volume so loud to the degree that almost made his defensive magic power activate to protect his eardrum. When Kazuki tried to turn on the TV while he was soothing Koyuki who was silently burning for revenge, from the living room in the first floor “Kazuki, Kaguya, this is bad!” Hikaru-senpai's voice came calling them.

The three people including Kazuki descended down from the room in the second floor to the living room in the first floor. Their group was also added with Mio who heard the commotion. In the living room, Hikaru-senpai, Lotte and Karin were becoming fixed on the TV.

It looked like this group of three people were originally watching anime. However what was currently projected in the living room's large screen TV that was bigger compared to the TV in their room was a totally different image.

{...This is a relay from a helicopter. Please look, The Knight Order's subdivision is burning! Amidst the flame and rubble, a state of fighting between Magika Stigmas can be confirmed!}

The reporter raised an upset voice with rough breath.

They could see that the news was transmitted in real time right from the actual location from the image's rough quality. It was an image of a town that was reduced down to rubble that reminded them of [Tokyo's Great Destruction], and then the [flame of war].

The knights that formed Heaven and Earth Formation to take control were unfolding a fierce battle with Magika Stigma.

{These Magic Dresses are Solomon 72 Pillar's.}

There was also a small clip of the news studio's situation in the screen. There was a man that looked like an expert in it where he pointed at the knights that were fighting in Heaven and Earth Formation and explained.

{Then they are the Knight Order, and then the opponent they are fighting...}

The news caster at his side asked for answers.

{The Magic Dress of the opposing Magika Stigma—there is nothing corresponding in the database even when we make the comparison, it's unidentified.}

{So in other words, they are illegal magicians?}

{Correct. Moreover this enemy is fairly in large number, they are moving to take control. ...Please look, right now they are showing action of taking prisoners by capturing the knights that used up all of their magic power and fainted. A movement that is taking control like this, it's a characteristic that could be seen from <Loki Einherjar> that is led by Loki from the Norse Mythology that had caused a lot of repeated terror attacks recently.}

{Then this attack, is something caused by that Loki?}

{However...this is something in a scale larger compared to Loki Einherjar until now...Moreover, look here, we can see figures of [swordsmen] that are supporting them. There shouldn't be any swordsman in Loki Einherjar. Also the Magic Dress of the illegal magicians, for some reason their design looked like Japanese style...}

The screen image shook fiercely. The reporter's panicked scream rang out.

{We are being aimed! The helicopter is aimed by them!!}

Intense lightning attack and fireball were heading to the screen one after another flying closer. The screen was disturbed together with explosive sound—after it blacked out, the screen changed into the news studio.

{The image just now come from Nagoya city, but information are coming in that repeated attacks are occurring in a large number of areas at the same time. The information is complicated but just now we have collected accurate information. Since the afternoon today there were reports of outbreak of internet and radio wave's disruption in west Japan but, presently, west Japan is in the state of being isolated from all kind of long range communication. The situation is that there is no information at all that come from the west side...}

Kazuki and Kaguya-senpai too were taken aback and rooted to the spot in front of the TV.

From the cell phone that he had even forgotten was still in a call state, he could hear Headmaster Amasaki's voice.

{In my side I'm also still in the middle of collecting information from the political world but, Toyama – Gifu – Aichi, the boundary line of the archipelago including those three, all the branches of the Knight Order located on the west side of that line were attacked, everyone of them had fallen. There are also branches that are still holding out but we cannot make contact, they had been already completely isolated. This is terro...no, this is coup d'état. On top of losing this country's western half police – national defense ability, information is also blockaded.}

After a moment for taking a breath, Headmaster Amasaki informed him of something that was hard to believe.

{In other words, the west Japan had parted from our country.}

Translator's Notes and References

- The name is a pun, chirari mean glance
- All these words is not sound effect but Hikaru herself that said it
- Japanese chess
- The kanji used for this could also mean tactic or strategy
- Niku(meat) futon. Female bedmate (whose body is likened to a fleshy cushion)
- Licking sound in Japanese
- I sincerely believe in Amitabha / Lord have mercy on me
- I shortened this because it seemed strange to say the full title in a casual conversation. Also because it's a pain to keep writing the full title.

Chapter 5 – Outbreak of War

Part 1

{Currently it is something only in name but not in reality, but based on the most humane world order that existed in the former era, the <International Law>, we proclaim the independence of West Japan right here!}

The morning of the next day, the one who proclaimed such thing inside the TV was—the man who once temporarily called as the Board Chairman in this academy, Takasugi Takayoshi. The footage looked like a bad joke.

At her side an image of Kaya making a peace sign toward the camera was projected in the screen.

That Board Chairman Takasugi was right there...there was no doubt that Hayashi Shizuka was included in their force.

Loki, Naiarlatoteh, Hayashi Shizuka...it was the worst trio!

{We are forming a new government in the West Japan that we occupied, levying tax on the people in the occupation area to cover the occupation expenses, and in compensation for that we promise the same social welfare the people enjoyed until now. Also as long as there is no intervention or act of hostility for war, we promise there will be no harm done to the general citizen.}

He clearly said the word war from his mouth.

{We proclaim right here. A true country that deified not Solomon 72 Pillar, but the legitimate gods of Japan...this is the founding of <Yamato>! There is the divine protection of the gods of Japan in us!!}

The early morning before they went to school, everyone was gathering in the living room of the Witch's Mansion. They were watching the news report while having breakfast. Everyone's face looked like they hadn't sleep well.

"...When the trace of Board Chairman Takasugi was followed, we knew that he went to the direction of west Japan. Not only Board Chairman Takasugi, the influential politicians of Kenshitou were also together with him. Their target, is this."

Headmaster Amasaki said with a loathsome face. The politicians' simultaneous migration. Most likely they were politicians under the patronage of China. Furthermore for some reason, it seemed that illegal Magika Stigmas whose bodies sheltered the Divas of Japanese Mythology were also added in their forces.

{Aside from Naiarlako, I am also gathering other strong allies rapidly after all.}

Kaya said this kind of thing. So the one that he called as strong allies was the Japanese Mythology.

"What in the world is going on with this?"

With a glare, Headmaster Amasaki's gaze moved on Kazuha-senpai.

"Eerrr, I am, anything..." Kazuha-senpai looked down coweringly.

{Kazuha didn't know anything you know? I didn't tell her after all.}

At her side, the avatar of Futsunushi no Kami who was a Diva of Japanese Mythology floated.

{It's just that a few days before this, my communication with the other Japanese Mythology became cut off.}

"Break in communication...your link with the Territory is cut off?"

Kaguya-senpai asked.

{Right, the story will be fast if you already understand the concept of Territory. Those guys are most likely, are in the process of becoming Wild God[1].}

“Wild God?” All present there returned a question after hearing that word they weren’t used to hear.

{The Diva of Japanese Mythology doesn’t really ask for people to be faithful to them. It’s because we are not a monotheism Mythology. However when they are not being cared for they grow restive. That is Wild God Transformation.}

...Kazuha-senpai built an altar at the abandoned clubroom where she properly conversed and played with Futsunushi no Kami. Mikohime[2]—that was Kazuha-senpai’s other name but, that title was not just for show.

{To fulfill her own dream of entering the Sword Division and fulfilling her duty as a shrine maiden at the same time, Kazuha installed an altar at the abandoned clubroom as you know. What a good natured girl. Hayashizaki Kazuki, taking this girl as wife will surely be excellent.}

“What are you saying, Bakanushi[3] no Kami!”

Kazuha-senpai’s face became bright red with indignation. Her positivity level had gone up to 70 with Kazuki following her around. Futsunushi no Kami was “GUWAHHAHHA!” laughing heartily.

“What are you guwahhahha-ing for! Why didn’t you tell us before that they were transforming into Wild God!!”

Headmaster Amasaki blew up his temper with force that almost burst the blood vessel of his head.

“But even if before this you heard about how they were going through Wild God Transformation, this kind of situation is just really unexpected right?”

In order to cover for Futsunushi no Kami, Leme materialized at Kazuki's side.

“...So you also know about that beforehand.”

When Kazuki asked her bitterly, Leme nodded “yeah” without showing any guilt. Kazuki spontaneously stretched that dark-skinned soft cheeks of her *biroon* with both his hands. “Stooopp~!”

{Besides the gods of Japanese Mythology don't interfere with each other mutually. Even with the other guys transforming into Wild God, I have no right to sooth them or become their intermediary.}

That was what Futsunushi no Kami said. If it was a Mythology with such disposition, then it couldn't be helped.

“So the Divas of Japanese Mythology who are going wild for some reason, is going along with Kenshitou, that's it huh.”

Their attempt to control the Knight Academy, the assassination attempt on Kazuki, their aim was not just limited to those things.

Surely because they failed on those matters that they joined hands with Kaya and moved onto this fearsome second phase. An armed revolt by touting the Japanese Mythology as their banner—it surely had the persuasion power to pull the people into their cause.

It shook the whole Japanese islands to the core. The residents of the occupied west Japan too, there was no doubt that they didn't necessarily react negatively regarding the founding of nation Yamato. There was persuasiveness in the existence called Japanese Mythology.

{...Regarding Yamato that is founded in the west Japan, when the government suspended the electric supply they demonstrated a countermeasure. This decision garnered a large backlash from the resident of west Japan.}

Hearing the words from the news program reporter, all who are present fell quiet.

The electricity supply of Japan in this current era was provided by the large scale sunlight heat power reactor Alchimedes System constructed in the human-made island megafloat that was located in the southern tip of Japan's territorial water. Its production capacity was extremely large, furthermore the recharging of the etherlite rechargeable battery that would never deteriorate no matter how many times it was recharged was performed in that place. The battery from the whole country were transported there and redistributed after the recharging to each household, realizing safe and moreover clean power in cheap price.

The government proclaimed that they wouldn't circulate the rechargeable battery to west Japan. So that Japan would still be okay even if the megafloat met with enemy attack, the thermal energy reactor and nuclear energy reactor from the previous era were left in reserve throughout the whole country as spare recharging facility, but with that the west Japan would be able to use those facilities too.

But with this, the breakdown between east Japan and west Japan had become a definite thing.

"...Yamato had already began creating a military boundary line that separated the islands into parts from the west Japan that they occupied. The circulation of trade between east Japan and west Japan has also been suspended, the people coming and going between the two places were also becoming impossible."

The freeway and railroad system that were the cornerstone of distribution were blockaded, the local streets were also being destroyed one by one. It was completely like the Berlin wall that divided East and West Germany or, the 38th parallel north[\[4\]](#) between the South Korea and the North Korea.

“Toyama Gifu Aichi, those three prefectures had fallen. And then Niigata – Nagano – Shizuoka that are bordering those area had become Japan’s current western border. In order for these prefectures to avoid further entanglement with Yamato’s invasion, the ordinary citizens’ evacuation is being hastened. The current situation is generally like that.”

Headmaster Amasaki that had connection with the government informed the situation to Kazuki and party.

“What is the Knight Academy going to do from now on? ...No, rather than saying the Knight Academy’s tendency, what is the Knight Order planning to do?”

The one who had the say in this situation was not Kazuki or even Headmaster Amasaki, but the Knight Order.

“Regarding that matter...the classes in this morning are cancelled. There is someone that wants to meet you guys. After that we are going to open an extraordinary general students meeting.”

“Someone who wants to meet us...?”

“It has been a long time huhh—, this mansion too ”

“It’s really a relief that nothing changed here[\[5\]](#). ...It looks like even without me here the cleaning is done thoroughly.”

The two people who appeared shortly at the entrance of the Witch’s Mansion murmured with deep feelings.

“Kanon-senpai, Akane-senpai...”

Kaguya-senpai who came to greet them had an expression dyed with surprise. Both their bodies were wrapped with the crisp white uniform of the Knight Order and they were donning a mantel that showed their status as officer cadet. For Kaguya-senpai to look up to them as senpai, in another words these people are....

“Yahoo—i, Kaguyan long time no see! The idol of the Witch Mansion Koudzuki Kanon has returned home here— ”[\[6\]](#)

The small statured woman of this group of two hugged Kaguya-senpai who greeted them at the entrance with lively vigor.

“You look healthy don’t you, Kaguya. Aren’t you becoming too lively when we were not here?”

At the side, the one more woman who looked adult said so.

“Tha, that kind of thing is not true you know.... Stop it—, senpai.”

Kaguya-senpai showed a stiff smiling face. When the two separated themselves from Kaguya-senpai, they looked around the living room of the Witch’s Mansion in nostalgia and then their eyes stopped at Kazuki who was looking at the situation from a distance.

“And, this boy is the rumored Chief Student Council President right? A male that entered the Magic Division, and then in one month he is already reigning as the Chief Student Council President that is connecting the Magic Division and the Sword Division. When I heard about it I thought whether if it was a joke or not.”

“But however[\[7\]](#) something like a Chief Student Council President is still too naïve! ...This top of the highest grade third year Kanon is so to speak...a super student council president here— ”

“A former student council president though.” The adult-like woman entered her tsukkomi there sharply.

“Nay, this Kanon-sama is a retired number[8] super idol student council president for sure— ”

“...It’s fine already, so stop blocking the entrance door, sit quickly! This trash!”

Liz Liza-sensei made her appearance from behind and then she kicked the butt of the small statured woman swiftly.

Looked like Liz Liza-sensei was the one who was leading these two here.

“Well then I’ll introduce myself once more. I was the vice student council president until last year, Yagumo Akane. Currently as a third year, I was training until yesterday at the Knight Order in Aichi regiment of Chubu jurisdiction division. ...Our pitiful battle was completely relayed from the helicopter, now we are the most disgraced regiment in Japan as you can see.”

The part of the great senior talked while releasing a powerless deep sigh in the living room.

“Don’t beat yourself with that Yagumo, Chubu jurisdiction was not the only one who took flight.”

Liz Liza-sensei encouraged her from the side.

“It’s lucky that the helicopter fell in the middle there! Because after that, the battle became really disastrous one-sidedly.... But the media crews that were on board the heli were able to escape ”

The one other great senpai talked with lively smiling face.

The both of them were in the actual location of that battle...so they took flight and escaped here.

“And then I’m the one who was doing the student council president until last year, Koudzuki Kanon! I’m the same like Akane and was interning in Aichiregiment, the Ultra Super Deluxe former student council president! So you are the chief student council president Hayashizaki Kazuki?”

This senpai also looked very bright in her behavior though tiredness was coloring her expression.

“Yes, I’m Hayashizaki Kazuki who was appointed as the chief student council president. But I’m still a first year so...both of you are the senpai of my senpai aren’t you, Koudzuki-sempai and Yagumo-senpai.”

“You can call me Akane-senpai. It’s puzzling if you are the only one who called me Yagumo when all the other children call me Akane. I want us unified. In exchange I will also call you Kazuki.”

Yagumo-senpai revised as Akane-senpai talked with a cool tone. He couldn’t feel any shyness or the like from her about man and woman calling each other by their given name. It was a tone that only cared about the inefficiency of the information that entered her ear.

“It’s also okay to call me Kanon-senpai! I and also you are a comrade of the Witch’s Mansion after all! ...But chief student council president...a special post that didn’t exist in our time...gununu...”

Even though at first Kanon-senpai directed a smiling face at Kazuki, immediately her eyes sharpened in a glare.

“...I am invincible from east to west to south to north and to the center – the super former student council president, don’t you forget it!!”

“Kanon, stop making up an incomprehensible title in antagonism. You are like a child like this.”

“I, I’m not a child! The one who said someone else is a child is the child herself!”

“Senpai, here is a tea.”

Hikaru-senpai shared cups of tea on top of the tray she brought in turn starting from Kanon-senpai.

“How nostalgic. Hikaru cannot do any other chores but, only in brewing black tea you are strictly discipline like this.”

“Right now Kazuki and the others are also skilled in making black tea though. But it has been a long time so I want to brew some.”

“Fufufu, so that’s it. You said a cute thing didn’t you, prince. ...Yes, it’s really delicious.”

For the first time Akane-senpai made a broad smile and showed a relaxed face.

Kazuki spontaneously stared at her face from the side while drinking his tea. Long slit eyes and slender bridge of the nose. The black tea suited the intellectual and cool atmosphere of her side face.

She had a similar atmosphere with Hikaru-senpai, but rather than calling her a prince she felt more like a [beautiful onee-sama[\[9\]](#)].

“Pikarun don’t get it!? My taste is for a lot of jam and honey to be mixed you know!”

Kanon-senpai was demanding while banging her palm *bam bam* on top of the table.

“Yes of course. Here is a specially made Russian tea[\[10\]](#).”

“Yahoo yahoo! This is the symbol of Pikaru in the tea time of the Witch’s Mansion When I was in the Knight Order I didn’t want to be made fool by the other senior knight so I drank black coffee. But I really don’t know what is the thinking of those guys that keep drinking such bitter and smelly liquid.”

“Everyone noticed that you forced yourself drinking that you know? It comes out in Kanon’s expression after all.

“Eh!? You lie, every time I drank it everyone were praising me ‘Kanon is so adult—’ right!?”

“They were making fun of you with that you know.”

Akane-senpai said it bluntly and coldly while drinking her tea.

“Eh...lies...ugyaAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!!”

While screaming, Kanon-senpai ‘BATA—N!’ collapsed on the table face down.

“...To, to be thought like that by them. I don’t want to face those guys anymore...”

Kanon-senpai’s big and round eyes became teary-eyed with tears, with a glance she looked at Koyuki.

“...Koyukin is really small just like usual huh—. You are more childish than even me. Fufun[\[11\]](#).”

Now that she mentioned it Koyuki had been coming and going the mansion since before she enrolled. She should be acquainted with these senpais.

“Kanon-senpai too didn’t really change that much did you? Just because you received a shock, please don’t vent your anger on me who is two years your junior.”

Koyuki counterattacked with cold scornful eyes. Kanon-senpai was “Mukii—! This impyertinent[\[12\]](#) Koyukin kid—!!” and kicked around her feet under the table.

“...First year of the Witch’s Mansion, an apprentice of the Witch’s Mansion, I’m Amasaki Mio.”

With uncharacteristic meekness, Mio introduced herself while shrinking into herself.

“Sword Division second year, Hayashizaki Kanae. I am the president of the Sword Division.” “Sword Division first year, Hikita Kohaku, vice president.”

“Errr...for some reason I’m here in this place, Tsukahara Kazuha of the Sword Division second year, just a commoner.”

Kanae and Kazuha-senpai were second years, but it seemed they were not really acquainted with these two great senpai.

“Fufufu.” When all the members had finished their self-introduction, Akane-senpai suddenly leaked out a chuckle.

“According to the rumor that is floating around, I heard that the chief student council president is popular with everyone. I wonder if everyone in this place is madly in love already? But if you’re not careful, the contraception nowadays is not as perfect as in the past after all.”

“Wha!? Co, contraception or any...” Kazuki spontaneously hitched his breath.

In the present era Japanese people, most of the young population was awakened as magician. Thereupon their magic power would be unconsciously invoke when they were doing action that was filled with strong emotions, and accident where it became a total hindrance to contraception had occurred repeatedly. The fact was that the power of love completely destroyed the undesired wall of contraception.

From such reason the current era female put even more importance to their chastity compared to the previous era. Kazuki too had to have the awareness of self-control all the more because of this.

“...If I am to have a child with Kazuki, then it doesn’t really...”

Mio murmured vacantly with a boiling red face. In an instant, the Witch’s Mansion became as silent as grave.

“...Fufun, no matter how much popular you said this guy is, surely Kaguyan and Pikarun still liked this charismatic retired number, Kanon-chan far more, right ”

With a broad grin Kano-senpai directed a smile to Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai.

“”I like Kazuki better♡”” Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai matched their voices and gave instant answers.

“You heartless bunch—!!” With ‘BATA—N’ Kanon-senpai collapsed.

Ehem, Akane-senpai cleared her throat.

“Well then, let’s moderate the digression of the talk and move on soon to the main problem.”

“First I want to inform you all of the current situation. First with the fall of the Knight Order in Chubu jurisdiction, Toyama Gifu Aichi, the three prefectures are occupied and the east Japan and the west Japan are divided into two parts. The line that is drawn in the area that bordered these three prefectures is the military boundary line—in other words the substantial national border.”

Akane-senpai spread out a map on top of the table, and then she traced the line she mentioned with her long finger smoothly.

“It looks like Yamato is going to invade even further from now on toward Niigata – Nagano – Shizuoka. To prepare for that the east Japan’s battle strength have to be concentrated in the front line. However that action has become a difficult thing to do. Even now, illegal magicians are rampaging in many area of east Japan. Even though we managed to suppress them but our hand become completely full because of that.”

“Loki’s troops are concealing themselves in east Japan and in order to obstruct us from concentrating our battle strength they are sporadically taking guerilla action, is that the gist of it?” Kazuki inquired.

“Right, like that. They are working together systematically. Yamato declared that they won’t lay their hand on the general public, but we think these guerilla fighters are planning to feign ignorance as if it’s unrelated to them.”

“That’s why we can’t ignore them. Concentrating the whole battle strength of east Japan in the front line...is something we cannot do. The guerilla fighters understand that and they are running around doing hit-and-away.”

Taking the general public as hostages, the Knight Orders became unable to mobilize the entirety of their fighting strength.

“On the other hand if you ask our current status, then we are a remnant of a defeated army. In the fight last night, the jurisdiction division commander was also captured as prisoner of war. Kanon then lead everyone to escape until here as the temporary leader.”

Akane-senpai explained the situation briskly, but doubt was surfacing in Kazuki and Kaguya-senpai’s face clearly.

The student council’s staff of the Knight Academy was treated as an officer cadet in the Knight Order.

Be that as it may, strictly speaking they were still nothing more than students, even with the jurisdiction division ‘s division commander captured normally it would be impossible for someone in that position to take the leader position.

“...It’s a story that sound like a joke, however putting aside the top brass, Kanon are excessively well liked by the average senior knights. Maybe because they were saved from the time of pinch by Kanon’s cheerfulness, everyone is saying to make Kanon as the leader. In the first place we are just a division of the army’s remnant where there is no order at all.”

“I’m beaten—, it’s really troublesome to be this popular— ”

“...She was also elected as the student council president at that time with that rhythm.”

Kaguya-senpai murmured. Kanon-senpai pulled her surrounding with a mascot-like unifying power and then Akane-senpai solidified their position in the practical business side. He could pictured it instantly and Kazuki nodded in understanding.

“We are added in the defense of Nigata – Nagano – Shizuoka and we have to counterattack and recapture Chubu jurisdiction when we see a chance. However the battle strength of the defense army in the front line is insufficient with only us as addition. It would still take time for the other area to suppress the guerilla before they could send reinforcement.... With that we took along one part of our comrade and come along to this academy without sleep.”

“Without sleep...that’s why Kanon-senpai is more anno...high-tensioned than usual like this.”

Kaguya-senpai fixed what she almost say in purposeful manner. “Kaguyan youu—” Kanon-senpai made a fuss.

“Hmph, I’m not happy at all even if you suddenly change your attitude like that okayy ”

When Kaguya-senpai easily changed her attitude suddenly, Kanon-senpai grinned brightly in a happy way.

“Akane-senpai, thank you for your hard work.” Hikaru-senpai thanked Akane-senpai with sincere expression.

“Fufufu, thank you. ...So because of that reason this is the main topic. We want to make a request as a Quest for the Knight Academy to help us. We want to receive the favor for the elite Magika Stigmas and swordsmen of the Knight Academy led by the Chief Student Council President Hayashizaki Kazuki to be added to our force.”

In short what Headmaster Amasaki said before about opening an extraordinary general student meeting was in the purpose of preparing for taking the application of the participants for this quest in large-scale.

The students of the Knight Academy had also been experiencing real battle in the form of Quest until now, but the request this time was obviously in a different dimension than the [assistance] until now.

They are asking for the students to participate in a [war] where even the real knights themselves had no experience for it.

Currently the Knight Order was in a pressing crisis to the degree that they had to issue this request.

“It might be difficult for students who are still halfway through the curriculum to take a disciplined tactical action. However it’s fortunate that a Chief Student Council President that united the Magic Division and the Sword Division was born in this kind of timing. If it’s you then you should be able to collect this academy into one unified group right?”

Akane-senpai directed a challenging smile at Kazuki’s way. Looked like Headmaster Amasaki had already acknowledged this request.

There was no need for any worry, right now Kaya and former Board Chairman Takasugi were enemies that need to be defeated. The ideal that they crowed around was just something fake. That ghastly fake was going to swallow the people and [encroach] this country.....

“Of course we will cooperate. I too think that we can’t stay like this.”

“That’s good, it looks like a gallant person has been selected as the Chief Student Council President.”

Akame-senpai whose expression was colored with exhaustion smiled cheerfully to Kazuki.

“However don’t make a misunderstanding, Chief Student Council President! Until the end the leader is this Charismatic Super Former Student Council President, the Koudzuki Kanon ”

Kanon-senpai faced Kazuki and winked while making a side peace- sign.

Kazuki stood in front of the mike and looked down from the stage on the students of the whole school who lined up in a row inside the auditorium.

The sight was just like the sight of the few days ago. However right now, the meaning of this meeting had changed drastically from before.

“I think, everyone has already know of what happened in west Japan yesterday. It is thought that the invasion of Yamato is still continuing, but because of the guerilla war that the illegal magicians conducted repeatedly in many areas, the Knight Order is unable to concentrate their battle strength for the sake of counterattack. Accordingly the Knight Order issued a request directed for the high ranked students of our Knight Academy in the shape of Quest for participation in war.”

Even though he was in the middle of speaking, the students were making a stir.

“This is similar with a normal quest where it depends on the discretionary of the students, by no way this is a forced conscription to be a soldier. And then it become something that is followed with scale, difficulty, and danger in different degree compared to the usual quest. Nevertheless we are pressed by circumstance for applicants to form an independent corps in a scale that is only possible for this Knight Academy. Perhaps you are still in a panic from this sudden development and your heart is still not prepared, but the training that we piled up day after day until now are supposed for the purpose of standing against this kind of difficulty. Those people who are not merely panicking, but also finding a spark of heated desire inside them wishing to challenge this difficulty, please volunteer for this quest without fail.”

Heated applause was occurring provoked by those words. Then he passed the stage to Headmaster Amasaki.

Headmaster Amasaki explained the conditions and rewards for volunteering.

Conditions—to prevent student who didn't have sufficient strength and experience to become volunteer soldier, application was limited only for students within certain rank and quest accomplishment.

Let alone the first year students of the Magic Division who had experience participating in Quest, even the number of students who had finally succeed in contracting with their Diva and could not even chant level 1 magic was not few.

Rewards—The usual Quest was purely for the sake of rank up evaluation, but if the quest this time achieved a success then the Knight Order itself would record their conspicuous effort.

In another words this was not for the sake of rank up evaluation but for the sake of their future evaluation.

After Kazuki awakened their passion, Headmaster Amasaki's explanation awakened the calm prudence in the auditorium.

“The list of the volunteers is complete.”

Saying so, Yumeno-san handed out the print-out. The data consolidation was performed by the newspaper committee members. Seeing their dedication even in something that was not included in their original work, Kazuki returned a word of thanks.

“Thank you, was it difficult?”

The cramped student council room had been transformed into operation headquarter. Everyone was gathering here.

“Not at all...approximately 150 people were signing up, so if everyone cooperated than it's only to that extent.”

Kazuki looked at the data briefly. The proportion between the Magika Stigma and the swordsmen were around 1:2. In the first place the number of students in the Sword Division was a lot more, that ratio was more or less the ratio of students between the divisions.

150 people—it was a fair number to form an independent corps that could move freely.

The battle force of the Knight Order, that is the <Knight> was roughly numbered around 2400 people in total. With the number of student that graduated from the Knight Academy was in total 300 people in one year, because the active duty period of the Knight was from 18-25 years old where they would enter the peak of their magic power after 8 years, the number became like this every year.

This 2400 people were assigned at eight jurisdiction zone that were Hokkaido – Tohoku – Kantoukoushin'etsu – Chubu – Kinki – Chugoku – Shikoku – Kyuushuu. There was difference in numbers according to the jurisdiction zone, but there were around 300 personnel in one jurisdiction zone. This was the <Division>.

Below that jurisdiction zone division, a <regiment> was placed in each prefecture. This regiment was mostly in the scale below 100 people. And below that regiment existed the smallest unit of <platoon> where it consisted of several people each.

...A military force of 2400 people strong on the whole, if it was compared with the military in the era where there was no magic it was a really small scale force. To start with the reason of this was first because human who could use Summoning Magic was limited, and also because only a select few of elite swordsmen were chosen. The quality was far more important than a mere number.

And then the second reason that was raised was because there was no other branch of the army except the two categories of Magika Stigma and swordsman. The modern weapons that need colossal resources to be transported and consumed while fighting didn't exist anymore. The supply needed at worst was only meal and water to suffice. Even those supplies, if the grass was changed to become edible or dirty water was changed into drinkable water using alchemy to procure supply locally, there was many way to compensate.

Everything was fine as long as the combat force itself arrived, personnel needed for weapons repair and supply was not needed at all.

...Such thing, even Kazuki had learned around that much in class.

Manufacturing weapons for the people's general mobilization and conscripting a great number of general public as soldier, and yet most of those personnel were driven into maintenance control of weapons rather actual fighting, brandishing those fossilized weapons and conducting <all-out war> like the time of World War. If the current era was compared to that old time, this compactness felt like they were returned to the ancient times of their ancestor. No, in fact, they really had returned to the time of their ancestor.

Deciding the outcome of battle not by weapon but by hero—like the war in the era of mythology.

“Is Yumeno-san volunteering too?” Inside the list, Kazuki found the girl's name too.

“Yes...it's a little scary but, I'm worried.”

“What you mean by worried is, by any chance...”

“My parent's home is in Kyoto.”

From Kazuki's side, Kohaku too leaked out an empathic voice to Yumeno-san.

“...This one too is from Kyushu. It's too far and the situation there is the hardest to grasp. As expected it make one feels a little worried.”

Regardless of how dangerous this quest was, a lot of the students' reason to gather and volunteer was also because of this. The Knight Academy gathered the students from the whole country—what would happen to the west Japan, many of the students' heart were crushed with feeling of anxiety.

“Yosh, the volunteers had been gathered with this.”

Kanon-senpai and Akane-senpai came along to the student council room.

Behind them several female wearing the Knight Order uniform were also following along in succession.

One person among them was, “Never thought I’ll be going back to the Knight Academy in this shape” and laughed ironically.

“From among the people that escaped together with us, the third years that are in the middle of training also want to come together. Because everyone said that they want to come back to the Knight Academy after so long. Though let’s omit the introduction.”

“Ee—, that’s really mean Akane—! Even though I also want to become acquainted with Chief President-san!”

After one person raised their voice, the whole third years started to make a ruckus ‘kya kya’.

“Awe—some! There is really a male wearing the uniform of the Magic Division!” “He really look better than those swordsmen of the Knight Order!” “So unfair Otonashi Kaguya! It should be more effective if you are the one that is in the field so switch with me!”

Kazuki faltered from the impolite gazes of the girls. Seeing that they immediately “He is shy—!” and such voices were raised. They were two years older than him so they felt like an older lady to him for the most part and it made him felt timid.

“Fufufu, a timid Kazuki is so cute. It make me want to hug him and break his neck...”

Mixed with the high pitched voice of the third year girls...he could hear a voice that said strange words in a deep voice.

“Eh?” Thinking it was strange he directed his gaze at the direction of the voice. There at the end of the line of the third years who were wearing white knight order uniforms, three woman wearing black Einherjar uniform were secretly coming along. The third years seemingly not noticing them were “Eh, no way, what is this people say...” and got startled.

“Who, who are you...” Kanon-senpai asked timidly with eyes as if she was seeing a degenerate.

“Fufufu, I am...Beatrix-chan!”

“...Hey, why is the captain recently, she got so crazy about adding ‘chan’ to her own name?”

“She learned that in Japan a cute girl had ‘chan’ added after their name...it seems she is planning to appeal as a cute girl like this.”[\[13\]](#)

Behind Beatrix, Damian and Eleonora were exchanging conversation in secret.

“Cute girl? Isn’t the captain could be mistaken as a wild gorilla...”

“FUNN!” Beatrix visited a lariat on Damian, that small statured body was blown away until the end of the corridor. ...Kazuki was not looking at that pleasant exchange.

“Beatrix, why are you here...”

“I heard that you are forming a unit to counterattack the revolting west Japan see. Because of that we who have no ties of obligation the most and can move freely are the one that get dispatched at the foremost. And also...Loki is in the west Japan right? He is most likely there.

“We are not hearing about any of this though?” Akane-senpai questioned Beatrix in detail with a sullen expression.

“We are going on ahead and coming here where the movement speed will be faster rather than waiting for those slow procedure in the Knight Order got finished. Fufufu, though there is also me wanting to see Kazuki’s shocked face that made me hurrying here.”

“Don’t take every single one of your action with the purpose of making me shocked. It really made me got surprised.”

In front of Kazuki’s eye, a magic vision that could only be seen by Kazuki floated.

Beatrix—72 Damian—27 Eleonora—22

...Positivity level. It was temporary, but it was a display of proof that they were becoming a comrade that was going to fight together with the King of Solomon. There was also a case like this where Kaya’s positivity level appeared temporarily in his vision.

...However 72. This was already a positivity level where he could use her magic until level 2.

“I think they can be trusted, Akane-senpai. Loki who is included in Yamato’s force is also a sworn enemy for them after all. I have no doubt that they will become an important war potential.”

“Is that so? Well, if you said so.”

“Fuu—nn...well, isn’t it fine if they are strong? So then what are we going to do after this? Akane?”

Kanon-senpai looked back at Yagumo-senpai and tilted her head.

“We will organize these 150 volunteers as <Knight Academy regiment>. First we are going to compose platoons with the high ranked students as the platoon captain.”

Pushing out her face from Yumeno-san’s side, Akane-senpai peered into Yumeno-san’s PC screen.

“Let’s make 15 platoon of ten people. Otonashi Kaguya, Hoshikaze Hikaru, Hayashizaki Kanae, and Hikita Kohaku, these four people will establish four or five platoon each as company commanders. Even further above than this four people, Hayashizaki Kazuki will stand as the regimental commander.”

“I see, and then even higher than him is me right ”

An orderly organization chart rose to the fore in Kazuki’s head. With organization than the communication of order would also become smoother.

“The Einherjar too, they will follow Hayashizaki Kazuki as one platoon.”

“Kazuki’s subordinate? Just as I wish!” Beatrix gave a broad smile happily.

“Kaguya, Kanae-san, choose high ranked powerful students that have leadership quality from inside this list as platoon captain and form the platoons. As soon as the formation is over, we are going to head to Shizuoka garrison. Because we left behind the 200 strong soldiers that escaped together with us in Shizuoka.”

What she meant by garrison was the location where the soldiers were stationed. The word ‘base’ fitted Kazuki’s image more, but the word ‘base’ indicated a place that was equipped with particular modern facilities of the navy and the air force and the like. In regards to that, the force that the army was using didn’t need any special facility and had mobile position, that was why it was called garrison. In the era where the magicians became the main force of war, a fixed base was mostly unneeded and garrison basically became the main position of the army.

“200 people...is it?”

From the military force of 1200 people in the west Japan, only a sixth of that force was able to escape to east Japan.

Looking at Kazuki's whose thought came out in his expression, Akane-senpai looked down as if feeling a responsibility in this.

“With Chubu jurisdiction captured at the foremost, the archipelago was divided into parts completely. Because of that the knights that were fighting even further west than Chubu jurisdiction were unable to escape to east Japan. If only we could hold out more, we would be able to make a path of retreat however...”

“However it's not like the remaining 1000 people were all captured as prisoner of war. Even if they couldn't escape to east Japan, they went into hiding at town and became resistances that still continue to fight even now. There should be many knights that are like that there! The one who is commencing guerilla war is not only that side!!”

Kanon-senpai talked with bright voice to raise hope. Hearing that Akane-senpai raised her face.

“Most likely there are still some sporadic fighting continuing even now in west Japan, the enemy too cannot concentrated their battle strength. If not for that then Shizuoka was supposed to have fallen already.”

The illegal magicians that were being guerilla fighters in east Japan, the resistance activities of the scattered knights in west Japan. The shape of the war had become where the two sides mutually obstructed the opponent from concentrating their battle strength with some nuisance.

“The remnants soldier and the Knight Academy regiment...so to speak <Kanon independent brigade> that is 350 strong in total, this is how many battle strength we can gather from east Japan...that total amount will become the battle strength for counter attack, we...”

After talking until that far with commanding voice, Akane-senpai's head nodded off. The senpai who was peering at the PC screen from the side just like that collapsed down on top of Yumeno-san powerlessly.

“Akane! Are you okay!?” Kanon-senpai supported that body in panic.

“...Sorry, I'm okay. I only feel a little lightheaded...”

“Everyone is working nonstop without eating and drinking, but because you burdened yourself as if it's only your fault.... Sorry, Knight Academy's everyone, in any event we are going to depart after taking just a little rest in the academy. Really just for a little.”

Kazuki suddenly looked at the clock. Just in right timing, now it was already the lunch break.

“Then...Kanon-senpai! I'm going to make some meals that will make you energetic!”

Kanon-senpai stared in wonder. “That...is not the job of the Chief Student Council President right?”

Part 2

Without any sound or vibration, a frame with streamlined shape that emitted blue light left behind the scenery outside the window.

Using the new metal born from alchemy, <Mythril> abundantly, the <Magic Light Train> ran by receiving assistance of Psychokinesis. Because of how rare mythril was even now, this train was never operated except when it was operated for trial by the staff privately.

But the rare mythril was prioritized to be circulated for the Knight Order, so [magic light train for military use] covered the whole country from Hokkaido until Kyushu. War road for military use was spread out running parallel with civilian's Shinkansen[\[14\]](#). It could transport the knights to the major cities throughout the whole country with capacity easily surpassing 1000 people.

There was also criticism on the military's monopoly on mythrils, but an efficient transportation method was essential for the Knight Order that was few in number to deal with all the incidents throughout the whole country of Japan.

The total of 150 Knight Academy students that was led by Kanon-senpai too settled themselves comfortably and headed to Shizuoka garrison. There was no noise, no need to decelerate the speed in curve, using the special characteristic of magic light train of always roughly putting out its full speed to its best, even the distance between Tokyo-Shizuoka wouldn't take more than one hour.

“We will arrive at Shizuoka soon after this. Let's soak at Atsumi's hot spring— ”

Kanon-senpai raised a cheer, they had arrived at Shizuoka before they even realized it.

The Knight Order's garrison at Shizuoka was a building that was once called Shizuoka prefectural police headquarters that had been expanded and remodeled. Once they disembarked the military train, the building was located in an immediate distance from the station just by walking.

After passing through a bombastic entrance made from stone, they were greeted with splendid buildings that were equipped with transmission tower and the like lining up, but in contrast with that splendor they couldn't feel any human presence anywhere in the area.

“Right now this place has been completely deserted. The main force of Shizuoka regiment had moved to the west prefectural border...in other words the area close to the military demarcation line with Yamato. There they had already set a temporary front line garrison and transfer there. It's for the sake of defense. It's just that we have to follow a track to reach there, so we are going to change into bus here."

Akane-senpai explained briskly while leading Kazuki and the others to the destination. Cars and buses for military use were lined up at a huge parking lot. If it was in the olden era then this place would be used to deploy tank or armored vehicle without doubt, but against magician, the shells of tank and armor of armored car were nothing more than a pointless expense cost.

Vehicle was not a method of battle but merely a means of transportation for knights.

Because of that reason these military use cars and buses that were lining up here had almost no difference with the passenger vehicle of civilian.

"Car is well used to assist us dealing with the incident within the prefecture, but it's the first time for me to use the bus."

Akane-senpai whispered. It means that big incident that need to collect and transport a lot of knights had never happened until now.

There was a driver that had been already in standby at the driver seat. The driver was not a specialist in magic battle but he seemed to belong under the rear support unit. He was a little older compared to the usual knight. Magic power declined at the peak of 20 years old. The knight who had reached a certain age and even more didn't manage to get promoted until management class would be reassigned to the rear support unit like this.

Kazuki and the others was pushed inside the rustic military bus that was painted in olive drab color traditional since the time of Self Defense Force until they were packed tightly. They couldn't possibly wish for a comfortable ride like the train that they had just ride before this. This uncomfortable ride really made them felt the [sense of the actual scene] of the Knight Order's work. The number of words the students spoke started to lessen naturally. Divided separately into four buses, Kazuki and the others headed to the military boundary line.

“Oh my, Kazuki. How pleasant it is to be able ride near you. I can’t help but feel a destined throbbing in my chest.”

Inside the bus that was packed tight like a crowded train, Miyabi-senpai was there in a distance where their bodies were in a distance of touching each other.

“...Looks like the men of the Sword Division were provided with exclusive bus for man and got crammed there, but you could ride with this bus aren’t you? Fufuu, so this is the benefit of being a swordsman of the Magic Division.”

“There was a different bus for that? They were saying that it’s okay to just ride this bus and I was pushed inside from my back.”

“There are only girls that will welcome to get jam packed together with you here you know?”

“...That’s not true. I don’t welcome you here.”

A quiet voice came from beside Miyabi-senpai. It was Shinobu-senpai.

“So Miyabi-senpai and Shinobu-senpai also volunteered.”

“For the moment, we believe that we are quite powerful even among the upperclassman. It’s not like there is no such laudable feeling inside me that want to fight for the world and for the people. Fufufu.”

After chuckling refreshingly, she added one more thing. “Moreover, our hometown is also under occupation.”

So Miyabi-senpai was also from west Japan.

Miyabi-senpai had a past where she was persecuted by her surrounding because she became an elf. Miyabi-senpai and others who were in the generation of [the first elves] should have been oppressed even more severely than Koyuki.

Such senpai was talking about her feeling of her hometown...was surely the proof that she had overcome her past and let the bygone be bygone. Even though her words of [for the world and for the people] were mixed with joking tone, but he could also feel the nobility in it.

“It’s fine even if that kind of place got totally destroyed.”

But Shinobu-senpai murmured such words vacantly.

“Don’t say such thing like it’s okay for something to get completely destroyed Shinobu. With the passing of time, the feeling of ourselves and our surrounding will also change and we might be able to think that maybe we could just let it go, isn’t that so? If something got destroyed then that’s the end of it you know?”

In fact, the discrimination against elf was thinning as the years went by. It was because of the conjecture from telepathy scan that the elf’s mind structure had no difference at all with normal human, and also elves that became knight cadet capitalizing in their excellent trait in magic power or becoming famous as young alchemist had began to appear here and there.

The product of human experiment—such truth still hadn’t been made public to the society, but a part of the politicians that knew the truth influenced the mass media, and indirectly began to form the public opinion to protect the human right of elf. From now on their situation would surely become better gradually.

Although she was not the person concerned herself, Shinobu-senpai also had a past that deserved her resentment. It seemed that resentment didn’t simply fade however....

“...There is nothing that change. Whether the surrounding bunches, or my feeling...”

Shinobu-senpai rejected all change. Even the fact that Miyabi-senpai transformed into elf had not been recognized by her. Inside Shinobu-senpai’s eyes, it seemed she was seeing Miyabi-senpai with black hair.

Reality denial—even in the case where the truth was really obvious, if accepting that truth caused a great uneasiness then that person would reject accepting that truth, it was that kind of mental state.

“You said that nothing change, don’t you feel a locked up feeling that choked your breath from that unchanged situation?”

“!” Against Kazuki’s question, Shinobu-senpai’s expression tightened rigidly with hollowness somewhere in it, then she glared at Kazuki. From the side, Miyabi-senpai embraced Shinobu-senpai’s face in her arms.

“...Kazuki, thank you. This child even now should be feeling it still. Also for a person to think of us and talked this much, in this ten odd years you are the first...”

“...Nee-sama, please don’t say such irresponsible thing! This kind of guy is nothing!!”

Shinobu-senpai separated herself from Miyabi-senpai’s hand and tried to take distance from Kazuki. However she crashed against other students inside the cramped bus making “Wait” troubled voice coming at her.

“...If it’s not because Nee-sama is participating then I’m not going to participate in this kind of Quest. To get stuffed inside stuffy air like this...”

“Please be patient.” Miyabi-senpai attempted to sooth Shinobu-senpai and embraced her head once more.

From there she moved her gaze outside the window.

“I’m looking forward to this. To fight as a knight, as a hero, like that.”

The early afternoon sunlight coming from outside was reflected at Miyabi-senpai’s moist red eyes in a glisten.

“...If I make conspicuous service in this Quest, then this me who is an elf, will be thanked by everyone...such thing might also happen don’t you think so?”

Kazuki too looked at outside the window. Shizuoka west side—according to the signboard content that they just passed they were approaching the area around the Hamamatsu city. However the grave silent that was really unnatural didn't show any sign of people.

Akane-senpai who was standing beside the driver seat opened her mouth.

“The residents in the vicinity of the military boundary line has already been evacuated. This area has been emptied. Because we won't know what kind of damage will happen if the other side invaded and it turned into defensive battle.”

This urban areas might transform into a battlefield, it made Kazuki pondered once more. How much damage would come out in the coming battle? Even the public houses and the like might get toppled like domino from offensive magic.

If Yamato really came invading, they would surely march to the garrison aiming for the Knight Order there. Exterminating the knights – making them retreat with their defensive ability lost, all for the sake of completing the occupation.

Where should the knights met the enemies? Should they unfolded border war at the military boundary line, or should they hole in the garrison and brought the battle into a siege battle, or else to reduce the damage to the surrounding should they lure the enemy skillfully outside the urban areas?

In this magic war where everything was still an unknown area, tactics that could be called as established tactics didn't exist.

Suddenly the bus stepped on the emergency brake, the jam packed students staggered and pitched forward as if to fall.

When he peeked at the front glass far at the front wondering if something happened, four or five man and woman carrying large baggage on their shoulders were walking this way from the opposite side of the road that was supposed to be empty from people.

Kanon-senpai disembarked from the bus and walked approaching those people and said a few words.

After senpai nodded with ‘uh-huh’ listening to the people she returned. Then she explained the circumstances to the students.

“...Looks like people that got delayed in evacuating. Surely they have a lingering attachment to their city and home and didn’t leave until the last minute. Even if they rebuild their home again, the memories cannot be recovered after all...”

Thanks to alchemy, construction cost for house and building and road and the like could be suppressed far cheaper than the previous era. Actually, with Kazuki’s fight against Loki and the final match of battle election, the fountain plaza had been destroyed twice, however he had witnessed how it was immediately repaired just like before it was destroyed.

However people who couldn’t feel good even though the broken thing was returned back into a brand new article existed in great number in society.

After seeing off those men and women passing through beside the bus, they departed once more.

—After that, for a while some similar occurrences happened a few more times. When they had advanced just for a little, they would immediately encountered some people that were in the middle of evacuation. Just like the first encounter Kanon-senpai would get down from the bus and listen to their story one by one, but gradually the bus kept advancing forward without stopping even when they encountered more people without confirming each and everyone of refugees.

“...There are quite a lot aren't they, these people that are late in evacuating.”

While pressing close to Kazuki more than she needed to inside the bus that was jam packed like a sardine, Miyabi-senpai whispered on his ears.

Certainly there was a lot. Even though the people who were evacuating didn't necessarily need to use this road, they kept running into almost dozens of people in total here and there.

“...Kazuki-oniisan!” Suddenly he heard a panicked voice, Lotte pushed her way through the jam packed bus and ran to Kazuki's way. “What is it?” Kazuki embraced the girl.

“...It was the people who were evacuating just before, but it was from inside the bus so I cannot really perceive it clearly and I don't have much confidence on it desu but...”

Lotte prefaced her talk that she didn't really have any confidence in what she was going to say, but as if she had conviction in the feeling that she harbored, anxiety and trepidation came to the surface in her expression.

“Those people from before...harbored hostility toward this bus desu.”

—Lotte was a prodigy in telepathy. Even without exchanging words, the girl could perceive the emotion of the people around her. ...Hostility, she said? The refugees? Was it from how they had to evacuate so they harbored dissatisfaction toward the Knight Order? That was stupid.

...Then were they enemies? Were they secretly passing through the border and coming to this side for the sake of taking guerilla action inside east Japan? No, for dozens of sleeper agent to pass through the same route should be unconceivable.

Their aim was...to take the rear of the bus.

“Kanon-senpai! The refugees just now...!” Kazuki who became aware tried to call out in a loud voice but,

—Even earlier than him, Akane-senpai yelled some words in high emergency.

“Kanon! Magic power reaction from the front!! ...Offense magic is coming!!”

Kazuki whose attention was taken by his talk with Lotte noticed it too late. Magic power spring forth from further ahead in the road, it swell out as if rupturing—magic was invoked!

Several fire ball and rock came flying from the road ahead. One moment, the front glass of the bus looked like a screen of a shooting game. However they couldn't evade like in a game. The fireball impacted the front side of the bus, the bursting heat and shockwave fused the glass and armor. Right there many rocks were launched one after another, easily penetrating into the inside.

“The driver's protection-!!” Kanon-senpai yelled.

Fire ball with explosion nature got into the inside of the bus, the bus was blown up and pulverized.

Inside the blast explosion of the smashed apart bus frame, countless blue light of the students were shining. Just from having their vehicles blown out and got thrown outside wouldn't grant any damage to magicians who were protected by defensive magic power.

But, their head fell into chaos—the students who were thrown onto the street couldn't grasp the situation at all, they looked around restlessly in confusion while being enveloped in blue light inside the flame and smoke. And then from behind, of all things that could happen the following buses send the students flying. Those buses were also poured with offensive magic from the front and went through the same fate with the first bus.

“Form the Heaven and Earth Formation!” Akane-senpai yelled with desperate voice.

However the movements of the panicked students were dull.

Furthermore angry roar and footstep of a charge that was as if an earthquake was happening came from the road further ahead.

What came was several dozens of <swordmen>. Young people with common clothing like shirt and parka were charging this way holding Japanese katana in hand—Yamato’s army!

“Sword Division unit! Follow me!!” Kanae immediately reacted, she charged the enemy while yelling. “It’s okay not to think of anything, anyway just come with me!!”

Hearing that voice, the students of the Sword Division finally recovered from their confusion. A simple principle—remembering that it was fine to just follow the Sword Division’s strongest student council president blindly, they chased after her back.

Swordsmen and swordsmen clashed against each other. The sound of blades clashing informed the start of the engagement.

Yamato’s swordsmen were merely ordinary people with slightly stronger magic power that got incited by the politicians. When compared with the students of the Sword Division, they could even be said as a disorderly mob.

However the enemy’s rear guard—Yamato’s Magika Stigmas launched offensive magic one after another, the Sword Division students were blown away without even any time to bring the fight into a match of sword.

The Magika Stigmas’ of Yamato chanted their Summoning Magic while being possessed by their Diva.

The chanting time of this <Possession SummoningDrive> was short.

The students of the Magic Division had to support the swordsmen of the Sword Division.

Akane-senpai yelled her command to the Magic Division students who were still in a state of chaos.

“The students of the Magic Division come forward, chant defensive magic and low level magic to restrain the enemy!”

They had to come forward for the sake of confirming the enemy figure by sight so they could invoke the Summoning Magic. If they didn't settle the enemy into the <magic perception range> then the Summoning Magic couldn't be chanted.

Summoning Magic that was borrowing the power of Diva need the [recognition] of the Diva of [for what their strength would be used] by transmitting those intent in the shape of spell. Only by earning those [recognition] the Summoning Magic could be invoked. For the sake of that, first the Magika Stigma needed to perceive the enemy's existence clearly, and then they had to transmit the will to defeat that enemy to the Diva.

They had to catch the figure of the enemy. The students of the Magic Division advanced through the road that was still smoldering with smoke attempting to ascertain the enemy's sign while being protected by the frontline swordsmen.

And then they were [sighting] the illegal magicians of Yamato. Their bodies were dressed uniformly with Japanese style Magic Dress and they were accompanied with what seemed to be the avatars of Japanese Mythology's Divas at their side.

The students of the Magic Division were also starting their chanting all at once.

“Burnt to ashes of all you touch...o scorching heat of rejection without any place to depend on! Self Burning!”

“First we start from hardening our defense right? ...Mirror oh mirror, lop off the gaze of unsightly person and their craving hand! Mirror Shield of Moon CircleMoon Ring – Mirror Field!!”

“Hmph. ...Thy wing bestowed by Belphegor, o <ice pillar of flame>! Cover and hide us, become the contradiction wall of irrationality! Cross Conflict!!”

Kazuki, also Miyabi-senpai and Shinobu-senpai attached defensive magic on the swordsmen.

“Dancing wing scattered sparks. Lingering wind of spiral, become a life gouging bullet! Flap and shoot! Barrett!!”

“O nihility of ancient times, become a freezing deep sigh that reside in the vacuum of this chest. To the flowing absolute silence, freeze and be silent... Glacier Wind!!”

“O gryphon crossing over the ocean, cause the wind of north pole with that wings well up the overturning rough wave...Northern Wave!”

Mio and Koyuki, also a great number of students invoked their attack magic with great urgency.

Defense and offense of magic had started. The enemies offensive magic were blocked by this side’s defensive magic, this side’s offensive magic blown away the enemy’ swordsman sporadically. Caught by the raging wave of magic, the swordsmen were tossed about.

...This was inefficient. Kazuki noticed. Conflicting elemental magic like ice and flame were launched at the same time without any prior thought and interfered with each other, weakening its power.

It might be good to divide the platoons of Magica Stigma in accordance with each element of magic that they used.

“Third years are to prepare high level magic! We are going to catch the whole herd in one throw!!”

Akane-senpai took the command of the battle, the third years was being protected at the very back and began their chanting.

Looking at that situation, Kazuki was “This is bad” and remembered.

“Akane-senpai! The rear is dangerous, the refugees from before might not be actually refugees!!”

“...What do you say!?” Akane-senpai directed an uncomprehending expression at him.

When Kazuki yelled, it was the same time with the sounds of angry yells and charging footsteps from behind.

When he turned back—from the back too, swordsmen of Yamato in casual clothing holding Japanese katana were approaching with the momentum of surging waves. It was the people that they saw off from inside the bus passing through them. They pretended to be refugees and hid Japanese katana inside their baggage, and then after choosing the best timing they turned back—for the sake of taking the back of the Heaven and Earth Formation.

...The third years who were completely defenseless in the middle of chanting were aimed. Akane-senpai went pale.

“Sword Division students, go back to the rear too! From the back too enemies are...!!”

But the swordsmen were also in the middle of fighting the enemies right in front of their eyes while being exposed under offensive magic, they couldn't possibly do such thing like turning their back. Besides to only pick one portion of the best swordsmen in a hurry to be allocated as rear guard in a good balance, executing such detailed order without any previous arrangement was impossible.

Whether they heard Akane-senpai's instruction or not, not even one of the swordsmen was moving in reaction of that command.

The one who reacted in the place of that was Kazuki.

“Beatrix, come with me!”

Not as a swordsman but as a magic swordsman, he would swing his sword.

At the same time, .....he called on a comrade he could rely on.[\[15\]](#)

“Kazuki, add [chan] when you are calling my name! Fuhahahaha...I will do a good fight, welcoming a good death, and hope to participate in even more battle of heaven! Divine protection of blood color in my eye! Berserk!!”

“It's a melee, just bring it on zee! ...We act in accordance of Hodur's wish, entrust the exaltation of battle in our body too! The blood and fat running in my sword the wartime fire of fury!! Stories Flame!”

“I have to do close quarter battle too? ...O billowing stormy sea, envelop my hand and become the whip that lashed at small thing! Undulating Sea SnakeFlöte Schlange!!”

Each one of the Einherjars who had close-range combat specialization went along behind Kazuki.

“I reach my hand to the height of Babel and become suppressor! In accordance with my life o lightning, praise the foolhardiness of the human race! Blitzkrieg!!”

“O unrivaled master, perform once more from beyond the dream! Along with the flame of transmutation, liberate the locked memory inside the silver mirror right here!! Kenki Tensei!!”

Lotte too equipped her electromagnetic lightning and followed after Kazuki, Kazuha-senpai summoned the phantom of swordsmen, “Kanamaki Jisai, Yoshioka Kenbou, Miyamoto Munisai, go!” she directed him toward the enemy.

“Just a mob of swordsmen, I’m going to test just how much resolve you all has in challenging us...”

Kaguya-senpai too, she plunged alone into the crowd of the swordsmen.

“...No hesitation even when thy curse also wound me...shared pain is my great joy! Cry and scream in the mirror reflection! Suicide Black!”

Kaguya-senpai’s figure was covered with black haze. The swordsmen of Yamato swung down their katana all at once at Kaguya-senpai—the scream from the reflected agony reverberated.

“O the god of death’s whispering voice tired of waiting for the visitor, resound widely and deeply, dye the dream with agony! Resound o evil sound of sadism! Ultra Violence!!”

Kaguya-senpai made the evil voice of Ultra Violence resounding. The swordsmen of Yamato were writhing around and lost their will to fight. He didn’t know for what purpose these bunches were added to the force of Yamato, but they didn’t have any determination that could make them fight with Kaguya-senpai.

The close-range combat capability of Kazuki and the others pushed back the disorderly mob of the swordsmen. The worst damage of having the rear that was in the middle of chanting got interrupted was averted, the third years breathed a sigh of relief and they got carried by a calm atmosphere.

The students had completely recovered from the mayhem and began to make a comeback in the battle progress.

However...was it fine to go like this.

The leading actor who was the first to protect the third years Kazuki harbored an out of place feeling inside his heart.

Performing an ambush at Kanon independent brigade that was made of the students of the Knight Academy when they were going to link up at Shizuoka as added reinforcement. And then the surprise attack by posing as refugees and circling to their back. That pincer attack tactics.

This tactic, it was impossible to be realized without the enemy inferring beforehand that today Kanon-senpai would pass through this road in exactly this time. Moreover this enemy force passed through the military boundary line that was supposed to be currently guarded by the Knight Order and invaded easily like this.

.....
..... •However way he thought about it, this was a surprise attack that should not exist.

“...Earth Lava FlowFire Stone Flood!”

Enemy’s large scale offensive magic—the asphalt of the road was developing cracks extensively, from there lava was bursting out. It rained down incessantly on the whole formation of the students.

On top of that magic destructive power, the trace of magic power wave in that magic made Kazuki gasped in realization.

...He had some experience with this magic power. The [Earth Snake] that was together with Kaya, this magic power owner was that man who was contracted with Midgardsomr. Loki’s gang was also added in this enemy force.

Defensive magic reduced the force of the lava flow and the students also endured with Resist. Even when the swordsmen fell down they immediately stood back up and slashed at the enemies, the Magika Stigma maintained their concentration and continued the chanting.

“Heart Disorder Heaven Dance Shinran Tenbu!”

Ame no Uzume—the avatar of Japanese Mythology’s entertainment god that was clad in bright crimson garment floated in the middle of the battlefield, then she started to dance with a twirl. The Sword Division students in the frontline that witnessed it wobbled, their sanity disappeared from their eyes, and they began attacking each other.

“If that kind of attack come than it’s my turn that I kept waiting for! ...I am to be the shrine maiden of sword. Rock cleaved, root torn, sin severed, that spirit sword of crushing evil right now in this hand! Draw sword, Futsu no Mitama!!”

Kazuha-senpai brandished the sword of crushing evil, returning the sanity of the swordsmen who lost their mind one after another.

“O goddess that arrive in the future accepting the abuse of people...change that darkness into deadly poison vomit it all around! Slander the foolishness of these people!! Poison Argument!!”

In reverse Mibu-senpai scattered bubbles of nerve poison and dulled the movement of the enemy swordsmen.

“Way to go, when you all calmed down properly, this side’s magic skill and support power is further above compared to the opponent!”

Kanon-senpai raised her voice and inspired everyone.

“We too are already finished with the chanting here! Brace yourself right now!!”

The third years that was protected and covered by Kazuki and the others were finally finishing with their chanting of high level magic successively. Finally the power of Magic Division’s highest school grade was made apparent—,

“Come on Akane! Match your breath, we are going to make a big haul for sure-!!”

“Right, Kanon!” Both of them lined up their shoulder and nodded to one another.

Kanon-senpai altered her clothes into a Magic Dress that emitted a clear bluish-white light.

At her side, an avatar of beautiful angel burning in blue flame was floating.

Kanon-senpai contracted Diva was—<Belial>. She was a god of Phoenicia similar with Baal, but she was an existence that was altered into the worst fallen angel by the Christianity.

“O angel covered with wounds waving the blue flag of rebellion...under the justification of [worthlessness] liberate the looked down silent anger! Blue Lotus that Descend from HeavenEmission Flare!!”

When Kanon-senpai commanded Belial, several streak of blue light poured down from heaven like lightning. That light spread out through the battlefield like an overflowing flood.

That was bluish-white flames. The flame changed color because of its high heat from red to blue and from blue to white—that heat quantity possessing [blue color] rivaled the energy possessed by the star in space.

The blue flame representing Belial’s fury spread out in the battlefield burning down the arrogant people. With force that even Kanon-senpai herself couldn’t hold back, friend and ally, everything in the battlefield was going to be swallowed....

—Akane-senpai too finished her chanting at the same time.

Akane-senpai was clad in Magic Dress that was similar with traditional garmentsheath dress of Egypt’s attire. At her side, face of owl and body of wolf, with snake as tail a figure of devil with atypical appearance was floating.

Akane-senpai's contracted Diva was—<Amon>. <Amon> of Egypt Mythology was likewise had its figure declined into devil as a god of paganism.

“To all phenomenon of heaven, riding the wind bursting out from those wings...o wind of god, wash away the foundation of the world and rule it as I saw fit! Divinity Elements TideRizomata Mastery!!”

Terrific wind burst out in Akane-senpai's surrounding. When Akane-senpai moved her hand like a conductor giving command, that wind was controlled in accordance with her desire, it was heading to Yamato's force and swept over them.

Every energy that existed in this battlefield—flame and water and lightning brought forth by magic were swallowed by that wind and they were flowing away inside it.

The wind of the god of atmosphere Amon put all energy under its rule and became a tidal current of power.

Even the raging mad blue flame that Kanon-senpai released, just before it swallowed and dragged even allies inside it, was entwined with Akane-senpai's wind of god. The wind of god rotated violently forming a sphere, pressing together the blue flame until it turned similar into a line of light inside the small sphere.

That light of fire was compressed even further until it was the size of a grain of light like a shining star in the night sky. —Condensing heat above 20000°C, an ultra density flame. He already couldn't understand how much energy it currently possessed.

—When Akane-senpai waved her hand once more, the grain of light became a line of light leapt and danced in the middle of the enemy formation. The swordsmen and magicians of the enemy faction that were touched by that line immediately collapsed. The extraordinary heat took away all their magic power in just a moment. With delicate direction Akane-senpai was running the line of light from one enemy to the next driving them just before an instant death.

Kanon-senpai produced an energy so enormous that even she couldn't control, while Akane-senpai amplified – controlled it precisely and distributed it to the enemies—it was a combination that really demonstrated both of their personality just as it was. With a silence as if a sparkler[16] was losing its light, the blue dot of light burned away all its flame. On the battlefield, dozens of enemies were lying down in unconsciousness.

Quality was far more above quantity in magic...this was a sight that really impressed that truth once more in him. Just two Magika Stigma had consigned dozens of times more enemy into oblivion in one attack.

It was a destructive power enough to brought about a complete change in the battle situation. ...As expected from third year. For the first time Kazuki really felt aware of that fact. And then the third years were not only these two.

The other ten people of the other third years that Kanon-senpai brought along too had finished the chanting of their high level magic all at once right at this time. The battle was over with this—everyone was able to be convinced of that.

The third years seniors directed their Targeting at the enemy formation and ended their chanting—at that time, an unlikely voice could be heard.

“Target change!”

It was a voice he had heard somewhere. The inside of Kazuki's head became pure white, his memory flipped over to the past. Where he had heard this voice was...when he was going in a date with Hikaru-senpai, that time when he was attacked by the students of the Magic Division that were brainwashed. The voice of Hayashi Shizuka.

This voice was when Hayashi Shizuka .....
.....gave out the command to the human she had brainwashed

Why was this voice, right here in this time....

When he turned his eyes to the direction of the voice, inside the crowd of Yamato's magician—Hayashi Shizuka was there. When her eyes met Kazuki, The face of the girl that looked like a noh mask[\[17\]](#) warped in a broad grin. An expression of triumph, ridiculing at Kazuki.

The next instant, an abnormality occurred at the magic power wave of the third years that were going to activate their magic.

Assaulted by a premonition of unknown terror, Kazuki directed his sight at the faces of the third years.

The expression of the third years made a complete change into an expressionless and soulless wax statue. Emotion fell out from their eyes, their mouths that were in the middle of chanting spell became half-opened.

Completely the same just like the students that attacked Kazuki at the public park, a blank face.

Post-hypnotism—as if when a fixed requirement was triggered their minds were suddenly converted into brainwashed condition.

The third years who were forming a rank of troops horizontally facing the enemy force changed their formation even though no one was commanding it. The five people in the right wing faced Kazuki in a twirl, the five people in the left wing faced Kanon-senpai's way in a twirl. And then the target of the magic that were in the verge of invocation—were overwritten to target Kazuki and Kanon-senpai.

A movement that was twisted forcibly by a third party's will. Kazuki couldn't Foresight such movement. With a delay that was really unlike Kazuki, he understood the situation. Third year's offensive magic in the scale of level 7-8, five of them at once were taking aim at him. Both evasion and defense wouldn't make it in time.

"Wh, why...!?" Kanon-senpai too was totally the same like him.

The girls were brainwashed without anyone noticing it. When...?

"O rage of the bottom of the earth...release the prohibition right here, reduce to ashes the arrogance on the earth with the ardour of ancient times...Lava Flow Eruption Volcanic Geyser."

"Time is circling drawing a circle, the history is repeated inevitably, awaken the once forgotten era...leave behind everything inside the dream, to the era of glacier...Absolute Ice World Ice Age."

"O unyelling sage Dantalion's infinite power of words...change the wisdom of eternity into blade, gouge out deeply the depth of heart, burn and crumble the reason with that interdiction...Last Word Last Word."

"Lethargy is changed into degeneration before long, tear is finally changed into blood, reverberating scream will surely change into ascending soul in the end...o Laruvaseed of malice lurking in the back of the world, wolf down the living soul...Festival of Nightmare Curse Stream."

"O beast where heaven's most important seven stars is residing in that body, descend down to this land while shaking down the earth, gulp down the stagnating people with those large jaw...Saturn's Great Crocodile Chronos Crocodile."

Enormous lava was, sublime freezing air was, thought wave that would destroy the mind was, revengeful ghost that would eat his soul was, fierce beast of the underworld was approaching Kazuki all at once.

A clear premonition of death froze his brain. Resist...no, to use general magic for things like reducing the might of five different kind of magic at the same time was impossible with the skill that he had. They got him!

“...DANGER!” At that time, there was only one person who could react against Kazuki’s predicament.

A surprise attack that couldn’t be reacted with Foresight. What could react against such attack was only strengthening of reflexes nerves.

[Berserk]—The magician that was able to do that, there was only one person in this place.

In front of Kazuki’s eyes—a large powerful back for a female was forcing her way through in front of him.

“BEATRIX!!” Kazuki spontaneously yelled to that back.

“I told you, add ‘chan’ on...GUU!!” All the magic hit the girl right from the front. From the body of the girl, defensive magic power was shining with light as if the whole magic power that she had was exploding.

You can really joke about adding ‘chan’ in this kind of situation!!?

Not sustaining her Access, Beatrix’s appearance transformed back to her black Einherjar uniform. She collapsed into Kazuki’s chest.

...The damage didn’t penetrate until her flesh. Kazuki confirmed that fact in panic.

“Beatrix, why are you for me...”

“Why, you ask.... That’s because love is an irrational thing, right...”

While saying words that sounded like joke, Beatrix slumped inside Kazuki's arm and fainted after losing her strength. Magic intoxication—even though there was no damage on her flesh, her mind was burdened radically. Could she get awake if it kept like this, how long it would take until she open her eyes again, he didn't know at all.

“Chih, I missed the chance to kill him.” From afar, the sound of Hayashi Shizuka clicking her tongue rang out. “Give him the finishing blow!”

The third years that had blank faces directed their aim at the two person who became defenseless in magic intoxication.

“Everyone...are you all sane!?” Akane-senpai rebuked her comrades' action.

“Captain...shitt! What are we going to do!?”

“We are Ægir's, grant me the terror of the unknown depth of the ocean! The stormy seas that toy with the small people, to me...Himinglæva!”

Eleonora produced a wall of ocean to defense Beatrix and Kanon-senpai.

These two people right now would get a fatal wound even if they only got hit with just one attack.

“Draw sword, Futsu no Mitama!!”

Kazuha-senpai who sensed the situation dashed near from the back and slashed at the third years.

The sanity of the third years returned with one slash of evil crushing. “Eh... huh, I, what am I...?” Being surprised and stunned, in an unbelievable situation—they looked down at their leader who was laying down on the ground.

Disturbance ran through the whole ally members. The swordsmen who had been holding out for a long time to become the shield of the Magika Stigmas directed eyes of despair toward the scene where their leader got defeated by friendly fire inside ally's encampment.

“Keep it up and crush them! Go!!” He could hear Hayashi Shizuka raising a piercing cry.

“Otouto-kun, get a hold of yourself! Akane-senpai too!”

Kaguya-senpai scolded Kazuki who was still dumbfounded. Akane-senpai who still holding up Kanon-senpai with her head hanging down also lifted her face. They went on resuming the battle.

“I'm sorry, Eleonora-san.”

Giving his gratitude to Eleonora who was protecting them, Kazuki laid Beatrix down.

“...Land Escape!”

In front of Kazuki's eyes, the ground split all of a sudden. From that crack illegal magician—[Earth Snake]'s figure was leaping out. His hand was holding a sword made from rock in reverse grip. “...Di, die!” With inarticulate speaking tone, he aimed at Beatrix who was in a state of magic intoxication.

He passed through Eleonora's wall of sea by digging underground like a mole.

“UOOOOOOOOOOOOO!!” Kazuki roared in order to clear away his shock and drew his katana.

The rock sword the Earth Snake used in his surprise attack was repelled with his Iai draw.

The instant their blade touched, Kazuki redirected the opponent's power using <Instant Positioning>, breaking down the posture of the Earth Snake.

“...O Divine Protection of military man, double the Megin whirling in my body! The will of god spurring me to infinite battle, in this body! ...

Megingjord!”

What Kazuki immediately chanted was Beatrix’s magic.

Doubling the physical strength of his whole body, his second returning slash swung downward with twice destructive power on Earth Snake.

“GUGAA!” Raising a scream the Earth Snake rolled on the ground. “Guge... Land...” Realizing his failure in the assassination, he tried to escape using magic for going underground. “Esca...”

“...O divine protection of mermaid, stop the step of the hateful enemy, please hasten the step of the chosen person.... O ice blade, run! Moves in the Field!”

Koyuki’s cool and clear voice reverberated, then the ground froze. The Earth Snake who was leaping to the ground face first banged his face severely on the surface that had been frozen with ice. Koyuki plundered his right of rule of the ground.

Koyuki launched a flying kick with feet clad in boots of ice blade toward the Earth Snake rolling on the ground. Keeping her pace she stepped on him with a complex footwork and minced him. Having an ice dance performed on top of his own body, the Earth Snake opened his eyes wide in fear and fainted.

“...Kazuki, are you okay?”

“Thank you, I’m fine already. ...I can fight. We have to defeat that girl. If we don’t defeat Hayashi Shizuka from the very beginning than anybody else...I have a hunch that it would become very grave later on.”

Inside Kazuki’s head, that premonition completely filled him. There was emotions inside him that was really close with hatred and repugnance. However surpassing such individualistic emotion, a terrifying premonition welled up inside him.

“Retreat! Retreaat—!”

However contrary to Kazuki’s thought, that kind of voice was starting to appear from inside the enemy forces.

The enemy army simultaneously began to move in withdrawal. While receiving covering fire from the illegal magicians the enemy swordsmen turned their back, like a retreating wave they were drawing back from this place.

In no time at all the figure of the enemies were not visible anymore.

Why are those guys retreating—he soon understood why they were doing so.

From the other side of the road he could hear the sounds of engine, knights who were riding on military vehicles were rushing here one after another. The Knight Orders at the military boundary line’s garrison notice the disturbance and finally came here. The enemy army noticed the reinforcement one beat faster and before they became the one who met with a pincer attack this time, they retreated in a hurry.

However the sensation of having finally repelled the enemy couldn’t be felt for even a fragment inside Kazuki and the others.

Part 3

When The Knight Order that was rushing here grasped the situation that befell at Kazuki and the others, they immediately make contact with the garrison and called a new military bus here. Taking ride in that bus, Kazuki and the others headed to the garrison once more.

They gathered and transported the students who fell into magic intoxication in the battle and also the enemy soldiers who conversely became magic intoxicated and arrested on the spot.

The temporary garrison that was build for the sake of security in the military boundary line was located in a very near distance from the spot where they were attacked. By the time all the students arrived, it was the time when the sunset had sunk into the horizon.

The temporary garrison was originally the hotel and public facilities that were located in the prefectural border and were confiscated to be used only for the knights to reside there. There was no special facility or the like at all here.

Though having said that, it was not like there was any surplus in the number of the room available, so the room allocation became arranged for two people in one room.

However without even confirming who was the partner he would be rooming with, Kazuki headed to Akane-senpai's room.

“Hayashizaki Kazuki...I have something to talk.”

The moment he came out to the corridor, Eleonora and Damian were waiting for Kazuki.

“Beatrix is...?” Kazuki inquired hesitantly.

“Captain is still fainting and hasn't opened her eyes.” Eleonora answered back with a cold voice.

“In this incident, because we were being made to follow the sloppy tactic of Japan Knight Order a serious damage had been inflicted to the Einherjar. That's what I'm thinking.”

“...What did you say?”

“Don't you think that this incident is enough reason to discontinue the stance of cooperation between Japan Knight Order and Einherjar for Loki's subjugation? We are going to wash our hand from this incident.”

“Wa, just wait a second there!? I haven' heard anythin' about this at all!?”

Damian cut in from the side.

“You said you have something you want to talk about with Hayashizaki Kazuki so I thought what the hell this is about...this didna make sense at all doncha’ agree!? This incident happen ‘cause Capt’n Beatrix just stick her nose where it didna belong on her own, we haven’ even defeat Loki yet! If it had become like this then we shoulda’ take revenge for cap’n with our own hand, that’s the spirit of an admirable Einherjar right!? I said taking revenge but cap’n still haven’ died yet though!”

“Damian...this war is a losing battle. Right now Japan Knight Order is exactly a ship made of mud[\[18\]](#). . . . . To allow that kind of surprise attack to happen, they have no chance in this war. We should disembark from this sinking ship for even a second faster.”

Allowing that kind of surprise attack to happen..., sinking ship..., Kazuki too had the exact same feeling like what Eleonora was saying. Unconsciously bitterness colored Kazuki's expression. Eleonora looking at that expression of Kazuki "...So you understand the situation" having said that her expression became a little sympathetic.

“Wait wait wait! Whether or not there is any chance to win, that shoulda be thought later on after we beat up the enemy blue right—!” Damian spoke out an outrageous sentence. “There are enemies we’ve reason to defeat right in front of us yet we just run away, for Einherjar that is something absolutely unforgivable—, if it’s cap’n Beatrix that’s what she woulda say ze!!”

“...Do you think you can fight with that kind of muscle brain thinking...!”

“Are you and Ægir cowards!? You won’t get to aim for Valhalla like that!”

“...Understood. If you said until that far then you and Hodur just do as you like.”

Eleonora turned on her heel and went to leave from the other side of the corridor.

“...Our bad. Even though Erii is like that but that ‘cause she really like cap’n. ...Next, when you are gonna sortie out just give the call only to me.”

Damian too left behind such words before she went to leave from the other side of the corridor.

“How unlucky for you huh! You might be planning to be alone with Akane just the two of you by going to Akane’s room, but I’m already awake ”

When he entered Akane-senpai’s room, Kanon-senpai bright voice greeted Kazuki.

This room was shared between Akane-senpai and Kanon-senpai. Kanon-senpai who had fell into magic intoxication had already awoken, she directed a smiling face to Kazuki while still laying on her bed/

“...At that moment, I still had my Rizomata Mastery barely activated, so I could redirect the energy of the offense magic going toward Kanon slightly. However Beatrix Baumgard had gotten completely hit...”

The expression of Akane-senpai who was standing beside the bed was dark as if she was ashamed of the damage that came out.

“Well, I exposed an unsightly figure there...this is by no means a lost battle okay We got some damage on our side, but we had also managed to capture several of the enemies on the other side see ...That’s why cheer up, Akane.”

Kanon-senpai who pretended a mere bravado with cheerful act encouraged Akane-senpai.

“So then Hayashizaki Kazuki...what do you think about what had just happened?” With a serious face, Kanon-senpai looked back at Kazuki.

“Because there is something you understand so you come here right?”

Kazuki conveyed the matter regarding Hayashi Shizuka and her ability as far as he know to the two of them.

—Her contracted Diva was Joka.

The greatest trait of that Diva was to strengthen and resurrect allies, granting such powerful Divine Protection freely.

However Yamato’s force was not resurrected at the battle this time. ...Most likely because the number of people was too many, or possibly the effect couldn’t be demonstrated except for underling and servant that directly obeyed Hayashi Shizuka herself. It means that Hayashi Shizuka was nothing more than a guest and her nature of relationship with Yamato’s soldiers was too thin.

And then one more trait of hers was brainwashing power. She could falsify the heart of human that had fall into magic intoxication.

Kanon-senpai and Akane-senpai made a face of understanding.

“...In other words everyone aside from us...the other third years fell into magic intoxication in battle at that time when Nagoya surrendered and then they were brainwashed there. After that they linked up with us as the remnant of the defeated army...”

There was no doubt that the seed of calamity was planted in Kanon-senpai and the others at that time.

Post hypnotism—in order to make them changed into brainwashed state when they heard the voice of Hayashi Shizuka, suggestion was implanted into the third years.

“How pathetic!” Akane-senpai raised a loud voice with her head still hanging low and she hit the wall with her fist. “Just because they are comrades we know by sight...we didn't suspect at all those girls who were just escaping from the enemy's occupied territory! Even though we might have noticed it if only we cautiously use Telepathy!!”

"Akane, don't say something unreasonable. We didn't know about this brainwashing beforehand, so suspecting them or anything is just absurd talk. We only thought of wanting to increase our battle strength even for just a little with everyone. Also for the moment I am the leader that was decided by everyone. Don't burden yourself with the responsibility alone.”

Even after listening to Kanon-senpai's words, Akane-senpai was still “Kuu...!” let out a pained sound. Akane-senpai's personality might be of those who tended to drive themselves into a corner.

However this was not a circumstance where he could give her some peace of mind.

“...What we should be anxious of is not only about the matter of the brainwashed third years.”

Kazuki said with a heavy feeling. Rather the matter just now was already a solved problem. Thanks to Kazuha-senpai, all the third years had been released from the brainwashed state.

“An even graver problem is how the enemy sensed all of our action and movement and then ambushing us at our own territory. Those guys passed through the military boundary line, inferred our location, and then assaulted us. ...They have been doing whatever they please really too much.”

If this kind of situation kept continuing, saying it clearly this war wouldn't even be a fight for the enemy.

“...!” Akane-senpai's face lost even more color when she raised her face. Looks like she fret over her failure in not doubting her comrade too much that she didn't think of that at all.

“The knights in this garrison, they are doing security in order to not let the people of Yamato can come and go as they please aren’t they?” Kazuki inquired for the moment. Kanon-senpai nodded with a bob. It was obvious.

“In other words there is betrayer here.”

“That, you mean human that is brainwashed human by Joka to become spy!?”

“No, the brainwashed state by Joka is not a perfect technique that can deceive the surrounding people that are intimate to you. The brainwashed human looked unnatural with how their emotion became diluted, so it’s definitely impossible to do a spy’s activity or the like passing through a long period of time.”

Joka’s brainwashing was not flawless. It was only falsifying a really small part of the heart in a really short period.

“Without any influence of brainwashing, there were already betrayers of Kenshitou in the internal of the Knight Order and the government of this country right from the start. And then there is Chūkadou as Kenshitou’s backer.”

“Chūkadou, you said...?”

The trouble that happened in the Knight Academy’s battle election was not something known by Kanon-senpai and Akane-senpai that was nothing more than the lowest member of the Knight Order. Kazuki explained the circumstances of the incident where assassins from China came attacking Kazuki and how the former Board Chairman Takasugi tried to take over the academy to the two senpai.

“As for how we are gathering in Shizuoka...the enemy might be able to predict that even without any information just from the point of how we are going to try to recover Nagoya that is an important traffic position. But for the enemy to completely know about when we are going to finally arrive and what road we are taking...it's just like what you said, there is a betrayer that was inserted until a fairly high position in the top brass of the Knight Order isn't it? If it had become like this then they will be perfectly waiting in ambush for this side's offensive, from now on they will be preparing surprise attack each time we are going out for any kind of action...like this we cannot move thoughtlessly."

Akane-senpai hung her head down with faint-hearted expression.

"The best aspect of superiority for the offensive side is how they could choose the location of fighting you know? Originally, the defensive side has to divide all their battle strength between the three points of Toyama Gifu Aichi because they don't know where we are going to attack. However if they obtained the information of where we are going to attack ahead of time from the betrayer, they can concentrate their battle strength in one place and await us in the targeted place. In other words it's the same like the number of the enemy force has tripled. For information to become leaked is something like that."

It was something Kazuki hadn't learned in class, but he nodded. It was something obvious if he thought of it carefully, but it was something that made him thought 'I see' when it was said to him...the basis of <tactic theory>.

"With this our plan to counterattack when seeing a change is discontinued. We absolutely cannot move to counterattack. If we don't wait patiently until we have collected the battle strength of east Japan as much as possible...I have to inform the regiment commander..."

Regimental commander—if this talk was forwarded to the commander of Shizuoka regiment, next it would go through to the division commander of Kanto Koushin'etsu division, and then from there it would reach the top brass of the Knight Order for sure.

...With that transmission mechanism, this information would surely also reach the spy of Yamato.

In panic, Kazuki restrained Akane-senpai who was even now trying to make contact with her cell phone.

“Please wait, if senpai reported that then it will also inform the opponent of how .....we had noticed the betrayer, it would alert them.”

“That is so but, there is no reason we can just leave this alone right? If we don't take defensive action...”

“No, I think it's a mistake for us to even enter defensive action.”

Akane-senpai asked “Eh?” back to Kazuki who was talking stubbornly. Kanon-senpai too had her eyes opened wide and was staring at him. Surely that was because they never thought that a junior of them would be objecting this straight forwardly against them.

“We should sortie out to attack them immediately tonight. In order to not let the betrayer leaking out the information to the enemy, the surprise attack must be conducted with only the members of the Knight Academy.”

A silence that was doubting Kazuki's words flowed for a while.

“...And the basis for your idea to immediately sortie out in offense?” Akane-senpai inquired in a harsh tone of voice.

“Because if it keep like this than it would become more disadvantageous the longer the battle goes on. This whole day, I kept thinking on my own about in what way we should fight in this battle called magic war but...”

“How should we fight in a magic war is it?”

This magic war that the human race hadn't experienced personally still hadn't any tried and tested tactics.

That was why the people concerned must puzzled it out themselves and started thinking from the zero base.

“In this magic war, the power of human is everything. Even if all the territory of the country is occupied from the battle's damage, even if the economy inclined completely toward one side, it still doesn't mean defeat. Shaving off the military force is everything.”

In the war of the previous era, the power of a country had direct relation with their military power. For the sake of advancing the battle in a more superior position they developed weapon research, mass production, managing maintenance, they had to invest in all of that. An all out war where the battle was supported by the nation's everything. If the national power tilted to one way then the victory was decided.

But this war between Japan and Yamato was different. The military power was decided only by the quality and quantity of the swordsman and Magika Stigma. When it was like this the victory condition became [whether the opponent's army was annihilated or not].

Even if there was only one last person standing, even if the foundation called a country was lost, if only they still had the will to fight then they could still continue to fight. Though in that stage it would become closer to guerilla or terrorism rather than a war.

“Certainly it's just like what you said....this is not an all-out war, but an extermination war.” Akane-senpai nodded.

“However why has that become the reason to hurry in attacking?”

“...There are Divas called Loki and Naiarlatoteph in Yamato’s camp. When the power of Joka is added there, I have this feeling that a frightening result will occur from that combination. Though it would be great if this is just a needless anxiety.”

Loki Naiarlatoteph Hayashi Shizuka...it was the worst trio that made him wanted to cover his eyes. Their extreme personality scattered out a terrible atmosphere. He had already felt sick just from remembering each of their faces.

“Naiarlatoteph?” Kanon-senpai and Akane-senpai asked back.

Naiarlatoteph’s existence was also something that hadn’t become known by the society at large openly.

Kazuki who had arrived at a different thinking from the two senpai was because in the first place he had far more information than the two.

“For the sake of finding proof of my suspicion, there is something I want to confirm from the prisoners that were caught from the battle this time. I cannot meet with the prisoner just by myself so...can I ask for senpai’s mediation to arrange an interview with the prisoners?”

There was a wine cellar built underground in this hotel that was confiscated to be the garrison. That place which had no entrance except for one spot was the most suitable to be turned into a dungeon as long as security was performed there. The prisoners were attached with Limiter for illegal magicians and thrown inside that place.

There was binding on them but many of them were still fainting from magic intoxication.

Akane-senpai left behind Kanon-senpai who was still in convalescence in their shared room and led Kazuki to the dungeon.

Kazuki stopped at Lotte's room in the middle of the way and asked her to accompany him.

"Thanks for your hard work." Akane-senpai greeted the young man who had the shift of guarding the dungeon.

That knight who was greeted had his expression colored in shock and happiness when he saw Kazuki.

"Hayashizaki Kazuki! Isn't this Hayashizaki Kazuki! ...Long time no see! I heard the story already from Amasaki-sensei. Right now hasn't something great happened to you in the academy, huh Chief Student Council President!"

After Kazuki got taken aback for an instant, he finally remembered late of the other party's name and face.

"...Kondou-san! Thank you very much for that time. If I didn't have the Sacred Treasure that was entrusted from Kondou-san, it would really become very dangerous there. Because of that I was found innocent in the end."

"Aa, for you to be cleared from all misunderstanding was also thanks to the influence of Amasaki-sensei right?"

Kondou Hajime—he was the knight that got involved at that time when Kazuki was attacked by Beatrix in the Quest that he challenged together with Lotte. After that, for the sake of Kazuki who was challenging Beatrix, he lended [Raikiri] to Kazuki without concern for himself. However, why was he here...?

"Your face is wondering why I'm here. Even though you remember my name and face, it's impossible to remember until my self-introduction too huh. Remember, my title is <Police Knight> attached to <Chubu Jurisdiction Division>, Kondou Hajime."

“You said Chuubu Jurisdiction...does that mean that Kondou-san was in the battle of that time!?”

“Aa, I fought at Nagoya, I escaped with Akane-chan there and Kanon-chan. ...But for you to come here, how reassuring. I know very well how strong you are after all!”

“So Kondo-san and Kazuki are an acquaintance?” Akane-senpai inquired with her eyes wide opened.

“That’s right, various things happened. Akane-chan, this is guy is a really awesome junior you know. ...Oops, you have some business with the prisoner right? If it’s Akane-chan and Kazuki then I don’t need to worry, just go through here.”

Kondou-san opened the dungeon for them, then Kazuki together with Lotte searched for the one person they came here for among the restrained prisoners—they approached the [Earth Snake].

“Lotte...can you do something like confirming his mental state with Telepathy? There is no equipment for Telepathy scan here after all, so in to make up for it can you?”

“What is it that I need to confirm desu?”

“Confirm whether he is still Possessed by Diva or not inside his mind.”

“!?” Akane-senpai’s expression froze in place.

“...Diva that is attempting to take over the flesh of human won’t part with the flesh body that they occupied that easily you know? It should be like that. Because to erode the self of their host until this point should take a long time for the Diva.”

Akane-senpai said. Some Diva that held hostility to human whispered sweet words about how they would grant power and then possessed the human.

After that they would encroach into the host's mind slowly in their attempt to take over the host[\[19\]](#).

To do that they needed a long time. Even when Loki stole Kaya's body, also when Naiarlatoteph stole the body of former Headmaster Otonashi, both of them needed long years to succeed.

Once those Divas parted with the flesh body, the eroded mind would go back to how it once was and their hard work until that point would come to completely nothing. That was why even in the case that their host got arrested, nevertheless they shouldn't part with that body so easily—originally speaking.

Lotte went along with what Kazuki said and reached out a line of blue light to the Earth Snake. Through this link of magic power Lotte was searching around in the mind of the Earth Snake. Only after a moment Lotte expressed her conclusion.

“It's empty. There is no Diva inside him.”

Just as he expected it really was like that. That was surely why this Earth Snake fought in a suicidal way like that.

“That's absurd! Then there is no meaning at all in taking this guy prisoner!!”

“Midgardsormr that Possessed this guy had already Possessed a different human and he is going to return back to the front line soon. When I said that it will be disadvantageous for us when this war become a protracted battle, this is the reason why.”

Magika Stigmas of the Knight Order and the Knight Academy summoned the power of Solomon 72 Pillar by means of their contract with the Pillars. But for the illegal Magicians of Yamato, everyone of them used power by means of Possessed Summoning.

The knights and the students of the Knight Academy were defeated until they fell into magic intoxication, became the prisoners of Yamato, if in the worst case they were killed, this was an obvious fact but there was no replacement for them.

Then in regards of that, the illegal magicians of Yamato could keep come back endlessly as long as they had a new host.

“For Diva to possess the human’s body should take a fairly long time. At the very least it would take one year. Then, it would be fine if we just make sure to end the fight before that process get finished.”

“Perhaps it won’t even take one year. There are Loki and Naiarlatoteph and Joka in the enemy camp.”

They couldn’t continue the story even more than this in this kind of place.

Kazuki proposed to get out from the wine cellar. •••••

•Was there someone listening in their conversation, they needed to constantly pay attention.

They said goodbye to Kondou-san and after accompanying Lotte back to her room, they returned back to Akane-senpai and Kanon-senpai’s room. Kazuki explained the happening in wine cellar.

“Loki and Naiarlatoteph and Joka, •••••
•••••each of them has their own approach in driving human mad that they specialized in. The crazier the host’s mind become, the easier it would become for the Diva to encroach.”

Joka had the power of falsification. She overwrote a part of human’s mind, and with that she could stuff a small madness inside.

Naiarlatoteph entered through weak spot and small madness of the heart. From there he could drive a person into insanity all at once. He made use of former Headmaster Otonashi's guilt in repeating human experiment and destroyed the headmaster's mind, there was also the time when he entered through Koyuki's emotion of self-denial and took over her body right on the spot.

And then for Loki's method of taking over a human's heart, he could boast that he himself had a thorough knowledge of it.

If those three's ability were used in turn like a baton relay—Joka planting madness inside the mind, and then Naiarlatotepe using that madness as foothold to corner the person into insanity in one go, finally Loki would make his Diva comrade to possess the person...they could manufacture illegal magicians in efficient rate as if a factory producing canned food.

“If those guys combined their power, they could prepare human hosts in no time at all. This was why Midgardsormr could abandon the body of the Earth Snake that easily.”

Lotte's Telepathy had given credibility to Kazuki's suspicion.

“We have to destroy this [illegal magicians reproduction cycle] without any delay. If we don't then there is no chance victory for us in this annihilation battle. And then I also think that tonight is the best chance to bring down Hayashi Shizuka. For the sake of manipulating the third years she brainwashed, Hayashi Shizuka participated in the battle this time. But I don't think that Hayashi Shizuka will participate anymore in the battle that came attacking us from now on.”

If it was Kazuki in Kaya's place, then he would order such thing for sure. He wouldn't want to expose the important key of his tactic like Hayashi Shizuka to brave danger as much as possible, that was how it should be. Then Hayashi Shizuka would seclude herself in Yamato's base.

When this side persisted in nonaggressive defense, they would eternally lost the chance to defeat Hayashi Shizuka.

Akane-senpai looked at Kazuki with eyes that seemed to say [I can't believe it].

“...How are you able to predict anything and everything like that?”

“Whether it's Loki or Naiarlatoteph or Joka too, I had fought them before. That's all.”

“...That kind of experience is really abnormal. ....
.....•You stand in the core of the incident too much. Despite how you are supposed to be just a student of the Knight Academy...”

That was.... Most likely that was because he is a <BasilleusKing>.

When Beatrix collapsed, for some reason Kazuki thought like that once more. I must be able to take action that is more befitting for a King.

“If right now we don't let out our courage and move out for offensive, if we enter defensive action than it's just what the enemy wanted. I am an amateur in regards of war tactic but...as a swordsman when facing the opponent, on top of constantly observing the opponent, [I must not do as the enemy expected] is something that I think is really important.”

Whether in a match or a game, pushing factor of uncertainty to your opponent was what is called as tactic.

“If we sortie out in offense using the Knight Order, it will be reported to the top brass of the Knight Order and we have to get their approval isn't that right? For the lowest level of an organization to take action arbitrarily like attacking the enemy is absolutely unpermitted.”

“...Of course that is so. Moving the soldier as one pleases and make sortie cannot be done. ...The cause of concern is that if somewhere in the chain of command, the attack plan will be leaked through the betrayer.”

“Yes. If we are attacking, we have to attack without allowing the attack plan to get leaked at all cost. That’s why tonight, we have to make a surprise attack using the students of the Knight Academy. If we attack only using members from the students of the Knight Academy, we don’t need to follow the intention of the Knight Order’s top brass. The highest big-wig in the Knight Academy is Headmaster Amasaki after all.”

There was no room for betrayer to come inside a simple chain of command of Kazuki and Headmaster Amasaki.

Tonight, if it had been decided that the Knight Order would not take any action until they had finished gathering battle strength of east Japan, that condition would be conveyed to Yamato through the betrayer. That negligence would enable the independence corpse of the Knight Academy to make a surprise attack.

If this tactic succeeded, then a pressure that [the betrayer’s information was not omnipotent] could be inflicted to Yamato. Like that they information from the betrayer wouldn’t be able to be used effectively by Yamato.

It was vital to make the enemy felt lost.

He was an amateur in regards of war tactic, but if he perceived this battle as [a duel between him and Hayashi Shizuka], he naturally understood the tactics that he should take. Kazuki had confidence in his own thought and stared at Akane-senpai directly. Akane-senpai looked down weakly from the pressure of that gaze.

“Even so I cannot approve of a surprise attack tactic by the students alone. It’s too dangerous to march into enemy territory from under their very nose. The rule of three times offensive power...it’s said that three times the battle strength of the enemy’s defense is needed to attack their encampment.

According to Sun Tzu, we need ten times the battle strength of the defender side when making a siege against a castle don't you know?"

Certainly there might be a theory like that.

However—a war where magic was used was something the human race hadn't experienced personally yet. There was no tactic or the like that had been established and proven already, they had to puzzle it out by themselves from the ground up.

Kazuki thought back of that instant where the bus was destroyed in his first real battle.

"I don't think it's necessarily the case that the offensive side is in disadvantage compared to the defensive side."

When Kazuki talked with that confident tone, Akane-senpai was "Eh?" and opened her eyes wide.

...When Kazuki explained his idea, Akane-senpai wordlessly looked down.

"Let's believe this guy, Akane. This is junior that Kaguyan is cherishing so much. Surely this guy is not just an ordinary person."

Kanon-senpai interjected from the side.

"...That might be so." Akane-senpai made an ambiguous reply.

"Akane. Usually I'm just constantly relying on you but, it's fine for you too to learn to rely more on other fellow. And then Hayashizaki Kazuki-! I recognized you but...don't misunderstand! Until the very end you are...only get recognized as nothing more than the right hand of this retired number Legend Student Council President, Koudzuki    Fantastic    Kanon, okayy    "

And then with a 'kirarin[\[20\]](#) ', she winked at Kazuki.

[It's no good if you don't get the recognition from these two too you know, o King.]

Leme made her speech inside his mind.

Akane-senpai was "Fuu" and released a breath as if deciding in her heart. And then she talked promptly.

"Oh well. I'll go along with your thinking. ...Let's put the arrangement in order. We won't sortie together with you in this surprise attack, but we will give you our utmost cooperation in regards of the preparations. What we first need is, informing the students about the situation...and then the method to break out from this hotel and maybe also wireless communication."

Part 4

"...What's with you, calling out someone like me."

Before moving out to implement the tactic for real, Kazuki wanted to talk with Kazuha-senpai and called her out to the corridor.

"There is a little something I want to give to senpai...though it's not really something significant."

"Giving something?"

Kazuki suddenly presented a handmade bouquet created from the small flowers piling up in the hills and fields.

Suddenly presented with that gift, Kazuha-senpai was "Hahee!?" and let out a strange voice.

"This is because when we moved by bus and I looked outside the window, I saw beautiful flowers blooming on the hills."

"Yo, you especially picked them up for me...?"

"Yes. The atmosphere had become bloodthirsty from the battle and the attack.

I was wondering whether I could soften the atmosphere a little and when I realized I had dashed to gather this.”

Kazuki was out of breath and talked while sweats were showing on his forehead. Although there was Enchant Aura, but making a round trip to the mountain that he noticed from inside the bus and back in this busy time was not easy.

“Are you an idiot doing something like that in this kind of time!? Something like flower...for someone like me...”

Kazuha-senpai’s face reddened and looked the other way with a huff.

“I’m sorry, is this a bother for senpai?”

“It’s a bother-! Even if I receive flower in this kind of place, I don’t have anything like a flower vase, it’s just too pitiful for the flower if it was plucked and then withered away!!”

“Is, is that so...” So the flower is a failure, thinking that, Kazuki became despondent.

“...But to think of me when you looked at flower and wanting to give it to me, so even though you are tired after the fighting you went out of your way to collect this and came to present it to me....”

Kazuha-senpai hugged the flower bouquet tightly on her chest and then a large heart mark come flying.

Kazuki spoke frankly about his tactic of launching a surprise attack to the enemy by the students of the Knight Academy after this.

Kazuha-senpai gulped after hearing the importance of the fact that was just disclosed for her. Kazuki said to the taken-aback girl.

“That’s why if the tactic goes well, please go in a date with me for the reward.”

Kazuha-senpai became taken aback with all strength leaving her body.

“What’s with that, when I thought that you were going to talk about serious matter you suddenly asked for reward!?”

“Because, if there is a reward waiting then I’ll be able to work even harder for that.”

“So you said that if you can go in a date with me then...you will be able to work hard?”

Kazuha-senpai asked Kazuki with exhausted red face, as if she was utterly amazed by Kazuki’s approach, her defense had been pushed back to the limit already. Kazuki nodded repeatedly with great enthusiasm.

“Correct. I want to go for a date with senpai and do romantic things.”

Kazuha-senpai kept averting her faces without facing Kazuki.

However a heart mark came flying once more, then she talked with a reluctant appearance.

“...Okay. But, only if you make a great achievement and this tactic is a success, only after that.”

I still don’t fully understand the meaning of placing these dots, but I think it’s to indicate that there is something not quite right with the sentence or the words. As this sentence show, calling Beatrix as a trusted comrade is quite iffy.

Chapter 6 – Surprise Attack Tactic—Magic War • Okehazama

Kondou Hajime who had just finished his shift as the guard of the dungeon was requested by Hayashizaki Kazuki and Yagumo Akane to do something. It was something that made his chest beat in thrill as if he was participating in conspiracy, Kondou who liked that kind of thing agreed happily—he came until the very end of this temporary garrison.

Even though it was called a garrison this place was only temporary, because of that there were hotel and public facility and the like, a normal corner of the city that was confiscated for the military's use. The edges of the grounds were guarded by knights in shift system.

There were reasons why the monitoring was done in analog using human and not using machine. The first reason was because the garrison that was set up in these grounds had only been done two days ago. Constructing an advanced monitoring system in itself would take a lot of time.

And then one more reason was because magic power couldn't be detected using machine. Human who excelled in detecting magic power was posted as guard where he had to pay attention on suspicious outbreak of magic power.

Of course something like a knight that loved to work a job as a guard or the like didn't exist.

It was already late at night. Kondou walked approaching the lone guard standing around doing nothing while holding his yawn.

“Hey, thanks for your hard work. ...Though even if I said that I wonder if there is any meaning in this, only standing watch doing nothing.”

“...Hey, when I thought it's my relief but it's just Kondou. It's not your shift right now right? What a short-lived elation.” The knight who stood guard released a deep sigh. “Well, it seems there is meaning in this you know? There is no worry of enemy attack tonight, but rather than the outside the order is to be on guard against the inside.”

Be on guard against the inside—hearing that words made Kondou scrunched his eyebrows a little.

“So they told you to be more careful for desertion rather than the enemy. But does that actually happen? Things like deserting soldier.”

“There is nothing like that in my shift. But, I heard that a few had been caught. Those who tried to escape were all swordsmen, but there is not a single one of the Magika Stigma who tried. As expected between those who are granted with Stigmata and became a knight, [the chosen human] compared to the swordsmen, their resolve might be different.”

“...You cannot say that it’s only because of such thing you know. In the battlefield the swordsman is in several times more danger compared to the Magika Stigma after all. If they faced something like that then they would want to desert. Isn’t that the difference? It’s not a thing that you can think so menially.”

“That’s so? Maybe it’s really like that. ...So, what are you coming here for?”

“I couldn’t sleep at all, so I was thinking that I want to feel the night breeze for a little, and then I remember that tonight it’s your shift as guard. There is that favor from you setting up that mixer the other day that I haven’t paid yet. Well, though I also didn’t meet any great catch at all that time.”

“Oh, so you mean you are admirably proposing to replace me to guard this spot?”

“Right on the spot. The soft and fluffy bed in the hole is waiting for you right now.”

‘Yossha-‘ The lookout knight started running while Kondou sent him off.

...A lookout for deserter was it? But in the society, there was also exception like deserting caused by bravery.

After a while Kondou called out “Everything clear”, he sent out a signal to Kazuki.

Kazuki divided his comrades into group and then ambushed the rooms where the students of the Knight Academy were resting. And then they performed an inspection on the students belonging and confiscated everything like cell phone and the like that could be used as method to contact the outside.

When he told the situation, all the students gave their understanding. There was also a possibility of spy among the students of the Knight Academy. That’s why entrusts all the communication devices before we conduct the absolute secret tactic—if Kazuki said it like that and the student was still resisting then it was the same like confessing that [I am suspicious].

And then he divided the 150 students into subdivisions and deserted from the garrison one group at a time. With the cooperation of Kondou-san who stood as the guard, the Knight Academy students succeeded to not be noticed by anyone.

The escaping students that numbered a little under 150 people gathered in a public park that didn’t have any human presence where Kazuki explained the tactic once more in detail at there. If by any chance Kazuki didn’t have his accomplishments of becoming the champion of the election battle, then surely the students wouldn’t give their agreement in following Kazuki’s plan.

The students all lent their ear with serious expression listening on Kazuki’s words.

“This tactic is similar to the famous surprise attack tactic that was performed at Aichi Prefecture a long time ago in the previous era, thus...we will name this tactic [Magic War Okehazama]!”

When he said the tactic’s name that really had a good taste if he said so himself, the students cheered ‘Oooo’ with voices that might be audible from the garrison and applauded. The morale was high even though it was quite risky.

“Though Okehazama is more in the west from here...” Koyuki retorted with a serious face.

Next Kazuki reorganized the platoons according to the elements of the magic that the students used. Fifteen platoons were made from ten persons each where each had their own role clarified. And then to the fifteen leaders of the platoons, Kazuki distributed the wireless software headset he received from Akane-senpai. While this headset was a small model communication equipment, it was able to switch between several communication network from short range until long range. It had become the standard equipment of the Knight Order. Akane-senpai pilfered all of it from the warehouse for Kazuki’s sake.

They were using wireless at this time was of course so that the enemy couldn’t intercept the communication, but it was also because they had to be vigilant so that the Knight Order too couldn’t intercept the signal.

“Ah, spare me from usin’ that. That’s just too effeminate zee, wearin’ this kind of appliance.”

But the Einherjar Damian who had the creed of rejecting technology refused to wear the wireless.

“Well then everyone, let’s pass through the military boundary line and hit Yamato’s frontline.”

They had already broken through the military boundary line from Japan's side. They would keep this pace and broke through the security of Yamato and then assaulted the front line garrison of Yamato in one go.

The location of the garrison had been thoroughly investigated by the Knight Order and Akane-senpai had also taught that to Kazuki.

“O affectionate rain cloud that grant the blessing to the earth, cry and weep fiercely just for this time, please hide our figure inside the curtain of lamentation...Rain Cloud of OutcryCrying Nimbus.”

Hikaru-senpai in her Magic Dress form was chanting the Summoning Magic of Baal, the Diva that manipulated the weather.

In the blink of eye the night sky was covered with dark clouds, drops of rain began to fall.

By means of Hikaru-senpai's control, Hikaru-senpai made the rain stronger little by little so to not make anyone suspicious.

Before long the scenery of the far away became hazy where they couldn't see well from the passing shower.

“Ahaha. You know I have been doubtful for a long time wondering whether there is any use for this magic. Making rain fall down and become sopping wet only make lightning magic turn hard to use. I never thought about using it for surprise attack.”

Hikaru-senpai talked while hugging Kazuki's arm tightly. “Why is senpai hugging me?”

“Praa—ise me♪” She said that with voice full of charm, so Kazuki patted Hikaru-senpai's head gently.

“Now that you mentioned it senpai, I just noticed it but reinforcement magic like [Ride Lightning] couldn't be chanted in preparation time like this right? Even though I think it will be convenient if that's possible."

When Kazuki tried to chant the spell, he sensed that it wouldn't activate.

"Right. Because spell chanting include declaration of [what is the power going to be used for], so in the case of reinforcement magic there is many that has [fighting spirit against the enemy in front of you] as their trigger. That's why it's mostly unusable when you only want to use it to strengthened yourself yet there is no target you want to defeat inside your <magic perception range>."

After Hikaru-senpai had finished taught him such thing so skillfully, once more she "Praa—ise me♪" and rubbed herself on Kazuki. Really, this senpai is....like that Kazuki kept patting Hikaru-senpai's head repeatedly.

"Well then senpai and all the others in the lightning magic platoon, please fall back to the rear until the rain stopped."

"Okay, I'll leave the rest to you-"

They examined the situation of the military boundary line from their cover. There are two soldiers standing guard in line, and then there were also soldiers coming in patrol at a fixed interval asking for the situation.

But Yamato's swordsmen were not skilled. Even their magic power was not much different than normal civilian. Their level didn't reach the degree where they could detect the magic power of unseen approaching human.

The communication appliance that they used were the same with the one that Kazuki and the other students used this time.

First in order to not let them notify their comrade—Kanae and Torazou-san crept unnoticed without even making any sound and destroyed the communication devices with kodachi and sword hand strike.

“...!? ...!”

The guard was shocked from the sudden appearance of Kanae’s figure and tried to call for help but—his voice didn’t come out.

Karin moved the airflow with Psychokinesis and made the surrounding of the soldiers into vacuum.

It was one of the assassination techniques beaten into the girl by Hayashi Shizuka.

If there was no air to propagate the vibration of sound, even voice couldn’t be produced. He was unable to call for help.

“.....! (TORAZOU SMAAAAAAAAASH!)”

Torazou-senpai smashed a powerful strike even though his voice was not audible because of the vacuum, Kanae too mercilessly carved her opponent apart roughly, in no time at all the soldiers in lookout fell into the unconsciousness of magic intoxication.

The security is lax, Kazuki thought. The competency level of Yamato’s soldier was no better than normal civilian. They were also resting on their laurels carelessly because of the traitor’s information. Adding to that, it was also because in the first place they hadn’t completely decided [what kind of security would be effective].

There was no doubt that they hadn't even imagined such thing like the guard got defeated without even able to raise their voice.

“From here it's a fight against time. Until the next patrol come here again...”

Under the falling rain, Kazuki and the others penetrated the occupied area of Yamato. The inhabitants of this side had been evacuated too, there was no human presence at all.

Yamato side—there was [Yokohashi platoon garrison] around the eastern tips of the prefecture border in Chubu Prefecture, Yamato took over that place and used it just like that.

Inside the falling rain with bad visibility, the students of the Knight Academy were hiding using the surrounding buildings as cover while surrounding the building of Yokohashi garrison—a large concrete architecture similar with a school, bringing the building into their <magic perception range>. Making the building itself as their attack target, the large scale magic corps with Kaguya-senpai as its platoon leader began their spell chanting.

And then if a spell was chanted in this range, the other side too would notice the outbreak of magic power.

Swordsmen leaped out from the building entrance as scouts, toward this side—they ran directly heading toward the direction of the magic power that Kaguya-senpai produced. If it had became like this then it was meaningless for this side to keep hiding their appearance.

The swordsman corps of Kanae and the others met the approaching scouts and defeated them in no time.

It was the beginning of small scale hostility. The enemy had sensed this side and the battle would begin from here on.

In the other side of the windows of the building, the illegal magicians of Yamato began their spell chanting. The other side had confirmed this side's figures by sight—in other words this side had been entered into their magic perception range. In regards to that, Kazuki and the others fixed their sight only on the building. To the end they couldn't target anything other than the building with their magic.

If it had to be said strongly than the disadvantage for the attacker side was around this area.

“Defensive magic!” Kazuki sensed the magic power and gave out instruction.

“Will-o-Wisp Hundred Flowers Blooming Profusion Onibi Hyakka Ryouran!”

“Thunder God Drum Raijin Taiko!” “Evil Wind Sickle Weasel Magatsu Kaze Kamaitachi!” ...

The Divas of Japanese Mythology emerged one after another, dozens of offensive magic came flying. Against those attacks, the students of the Magic Division matched the number of defensive magic and resisted. Various elements of defensive magic were erected all at once over and over again, defending against the offensive magic.

Offensive magic came flying at rapid succession due to the fastness of Drive's chanting, the damages to the surrounding building and to the students came out due to their inability to defend everything with defense magic but—

Even while allowing the enemy's preemptive attack, this side's preparation had also been finished.

“O darkness of mind contained within the eternal cycle of death and rebirth! O seven stars shining inside that! Display the microcosm of the creation of heaven and earth and show the whereabouts of the person!! Galaxy!”

“”In the sky moon, on the earth wolf, raging howl loudly indicted the sins on the earth! O shining moon that is also shining on top of the deeply sinful person’s head, change that light of motherhood into fury, crush this earth! The nightmare of falling moon right here...Moon Strike!!””

With the garrison building as the target—the characteristic magic of the Magic Division student council president and the combination magic of the hidden powerful duo Ryuutaki sisters were invoked at the same time. The night sky that continuously rained down was suddenly became clear.

Dark clouds parted, the burning stars and moon became meteor shower and rained down incessantly. Light and thunderous roar that were already outside the realm of human’s sense were produced...,

The Toyohashi regiment garrison didn’t even leave a rubble, transformed into uneven crater and opened wasteland.

Right there several hundred people were scattered apart shining with defensive magic power. There were unarmed humans mixed among them, surely they were non-combatant that were inside the garrison. They who were outside the magic perception range of Kaguya-senpai were mostly unaffected by the offensive magic. Only the building that was annihilated.

The result of the meteor that splitting apart the night sky was the clean disappearance of the rain cloud that Hikaru-senpai summoned, the clearly extending starry sky spread out like a lie.

“Close-quarter combat units, charge!!” Together with Kanae’s order, the close-quarter battle units were charging.

Just as I thought, Kazuki confirmed the rightness of his own idea.

—There was no rules of three times attack or castle siege in a magic war.

It was an unlikely assumption but as long a lot of adamantium was not even used in the outer wall, fort or protective wall that could endure against offensive magic this powerful didn't exist.

With the birth of magic in this world, the modern weapon and fort had become obsolete. Only human that had obtained the power called magic had become conspicuously powerful.

That was why if a war started, there would be nothing but humans that remained in the battlefield immediately. Every battle would become field battle soon at any rate. It was unlikely for a fort capture or siege battle or the like to occur. There was no meaning at all for the defensive side to defend their encampment—after all what decided the war was the soldiers.

And then the defender side which had their building suddenly destroyed was thrown into chaos from how they suddenly got thrown outside—just like the time when the Knight Academy students were attacked while riding buses.

The surprise attack had completely succeeded. When it became like this, the defending side became far more disadvantaged compared to the attacking side. The soldiers of Yamato were unable to grasp the situations, they couldn't spread out their formation satisfactorily. Right there the close-quarter combat units that Kanae spearheaded made their assault. The Magic Division students were chanting magic to support their attack.

Inside this chaos, it would be hard to chant magic even in the case that they had Drive.

The swordsman of Yamato didn't have anything but makeshift skill<sup>[1]</sup>, the illegal magicians too were vastly inferior compared to the knights in magic technique like Resist or the like, when the situation was reversed where they were the one ambushed they were weak.

In spite of the fewer number of the Knight Academy students that was under 150 persons, the manpower of Yamato reached around a shocking number of 300 or 400. The difference in man power was more than double, but if they could succeed in surprise attack and pushed forward with the momentum, they could overturn the difference in manpower!

The camp of the enemy had finally begins to recover from the chaos. The swordsmen of Yamato move out to protect the illegal magicians and were forming the Heaven and Earth Formation. Right at that timing, Kazuki fired his second arrow.

“Flying column charge!” He ordered to his headset.

“O Astaroth commiserating the foolish sin! In order to be the agent of thy indictment, please lend me thy manservant which is thy mounted beast!!
Trampling Down Big DragonTrampling Drake!!”

Flying column—Mibu-senpai who circled to the rear of Toyohashi platoon garrison and laid in ambush caused a crack on the ground, from there she summoned a giant lizard clad in blue flame. This blue flame was not the blue color of a super high temperature like Belial, it was dyed blue from constantly burning poisonous substance, emitting strange smell like sulfur. On top of that blue flaming lizard, the platoon that was led by Mibu-senpai mounted it up.

“Loyal manservant of Lucifer, o Gamigyn! Please lend me thy swift horse the symbol of thy loyalty!! Hell’s Fine HorseGallop Racer!!”

Mibu-senpai’s protégée Asamiya-senpai too invoked her magic together. The space in the immediate side of the girl was ‘BIKIBIKIBIKI!’ forming a rift, summoning a horse with body clad in red flame. The platoon led by Asamiya-senpai was riding up on the back of that horse.

At that time changes happened to the giant lizard and the flaming horse—the giant lizard transformed into a huge blue armored car, and the horse into a large red bike.

Kazuki was startled after using his sight that was reinforced with magic power and witnessing the transformation of the Demon Beasts into machine.

.....What in the world is happening there?

{When the summoner's individuality is excessively strong, there are cases like that where the Diva's Summoning Magic is stretched by that individuality. This phenomenon is quite close like with the characteristic magic that Otonashi Kaguya became able to use.}

Leme taught him using Telepathy with whispering voice. I see, so their character is just too deep.

Anyhow, Mibu-senpai and her group could be said to be able to use magic with high mobility and high transportation capacity, so they were grouped together to compose a special mobile corps. The armored car and bike that were loaded with great number of students took off with great momentum. The engines were *BOOOOONN!!* roaring explosively, its music horns were *PARARIPARARIRA!!* playing the biker gang's peculiar enigmatic music.

“HYAHHAA—!! We are gonna cross over the period zee—!!”

“Anekii—! We are gonna transform into wind Anekii—!!”

Mibu-senpai and Asamiya-senpai raised their voices like a biker gang themselves and assaulted the rear of enemy's formation.

The illegal magicians of Yamato turned back and intercepted with offensive magic. However the armored car and large type bike that were created from Summoning Magic were different than a mere bus and couldn't be destroyed that simply.

“UOOOOOO! This situation is interetiIIIIING!! LET’S RAMPAGEEEEEEE!!”

Damian too was riding on the armored car. She was not inside the car but clinging onto the car roof. She was in a great enjoyment while her hair messily trailing behind from the pouring wind from the front.

“””HYAHHAA—!!””” Together with those voices of rapture, the armored car and bike flew to the enemy formation and sent the illegal magicians flying.

“We are following the wish of Hodur, I too entrust my body once more to the exaltation of battle! Wartime fire of violent emotion running in the blood and fat of my sword!! Stories Flame!”

Among the agonizing cries of the enemy formation, Damian was leaping while chanting a reinforcement magic.

From inside the armored car and the back of the large bike, swordsmen were leaping out in bustle.

The enemy formation that had been temporarily recovering their composure from the chaos fell once more into pandemonium.

Heaven and Earth Formation was weak against a pincer attack. It was a fact that Kazuki also learned from Yamato’s surprise attack.

{Kazuki! Hayashi Shizuka has been discovered!!}

In his ears—the headset that Kazuki equipped let out Kohaku’s voice.

Kazuki had told the swordsmen that were fighting in the front line to inform him immediately once Hayashi Shizuka had been discovered.

“Drilling the far away, <Doutanuki>! Battou Kaikon—Tenran Kamaitachi!!”

Together with Kohaku’s voice, a storm of magic power was blowing violently toward the sky in a certain location of the battlefield. That was the power of Kohaku’s Sacred Treasure. She was making that scene in place of a beacon to mark her location.

“Karin!” Kazuki gripped Karin’s hand tightly and dashed.

“You are going to settle with your destiny now!!”

“...Okay!” Karin nodded with obedience that she had never shown until now. Defeat Hayashi Shizuka. That was this battle’s most important objective. All the other enemy soldiers were trivial.

Kazuki pulled Karin’s hand and drew her near him, then he circled his hands around that slender hips and took her in a princess carry.

“Waa!? What’s with this posture!” Kazuki ignored Karin who had her eyes opened wide.

“Ride Lightning!” Kazuki kicked the ground with all his strength while accelerating the strength of his whole body.

The Telepathic voice resounding inside Kazuki’s head—Tamamo no Mae.

{I’d never expect that this leadership is your first campaign, boy. No, o little King.}

While carrying Karin with his left hand, Kazuki cut a swath through the swordsmen obstructing his path with Doufu in his right hand. He stepped over the enemies that he defeated with a single blow and stormed into the deepest area of the enemy’s formation. Before long just like what Kohaku informed him, Shizuka’s figure entered his eyes in front of him. What emerged in that expression of hers were fury and impatience.

“You finally come huh, you bastard...”

With a look that was grinding her teeth audibly, Shizuka began to chant her spell.

Kazuki too at the same time he caught the appearance of Shizuka, he let Karin down from his arm while invoking his magic.

“O divine protection of military man, double the Megin that is swirling in my body! The will of god spurring me to endless battle, in this body! ... Megingjord!”

At the same time he perceived the nature of the magic that Shizuka was in the middle of chanting. And then he gave the signal.

“Miyabi-senpai, please!”

—Kazuki had made a request to Miyabi-senpai for her to be in a position where Kazuki was always fixed inside her magic perception range as much as possible. She should be coming along here while somehow she must be able to keep Kazuki who was dashing in full strength inside her line of sight. ... Shizuka used a powerful offense magic that Kazuki couldn't defend with the defensive magics that he had in hand. He had been aware of it beforehand, that was why Kazuki had to take countermeasure in preparation of this happening.

“The water god of red hair awoke world destruction, restoring the rift of heaven o the great power of Joka...lining up to that heaven and earth creation please distribute the light of world compilation in this hand! Goshiki Seki!!”

Shizuka invoked her magic with one hand raised high to the sky. A stone that contained Joka's power was created inside that hand, emitting light of every color...!

“...Mirror o mirror, lop off the ugly person's sight and greedy hand! Moon Ring's Mirror ShieldMoon Ring Mirror Field!!”

At the same time, Miyabi-senpai invoked her magic with time to spare.

An avatar of moon floated in front of Kazuki, then it became a materialized mirror.

Moon—the shining mirror of heaven that even reflected the power of sun.

The Goshiki Seki released the light that altered the existence of physical material. If defensive magic of other element was used then it would surely have its existence erased and made powerless. However the ultimate mirror perfectly reflected the very light itself.

“Kazuki don’t have defensive magic that protect against light aren’t you? Fufufu, with this the reason to conquer me increased.”

Miyabi-senpai was “fufufu” laughing daringly. In contrast, Shizuka was “Impossible...!” groaning.

But even so the magic of Joka was not only to that extent. And then the power of Joka whose name was well known in Chinese Mythology was supposed to possess a terrific power in each of her magic.

—But it was only in the case that if Shizuka could chant, that is.

“O earth of Pangu...!”

Kazuki too began chanting his spell. And, he swung down his beloved katana Doufu with power reinforced by Megin simultaneously. Shizuka too parried that katana with spiraling movement while maintaining her spell chanting.

The kick that she launched in return as counterattack was not parried by Kazuki, instead he forcefully repelled it.

“Reveal those every possibilities of the abyss in accordance of my wish...!”

“Stone cleaved, root torn, sin severed, that spirit sword of crushing evil right now in this hand!”

Kazuki too, Shizuka too, the two of them were magic warrior that skillfully used both Summoning Magic and close-quarter combat.

While mutually chanting spell, they were unfolding a fierce offense and defense.

However it was as if Kazuki had completely became like Beatrix, he felt his whole body was overflowing with strength. More than usual, he was several levels faster, stronger, swinging down his beloved katana. Shizuka's arm that was attempting to redirect that attack lost to its pressure and her posture broke. Right at that timing, Kazuki's second slash surged like an avalanche. Receiving a severe attack, Shizuka staggered along with a blue defensive magic power.

What got disordered in instability was not only her posture—her chant too. Therefore Kazuki manage to invoke his magic earlier.

“Draw sword, Futsu no Mitama!!”

Sheathing Doufu back into his sheath, he gripped the sword of crushing evil in return. Shizuka who was slightly late from Kazuki in her chanting almost manage to carry it out to the finish, but right at that moment Kazuki swung down the sword that severed magic power.

- BAKIN* The magic power that was kneaded until just moment before invocation was destroyed.

“!?” Haggardness came to the surface of Shizuka's expression.

[Futsu no Mitama] also had the effect to obstruct the chanting of spell. With the disordered chanting ability that Shizuka had right now, she became unable to chant a powerful magic—except for mostly simple low level magic.

In reverse for Kazuki who advantageously advanced the offense and defense, he had even more room to chant more spell.

Kazuki wield the sword of crushing evil even further. Shizuka whose heart was thrown out of order by impatience lost sight of even her original martial art and became flustered from Kazuki's fierce attack until she finally was blown away.

"Kuh, even in the worst case this me, no way I'll lose in this kind of place!" The haggardness in Shizuka's expression changed into faintheartedness.

While escaping from Kazuki's sword by rolling about in the ground, the girl managed to chant a short spell somehow.

"...O Joka's shining five color, repaint the world! The heaven I wished for is not here! To the other side that compass pointed at...Kuujin Hen'i!"

...Escape magic! At Shizuka's side, an avatar of a huge Diva with female upper body and naga lower body was floating. She was carrying a compass in her right hand where its needle was beginning to spin and spin reacting to the magic that Shizuka invoked.

...This girl mustn't let escape from here!

"Ride Lightning!!" Kazuki accelerated his physical ability even more electrifyingly.

"UOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!"

He kicked the ground with all his strength while raising a war cry.

[Megingjord] and [Ride Lightning] created a synergy, producing tremendous explosive power for Kazuki.

What invoked that escape magic, was that compass. The needle of the compass was spinning, spinning—however Kazuki closed the distance even before that magic power completely activated. And then with the sword of crushing evil, he slashed.

The compass that Joka's avatar held was the same like Joka, it was not a material matter. It couldn't get slashed or the like by a normal sword. But [Futsu no Mitama] was able to cut the magic power itself, even an avatar.

The compass was bisected into two and fell from Joka's hand.

{Hohou} Joka let out a voice of admiration. The escape magic was crushed due to Kazuki's speed.

This girl surely was intending to fight from the inside of a safety zone. Like that time in the final too.

"Prepare yourself, you cannot escape from this losing war."

"Sh, shit...cannot escape you say...this me is, in this kind of poor and boring island country..."

Even chanting spell was pointless, even doing close range battle was already hopeless against the current Kazuki.

"Karin!" With a desperate voice, Shizuka yelled "Karin, protect me!!"

Kazuki relaxed the stance of his katana and turned to Karin's direction. Karin too looked back at Kazuki and nodded.

Kazuki could defeat Shizuka by keeping the current pace. However that wouldn't become any conclusion.

"...Karin, you[\[2\]](#), are my family.... Protect your family..."

Toward Shizuka that so shamelessly spouted out that falsehood, Karin directed her fist and prepared a stance with low center of gravity.

"Shizuka-neesan...you taught martial art to me..."

"You bastard...what are you intending to do, that fist is.... You are saying you are going to defy me...!"

"The fist that Nee-san taught me, was my pride...!!"

"You bastarrd!" Both of them kicked the ground with Jouchouho simultaneously.

Shizuka launched a fierce kick filled with fury to Karin. Karin slipped under the kick by lowering her body like a beast, her foot at the rear stepped powerfully on the ground, then all that energy slammed into Shizuka from her shoulder with force—<Iron Mine LeanTetsusankou>.

“Guh...!” Even with her magic power scattered and her body bent backward, Shizuka still adjusted her stance and swung down a heel palm like an iron hammer. Karin tilted her neck and evaded the counterattack with minimum movement while forcing up her heel palm. The mutual attacks passed each other, Shizuka whose face was hit with the heel palm staggered. Even while staggering, Shizuka launched a kick with her left foot as if to show her will. Karin crouched down and evaded that kick while making a sweeping kick to sweep out Shizuka’s left foot—<Sweeping ThighSoutai>.

With her right foot driven off, Shizuka fell on her backside.

“Wh...why is...” Having herself overpowered by Karin, she leaked out a shell-shocked voice.

“In power and also in speed, Nee-san has always the upper hand. However Nee-san’s technique doesn’t work against me.”

There was not even a fragment of intensity in Karin’s fight, she was only looking down at Shizuka with expression that merely filled with earnest grief. “I have been watching Nee-san’s technique for the whole time. I yearned for that technique, I have been watching the whole time trying to steal it.... Nee-san had never tried looking at me at all but...”

“Stop prattling-!” Shizuka sprang up in the middle of Karin’s words and thrust out her left fist.

Karin flipped up that thrust with her right arm and parried it. Shizuka immediately thrust with her right fist. Karin repelled it down with her left hand. Shizuka’s both hands were opened to the above and below, making her face unguarded. With her raised right elbow, Karin struck a blow to Shizuka's face like an iron hammer. —<Hard Open GateKoukaimon>.

Katsura Karin was seeing through every movement of Hayashi Shizuka.

“I, wanted to be useful to Nee-san...”

Karin whispered crestfallenly. Looking at such Karin, furious expression emerged in Shizuka's face and she struck out aiming at Karin's face.

“I wanted you to look at me more. I wanted to get praised, even just one word...!”

Karin opened her body to the side and dodged, at the same time she stepped forward strongly while piercing her elbow on Shizuka's face in a counter. —<Outer Gate Spire ElbowGaimon Chouchū>.

“...Nee-san didn't love me. However in these few days I knew. What kind of feeling love is...”

Right there Karin looked at Kazuki in a glance. There was no mistake that the warmth of the Witch's Mansion flashed in the back of her head right now.

“Kazuki and Charlotte and everyone, had taught me!!”

“What love, what family, that kind of absurd things...!”

Shizuka tried to launch a counterattack. However she was beaten to the punch, Karin stabbed her claw to Shizuka's neck who was full of opening—<Tiger Claw PalmKosoushou>. With that one attack as the beginning, she procured strength with a powerful Shinkyaku while launching elbow strike, thrust, and elbow strike filled with strength of one-hit-kill consecutively piercing the vital spots of Shizuka. A technique of combo attack just like a fierce tiger running up the mountain powerfully slashing its front leg—<Sever Beckoning Fierce Tiger Firmly Ascending MountainZesshou Mouko Kouhazan>.

Finally her magic power was disconnected, Shizuka stepped back in stagegr.

“...Do, don't mess with me-! You are just a puppet-!!”

Shizuka exerted both her legs strenuously and fixed her stance, taking a step forward she fitted her right palm on Karin's chest—the stance of the girl's sure-kill technique. Karin didn't even try to dodge and accepted it while she too fitted her own right palm on Shizuka's chest in respong. And then they yelled simultaneously.

“I'll teach you your place, puppet! ...With this <Shintoukei> of mine!!”

“At the very least I'll finish this with my pride...with Nee-san's <Shintoukei>!!”

Shinmyaku—both of them simultaneously powerfully stepped firmly on the ground. ‘DON!’ With one reverberating roaring sound, both persons simultaneously had their hips, shoulders, elbows rotated like a spiral. And then the impact broke through the palms.

Which one of them shot out their release internal powerHakkei first couldn't be understood by outsider's eyes.

“Good bye, Nee-san...this is our first conversation...in our last moment...”

—Karin whispered with teary eyes while her nose sniffled in a sob. With her eyes still opened wide and her expression looking like an ogre, Shizuka collapsed down to the ground like a puppet with its string cut.

{ You finally did it, Karin... } Tamamo no Mae said affectionately.

{ This is only the fall of one of my contractor . This is not even a crack in Chūkadou. }

Joka's avatar floated for a moment and said only that before she vanished.

“The destiny of all things in nature is inside the great celestial sphere...O

binding of constellation, suspend the movement of heaven! Horoscope Stasis!”

Kazuki invoked Baal’s binding magic on Shizuka whose heart had already stopped beating. Star lights flickered on Shizuka’s hands and feet, becoming thread of constellation from the links between lights and restrained Shizuka’s whole body.

“Kazuki...what are you planning?” Karin asked in wonder.

“...We are not just killing her like this. Because if she completely died then that’s the end. We are arresting this girl.” And then Kazuki chanted resuscitation magic that he had experienced personally.

“...O elegant beautiful fire of reincarnation, burn the surface of life and sprout the restoration of the inside...Anti Aging!”

“Retreat!” —A voice came from the night sky. When he looked up, a black dragon—Fafnir was covering the sky, Kaya and Maya were straddling its back.

It seemed that she was informed of the surprise attack and came here in a rush from different region—might be from Gifu or Toyama, or else might be from even further inside Yaamto.

Following that order, Yamato’s military force began to withdraw. Attack magics were launched at their back in order to take even one more prisoner. The enemy soldiers that were defeated became Kazuki and the others’ prisoner just like that.

“...You really got me. I never thought at all that Onii-chan unexpectedly wouldn’t get held back by the idiots and come preparing an attack this fast.”

Kaya murmured. At her back Maya was “Hi, high, high, scary, scary...”

trembling.

“Naiarlako, you have defensive magic power so even if you fall you will be fine, so despite that why are you trembling?” Like that Kaya scolded Maya. “Well then see you, Onii-chan. Next time it won’t go well like this you know.”

Leaving behind a parting threat like that to Kazuki, the black dragon disappeared to the north night sky. The end of the battle. Experiencing such feeling Kazuki looked around his surrounding, he was confirming the safety of everyone from the Witch’s Mansion. And then the fatigue of the very long day weighed on him all at once, making he almost flopped on the wasteland.

Intermission – To the Journey of Pilgrimage

Part 1

The students of the Magic Division returned to the garrison triumphantly where they were greeted by the great shock of the Knight Order because of the Knight Academy's students unpermitted attack and their achievement. At any case, tonight everyone would get some rest.

When the excitement of victory was starting to cool down, subsequently fatigue were weighing down everyone.

A long day had ended and the time had turned into a late night.

Kazuki too returned to the room that had been prepared for him, then after immediately going to the public bath he returned back to his room, "It reminds me, who is the one I'll be sharing the room with anyway?" He thought at this late hour. And then when he opened the door—

"Welcome back, Kazuki-kun♡"

Maybe she had just gotten out from bath, the steamy and flushed skin and face of Kaguya-senpai greeted him.

Moreover she had already changed into Asmodeus's passion mode, her eyes were dyed purple and her Magic Dress was the simple version where all its decoration had been removed.

...The body that was piled up with fatigue searched for healing from the girl in front of his eyes as a matter of course. Kazuki unwittingly gulped and his breath stopped. "...Is senpai going to share the room with me?"

"Fufufu, what a coincidence isn't it♡ Don't call me senpai when it's just the two of us alone."

While laughing brightly...Kaguya came embracing him. The room allocation was decided by Kaguya and Kanon-senpai using lottery. The result was announced by sending individual mail containing the room number.

“...It’s not really a coincidence isn’t it?” Kazuki returned the embrace for the moment while he retorted.

“It’s a coincidence okay~” *gyuu gyuu* Embracing strongly while rubbing her body, Kaguya talked like she was reading in monotone.

And then she pushed her lovely lips passionately on Kazuki’s cheek and sucked.

Even while Kazuki was dumbfounded, he accepted Kaguya’s sweet temptation completely....

“The event won’t go like that!”

A dignified voice as if exposing an evil plot reverberated, the blanket on top of one of the two bed in the room was *perori—n!* turned over. And then from its inside, Hikaru-senpai leaped out.

“Hi, Hikaru-chan!?”

“Fuffuffu, I thought that this is going to happen so I followed Kazuki behind and sneaked inside his room just as you see!”

Hikaru-senpai too changed her appearance into a simple mode Magic Dresss, without the decorations her appearance looked like a high leg risqué leotard.

Hikaru-senpai was walking heavily near him and stole Kazuki from Kaguya...Kaguya-senpai.

“Ogling Kaguya like that is noo— good!” And then she kissed Kazuki.

“AAAAAAA—!” Kaguya-senpai raised a scream.

“Hehehe, Kaguya still haven’t kissed Kazuki on the lips yet right♪”

Hikaru-senpai deliberately talked about provocative matter, “Uuuuuuuu—” Kaguya-senpai became teary eyed.

Between the two girl, Kazuki was unable to do anything except growing cold from the two seniors quarrel.

Kaguya was hugging at Kazuki as if jumping him, one more time, she pushed her lips strongly at Kazuki’s cheek. Filling it with emotion that she couldn’t have her way with Kazuki, she kept pushing her lips *muchu muchu*.

“Kaguya-senpai, I’m not doing such thing for the sake of power so...don’t worry about something like a one time power, even if we kiss...”

“We must not!” Separating her lips, Kaguya-senpai rejected Kazuki’s words with harsh tone.

“The level 10 that become usable from kissing is a trump card that must be valued importantly, that’s why...”

“Kaa—zukii♪” From the side, Hikaru-senpai kissed his lips one more time.

Not only on the lips, the kiss that was as if nuzzling on the whole face that Hikaru-senpai is fond of.

“A, again with thattt! Purposely kissing in front of me like that!!”

“Hehehe! After all a kiss on the cheek is only a greeting between friends, but a kiss between lips is the proof of relation between man and woman...♪”

“Hikaru-senpai, you mustn’t say something that is bullying Kaguya-senpai you know.”

Kazuki hit the head of Hikaru-senpai *kotsun*.

“I’m sowwy♪ Ahaha, because looking at Kaguya’s expression make me feel really good.”

“Senpai is not supposed to be an S but an M right?”

“Hey you!” *kotsun* Hikaru-senpai returned a knock on Kazuki’s head.

“Gununu, even now you two keep flirting.... That’s just fine, someday when it’s my time to kiss...it won’t be that kind of kiddy kiss, because I’ll do a more earth-shattering adult kiss for sure...”

“Adult kiss? Eh? The kiss that I’m doing is a kiddy kiss you say?”

“I won’t teach youu—”

“That’s! Not fair, come on teach mee—!”

Though if senpai looked it up on the internet senpai will understand I think.

“That’s just fine, I won’t ask Kaguya anymore. I’m going to ask Liz Liza-sensei later.”

Hikaru-senpai hugged at Kazuki even stronger from the right side. Her breasts pressed at Kazuki.

Kaguya-senpai too came hugging him from the left side strongly. This side too was pressed with breasts.

Kuh...for a swordsman of Hayashizaki-style, losing one’s presence of mind with just this much is not allowed!

“But Kaguya, you were doing something unfair in the room allocation after all! I’m going to tell on you to everyone!”

“Mumumu. ...It really can’t be helped, Then let’s share Otouto-kun with the two of us.”

“Ok, there is no other choice except striking that deal isn’t it?”

“Err, you two senpai, aren’t you two too calmly treating me like a thing here?”

With Kazuki's tsukkomi inside his heart as unrelated matter, Kaguya-senpai rubbed her voluptuous body to Kazuki just like usual. Hikaru-senpai too was undauntedly rubbing her body repeatedly. Hikaru-senpai had a slender body proportion, but the places where it should develop were really developed, just as he thought her body was soft.

“Kazuki, is your penis not changing?” Again Hikaru-senpai was observing that kind of place!

The two of them kept gluing their body with Kazuki and all together pushed him down collapsing on the bed.

This was...before this there was also the situation where he slept together with Lotte and Koyuki in a sandwich of risqué appearance but...in the case of this duo, should he say that they had even more volume...!!

“Sen, senpai...are we going to sleep together in one bed with three people even though there are two beds here?”

“Otouto-kun, in this kind of situation, who on earth is going to sleep alone on the bed over there with loneliness?”

“...Me? And then Kaguya-senpai and Hikaru-senpai will get along well with the two of you in this one bed.”

“”There is no way anyone's going to benefit like that!!”” Both senpai matched their voices together.

Part 2

Because Yamato's military force was concentrated at the military boundary line, if that military force withdrew then the group that Kanon-senpai spearheaded could advance until Nagoya that was located in the heart of Chubu jurisdiction in one go.

The <Aichi regiment garrison> that was once called Aichi prefectural police became the new base of operation from now on. From here they could choose whether to invade even further west to the area of Shiga or to invade to the area of Gifu in the north....

Not only recovering the territory, they also discovered the Knight Academy students that were taken prisoner when their buses were attacked. Originally these prisoners were supposed to be transported even further inside the territory of Yamato in the next day without doubt. This was just one more result that they earned from their swift attack using the surprise attack tactic.

The prisoners were treated courteously. It seemed that their humane policies regarding welfare program for the people and prisoner treatment were somehow the truth for the sake of obtaining support from the people.

In reverse from the battle this time Japan too was able to take prisoners of Yamato's soldiers in large number—and then interrogations were conducted.

Kazuki and Kazuha-senpai happened to be present in the interrogation of Yamato's illegal magician.

This was because inquiring about the Diva of Japanese Mythology was the biggest objective of the interrogation.

{And so, who is the Diva that possessed you?}

Yamato's illegal magician that was restrained in the wine cellar—the [shrine maiden] was questioned by Futsunushi no Kami. It seemed a female that hosted the Diva of Japanese Mythology was called a Shrine Maiden.

The Shrine Maiden didn't reply. She kept both her eyes closed and stayed silent in resistance.

{You had used up your strength in battle, you should have been released from the Wild God Transformation already aren't you. Make your reply.}

Hearing the question of Futsunushi no Kami, {...It's me} a voice of a female came, beside the Shrine Maiden a female Diva clad in flowery clothing was floating.

“Ame no Uzume-sama!” The Shrine Maiden opened both her eyes and opened her mouth in fluster.

{So it's Ame no Uzume. Why are you who have the reputation and personality as a gentle soul become the like of Wild God? If asked which side you are in, you should be in the side that dance and sing, soothing the angered Diva don't you agree?}

{The shrine was...} Ame no Uzume murmured. {The shrine where we are deified was destroyed. The shrines that are located in west Japan, every one of them were defiled you know.}

{What do you say?}

{Japanese people were...saying that they are worshipping Solomon 72 people from now on so this shrine is not needed anymore... Because of that a lot of Japanese Mythology's Diva lost their power, and they fell into dormant state. Even so a lot of Divas that barely maintained their strength became Wild God, they are lending their power to Yamato and going against the oppression of Japan...}

Ame no Uzume glared with a dangerous glint in her eyes toward Kazuki and the others. Shrines were defiled—because of that the Divas of the Japanese Mythology were in the process of losing their original power and burning in indignation, in the end they were rampaging.

{Did something like that really happened? My shrine was moved by Kazuha inside the school so I didn't know though. ...Kazuki, what do you think of this?}

“Headmaster Amasaki, what do you think? For the government to take such action, is it possible?”

Kazuki inquired to Headmaster Amasaki who finally arrived late this morning.

“It shouldn't be quite possible. In the first place the government doesn't perceive the Solomon 72 Pillar as a religion.”

{That's right, of course it shouldn't be possible. Leme and the others doesn't demand any faith from the government.}

At the side of Headmaster Amasaki who talked with astonished expression, Leme too talked while pouting.

{What do you say...?} Ame no Uzume raised her eyebrows.

“In other words I wonder if it's not something like this. For the sake of enraging the Divas of Japanese Mythology, there was some fellow that spouted some lies and destroyed the shrines. And then to the enraged Divas, someone instigated matters by saying let's overthrow the accursed government and build a country of Japanese Mythology.”

When Kazuki expressed that hypothesis—it seems the fact that the Divas of Japanese Mythology were easy to enrage were something true. The expression of Ame no Uzume that had the appearance of a lovely dancer “Whuat did you saaaaaaayy?” together with a voice that it seemed to come from the bottom of hell was ringing out, became a demon hag in the blink of an eye.

“If this is just a pure misunderstanding than it's a simple story. If we can persuade them then a fight can be avoided right?”

Hearing Kazuki's words, Futsunushi no Kami shook his face together with his sword body to the left and right.

{That's impossible just so you know. Any argument won't go through a Diva that is in the middle of being Wild God. We have to make them like Ame no Uzume here where their host fell into magic intoxication, they will calm down after expending their strength completely once.}

“As expected, so crossing swords once against them is something unavoidable.”

{No, that's not the only method available.} Ame no Uzume said with her expression that had returned to the former look of a girl.

{If the fury of our chief god is calmed down, the composure of Japanese Mythology's other gods will also recover.}

“So if the Shrine Maiden that is possessed by that chief god is defeated and making her fall into magic intoxication, everything will be fine?”

{Exactly like that. And then the chief god of Japanese Mythology is...located in Ise.}

Futsunushi no Kami nodded gravely.

Ise—Mie prefecture. It was located in the west across the bay from Aichi prefecture they were currently staying at, in the eastern tip of Kii peninsula.

“...Oi, Kazuki. There is something I have to tell you about a prisoner's matter but...”

Kazuki who was going back to his room from the dungeon was called to stop by Kondou-san. Kondou-san was also leading Karin who he had found somewhere. ...A prisoner with connection to Kazuki and Karin.

Kazuki and Karin were let to pass inside a private room in the underground for a special prisoner that was captured.

Inside, a single corpse was lying down.

Because there was a step called magic intoxication, even though this was a war there was no one that really die. During the period concerning with the battle this time...this was the first time for Kazuki to see directly this thing called death.

“...The cause of death of this girl is?” Squeezing out his voice, Kazuki inquired.

“Her arms and legs were bounded but...it looks like suicide using Psychokinesis to block her own blood flow to the brain. When she was discovered, it was already too late.”

There was no method of prevention.

“...Nee-san.” Karin too leaked out a squeezed voice.

That was the corpse of Hayashi Shizuka. An expression that could be called tranquil that she had never shown in the middle of battle, with not a single wound on that body, she looked like she was sleeping with a body that was growing cold.

Inside the atmosphere of tranquility, emotion of condolence was naturally growing full inside.

It's the end when you died.... The time when she could be forgiven someday was...

“...Kazuki.” Karin who before he knows had started calling him with his first name whispered.

“...Even so things where we couldn't do anything about it, exist...”

“It's like that huh.”

Karin's shoulders shook in small trembling, those eyes of hers were blurred with tears. What this girl obtained, and what she lost. Kazuki understood everything of it. That was why Kazuki embraced her.

“U...uAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA-!!”

Pushing her face into Kazuki's chest, Karin screamed while crying.

Part 3

The knights in the garrison forgot the battle in the past and began to move for the next fight.

Kazuki who returned to his room was called out by Akane-senpai this time and led to the corridor.

“Kazuki, now that I think back I didn’t even say words of appreciation did I?”

Senpai said so while walking to somewhere. “Congratulations of your victory. It’s a really overwhelming achievement. ...You are really amazing. I am acting as a staff officer at Kanon’s side, but I’m completely no good.”

“That’s...I’m just an amateur who knows nothing after all, so rather I’m only hitting upon strange ideas.”

“Eh?” Suddenly being called with his alias in the past, Kazuki was taken aback.

“Fufuu, actually I had met you once long in the past. I wonder if you have completely forgotten?”

“Ee!?” He had this trauma from that one case with Mio where he couldn’t remember someone he had met and made her mad.

“Well, it’s only natural for you not to remember. The truth is I was attending a dojo when I was small. In an inter-style match, I have this experience of being instantly killed by a young man called Cyclops. It was an experience that taught me my standing.”

“Senpai was a swordsman too!?”

“Fufufu, I have no talent at all and stopped completely soon you know. Even so I wanted to be connected to the Knight Order in some form, so I aimed to be a strategist and studied for it. Confucius, Clausewitz...it was fun imagining myself holding the baton of command and become a hero.

Nevertheless a Stigma emerged on me before I even became a strategist, and I could become a cadet of the Knight Order normally in the end.”

“...So senpai became that well-informed in military science is not from studying the advanced strategy theory in the third year.”

“But even if I study the theory, I’ve never been at a real battle at all. I foolishly studied properly, fell into the way of thinking exactly according to the mold and unable to think differently, and cannot cope at all when something unexpected happened. I can’t think like you who didn’t get caught in common practice and managed to grasp the essential.”

“But in reverse I cannot do what senpai can do. Even if it is the case that I can learn that essential something, isn’t this only a simple story of strengths and weaknesses for each person? Then, if I and senpai compensate for each place we are lacking at, we are going to be the strongest!”

“Cooperating between you and me...that sounds interesting though...fufuu, I’ll decline that offer. If a plain ugly woman who study too much like me is together with you, then the other girls are going to begrudge me.”

“What begrudge...senpai is not a plain ugly woman who study too much at all!”

“No, rather than mixing tactics theory together with someone like me ... being together with Kanon or Kaguya, or with girl like that Amasaki-san will be more enjoyable right, for a boy like you.”

“Such thing is not true, I too want to talk with senpai all night long until the morning you know, about Clausewitz.”

“There you go saying such thing again.” Akane-senpai’s clever expression crumbled and a smile emerged.

“Fufufu, you just keep joking. But...thank you. That’s right, rather than cooperating together with you, from now on I’m going to aspire for you, I will be diligent and aim to reach your level, how about that I wonder?”

From Akane-senpai, a large heart mark came flying. Yagumo Akane—40

“Please stop that, what aspiration...even though you are my great senior.”

Akane-senpai looked back to the front direction of the corridor, “Well then” saying that she changed the subject.

“Actually it’s really enjoyable talking with you that against my better judgment I deliberately took the long way in our walk, however...”

“So it’s like that. I thought that we kept going round and round in circles for a while. What a schemer.”

“Fufufu, for you too to notice it properly, just as I thought you have the eyes for the essential aren’t you?”

Both of them faced each other and grinned broadly. Though when he thought that, Akane-senpai’s face immediately became serious.

“...While we were going around in circles meaninglessly, the truth is that we had seriously become lost children. Where in the world this place we are currently at?”

“Eh!? Wai, is senpai seriously saying that!?”

“Just as I thought I’m a no good person.... Kazuki, do something with your intuition of the essential somehow...”

“Eeee, please don’t say such pathetic thing senpai! Understood, I’ll do something somehow! But even I’m going to try somehow, with not much information to go on...!”

“What I was saying just now is just a joke, our destination is right here.”

Akane-senpai suddenly moved her body right to the side, then she knocked the door to a room that was in that direction. Kazuki reflexively pitched forward foolishly in an almost falling position.

It was one of the hotel's room that had been transformed into the [strategy meeting room] so to speak.

Inside Headmaster Amasaki and Kanon-senpai and then the regimental commander of Shizuoka regiment whose name was Yamagata Koyata, a man in the prime of his life were already in the room surrounding a table. On top of the table was a map that was spread out.

“The time for us to counterattack has also come.” Commander Yamagata said when Kazuki and Akane-senpai took a seat.

“Pardon me for suddenly entering the main topic, but the battle strength of east Japan is currently massing little by little in this garrison of the military boundary line. If it become like this then its irrelevant even if our movement are leaked out. Even with our movement leaked we are going to hit Gifu prefecture with our maximum strength, no question asked.”

“Why Gifu?” Kazuki interjected a question. There should be an option to march to the west too.

“If we are invading to the direction of further inside with Aichi prefecture as the beginning of our counter attack, the defensive line will naturally become a great length, then the placement of soldiers will become difficult.”

So that's it, when the military boundary line turned long, the defensive battle strength was going to be dispersed completely.

When the battlefield became a wide area, it was overwhelmingly advantageous for Yamato's side who could obtain information through the traitor.

“Because of that we are going north from Aichi prefecture and aim for Gifu prefecture. Against our maximum battle strength, the other side will surely intercept with their maximum battle strength too. It’s convenient. Because if we shaved off the opponent’s battle strength in one go then this conflict is as good as over. This all-out war of East and West...following your naming we are going to do [Magic War    Sekigahara]!”

“If we win this then the efficiency is good, but won’t our side’s damage become great too?”

When Akane-senpai interjected with skepticism objection, Commander Yamagata was “I know” nodding.

From there he looked around restlessly at his surrounding as if searching for a monitoring camera and lowered his voice.

“...Of course we are not going to clash with them without any plan. This side too is preparing a plan. Those bunches turned up in our territory working their tricks before, this time we are going to return the favor. Preceding the invasion to Gifu, we will send people with the minimum number to the enemy territory...”

He pointed at a certain point in the map on top of the table.

“...They are going to penetrate Ise Grand Shrine, beat the chief god of Japanese Mythology and resolve the misunderstanding. I’m listening to the report. If we manage to do that, won’t the Divas of the Japanese Mythology all return to their senses and withdraw from the war front? With this Yamato will lose their military force all at once...and we will commence an all-out attack.”

I see, Kazuki nodded in comprehension.

If the danger to this someone that would invade Ise was not considered, this was a perfect idea.

“This is the tactic that is decided from the discussion with me and Kanon-kun. No one knows about this except the people here in this place right now. We have no intention to inform any other people—even the top brass of the Knight Order. In other words this strategy to invade Ise will not be conducted by the Knight Order, but we want the students of the Knight Academy to be the one that do it. Because of that this strategy’s arbitrary judgment...will be done by the Chief Student Council President and Headmaster Amasaki’s own judgment, you two will be the one who moved the realization of this plan.”

In another word the one who would execute this strategy was....

“Hayashizaki Kazuki. Making a student carry this great burden make my heart heavy, but there is no other choice except having you do this.”

I understand...he couldn’t say anything else other than that.

“But what are we going to do about the penetration route? Those Yamato bunches entered our territory through the traitor, but we cannot do that kind of thing so simply.

“Use sea route.”

“Using the sea is the idea that I thought you know- “ Kanon-senpai gloated.

“In the first place, our country traditionally has insufficient maritime defense at the side of Pacific Ocean. It’s because we were concentrating the precaution in Japan’s seaward side that are facing North Korea and Russia. The minimum monitoring is performed but the radar site is mainly directed to the sky.”

Commander Yamagata used his own finger as the comparison of an antenna and faced diagonally above.

“From the beginning radar that is installed on the surface is weak at monitoring sea surface and low altitude sky anyway. For that purpose we are using patrol plane to look out for suspicious ship, but patrol plane doesn't really get deployed in the side that is facing Pacific Ocean. ...Essentially, if there is going to be violation of territorial sovereignty from the side of Pacific Ocean then it's going to be from air."

Ise Grand Shrine that was the place of destination was in Mie prefecture. Between Aichi prefecture and Mie prefecture, Ise Bay was stretching.

Commander Yamagata traced a line on top of the map using his finger to show the route that the ship going to pass in Ise Bay.

"In the case that Yamato doesn't make this oversight, what then?" Kazuki pointed out in a prudent tone. "They might see through the danger from the phase of our recovery of Aichi prefecture and shift the patrol plane from the side of Japan Sea to Ise Bay."

"We had confirmed that there is no such movement using satellite observation system."

...Satellite observation system. Kazuki was lost for words. So even that kind of thing had entered the stage.

If he thought about it, there was a great number of fields outside combat where using technology was far better than magic. He was only putting his attention to Summoning Magic so he tended to unconsciously forget completely about the application merit of such thing but....

"Even if we have satellite monitoring system, it's not an omnipotent system that can only be used in limited time and condition though. Anyway we have confirmed that there is a hole in the coastal security of Yamato side from satellite image. Although all the facilities that were possessed by the Knight Order in west Japan are all taken over and it can be said that excellent politicians are gathering there within limitation, Yamato is still a new country that is just built in a short period and they are still in a period of disorder. They have a lot of gap.”

Period of disorder...Just like when Chūkadou was sending spies to Japan when Tokyo was destroyed. So this time it was Japan that was going to take advantage of the disorder there.

“A small type boat is being prepared for the sake of this covert strategy. So only a minimum number of members needed is going to be sent for the strategy implementation.”

“You said the minimum number, in other words how much is it?”

“Two person. Actually we want only just you alone to go, but surely you are going to need a person that can interact with Diva of Japanese Mythology. Accordingly we want the same Knight Academy student like you, Tsukahara Kazuha to mobilize together with you.”

Kazuki felt a slight nervousness in his chest. With Kazuha-senpai...just the two of them alone?

“So that’s how it become like this.”

When Kazuki conveyed that development through his cell phone, “Eh... eeeeeeehh!?” such loud voice was the reply. While making a wry smile toward senpai’s reaction, Kazuki had instead became even more calm.

“Somehow the date that I promised seems to be becoming a fairly romantic situation, senpai.”

Afterword

It has been three months, this is Mihara Mitsuki. And then and then with the pace of every three months until this fifth volume, Magika is going to greet its one full year!

Even if the author is going to welcome his own birthday but “I have passed half of my twenty and the course of the thirty is approaching, there is not even a bit of feeling joyous here...” that kind of feeling, but the birthday of Magika-chan really make me deeply emotional.

Five volumes. Totally unbelievable. Thinking back I have come far.

It's only five volumes you are too exaggerating, people might think so but the truth is that I am an abnormally negative human. On the other hand Kodama-san who is in charge of editing is an S realist.

It's a combo that combines two moods in bad meaning. When I and Kodama-san interact with each other we constantly bite at each other shrewdly with the talk heading to minus direction, the guided conclusion always ended with me cornered to a precipitous cliff without fail.

First Kodama-san was saying “But there is this kind of data so the next volume is already no good you know” things like that.

“As, as expected is Magika no good already!?” like that, I got scared.

“Surely it's no good right? Please struggle to write an interesting manuscript as best as you can. I'm waiting for the manuscript.”

“UWAAAAAAAAAAN! If I don't write an interesting manuscript then Magika is dead~!!”

Continuing the argument back and forth from this [even] had already become a beautiful pattern, no matter how favorable the sales is let's make an additional printing and let's finalize the comicalization, there is not even one thread that is out of order.

However even while my heart is totally disarrayed, "I'm waiting for the manuscript" when that was said additionally in nonchalant tone, "Ah, this or that are said, the fact is what is needed for me is given..." like that my chest tightened and "I'm going to do my best" such feeling boiled up inside, that's why I too am a simple man that appear negative.

With this kind of state I'm always get cornered with my mind pushed to the utmost limit just like usual, when I wrote the manuscript wholeheartedly, before I realized it I achieved one full years...this is an actual condition.

No good, no good, while being told that isn't this unexpectedly still okay....

Although actually, when a light novel lost the support from all of you readers it's easily discontinued and become a gate of hell. Scary. So from now on too the more the volume advance it will become the more interesting, I'm going to do my best with my whole heart and soul for that so that next two full years, three full years, I'm thinking to aim for ten volumes. Please I beg for the support to keep continuing. I'll be very happy if you readers also recommended this to the people around you, like that. Wink wink. Magi love is taking application.

I'm moving to thanks. CHuN-san, with new characters one after another making their entrances whatever kind of child they are with no compromise they are really cute, as the one in charge of writing it make me feel that I too have to work hard and make me tense. And then to the person assigned to be in charge of Magika's comicalization Monrin (SDwing)-san, I'm extremely looking forward for it every month. This is not thanks but advertisement, though last month the first volume tankoubon[\[1\]](#) had been released for sale! Each coma one by one are overflowing with spirit and service mind becoming a magnificent quality.

The two of them and that agent-san are Taiwan gentlemen, but in the end of last year my wish to meet eye to eye was fulfilled, things like myth and culture, I heard various story that become a great stimulus for me!

I too feel some love from the editor Kodama-san. And then the support of the readers everyone is the source of energy for all the staff concerned with this book. In the sixth volume not only that character but that character and that character are planned to play active roles! I'll do my best! Look forward to it!
